SOLDIERS ADMIT RULE OF IRON HAND; CIVIL LAW IGNORED

West Virginia Miners Convicted and Sentenced Without Trial in Courts.

USED METHODS OF WAR

Forty-nine Persons Were Haled Before Militia Officers at Single Time.

CLAIM INSURRECTION AS CAUSE

Charleston, W. Va., June 11.—Martial law in the coal strike regions of West Virginia were described before the senate mine investigating committee today. After three military officers had described conditions the committee expressed itself satisfied as to the charge that "the citizens of West Virginia had been tried and convicted in violation of the constitution and laws of the United States."

Testimony was heard from two members of the military committee, which at three different times has assumed dominion over 150 square miles of West Virginia territory. They were Capt. Charles R. Morgan, a lawyer, and Maj. James I. Pratt, who was president of the second military court which took charge of the strike district.

Both told the committee that their proceedings were conducted without regard to the civil laws of the state; that they arrested, arraigned, tried, and convicted offenders in the strike zone without recourse to process of the civil courts, and that they imposed sentences without regard to the limitations imposed by the state civil statutes.

Considered That Warfare Existed.

"We considered that the entire strike district was in a state of actual warfare," Capt. Morgan said, "and we acted according to the procedure of the United States army in time of war."

"But the constitution of the state provides," Attorney Monnett, for the miners, interjected, "that the military shall be subordinate to the civil power and that no citizen, unless engaged in military service of the state, shall be tried or punished in any military court for any offense that is cognizable by the civil courts of the state."

"My understanding was," Capt. Morgan replied, "that during the state of insurrection which prevailed the constitution of the state of West Virginia had been suspended by the acts of these men who were burning, killing, and destroying property."

Believed Constitution Suspended.

"You believed the constitution had been suspended?" demanded Senator Borah.

"Yes, sir," replied the militia officer, "that is, we believed these men had suspended the constitution and that, in order to perpetuate the state of West Virginia and restore the constitution, we were justified in using extreme measures."

Capt. Morgan said the military commission believed its authority was unlimited under the general order issued by Gov. Glasscock, which said the military commission "is substituted for the criminal courts of the district covered by the martial law proclamation, and all offenses against the civil laws, as they existed prior to the proclamation of Nov. 15, 1912, shall be regarded as offenses under the military law, and in punishment therefor the military commission can impose such sentences, either lighter or heavier than those imposed under the civil law, as in their judgment the offender may merit."

Exceed Civil Law Punishments.

Both Capt. Morgan and Maj. Pratt asserted the commission did not feel itself limited by the statutory provision regarding punishment for offenses, and Maj. Pratt gave several instances of sentences imposed by the commission exceeding the statutory punishment.

A dozen pictures of men clad in prison clothing were identified by Maj. Pratt as men who had been sentenced by the military commission and sent to jail. One was given a sentence of seven and a half years for perjury, several others were given three, four, and five year terms for "interfering with officers."

"Was there any indictment or other civil process presented against these men?" asked Senator Borah.

"No," Maj. Pratt answered, "they were arraigned on charges and specifications prepared by the judge advocate general."

Supreme Court Only Appeal.

Senator Borah elicited that Capt. Morgan, as a lawyer, believed there was no appeal from the decision of the commission, if approved by the governor, except to the Supreme court of the United States.

"Then a man did not have to commit a statutory offense to make himself amenable to the action of your commission?" Attorney Monnett asked.

"No."

"You could arraign him for anything that, in your estimation, was an offense?"

"Yes, except that the governor's proclamation specified statutory offenses."

Senator Martine ascertained that after the commission had heard the testimony in a case it went into secret session, executed sealed findings after the manner of a verdict, and sent them to the governor.

"Then the poor devil did not know what you had done with him until he was gobbled up and carted away to the penitentiary?" suggested the New Jersey senator.

"That's right," answered Capt. Morgan.

Forty-nine Tried at Once.

It was developed that as many as forty-nine men were tried at one time by the commission.

"There was no opportunity given a man to secure a new trial on the discovery of new evidence, no opportunity to give bail, no pos-

ALDERMAN IN AUTOMOBILE RUNS DOWN AND KILLS MAN.

H. L. Pitte's Car Hits Union Stockyards Watchman as He Tries to Cross Street in Front of Machine.

Ald. H. L. Pitte of the Twentieth ward in his automobile last night ran down Daniel Mason of 1110 East Sixty-sixth street, a watchman at the Union stockyards. Mason died a short time later in Englewood hospital.

Ald Pitte, according to the story he and several witnesses told, was driving slowly in Halsted street when Mason walked in front of the auto at Forty-fifth street. Pitte stopped the car hastily and lifted the injured man aboard, then drove to the stockyards station, where he offered to surrender.

Instead he was ordered to hurry to the hospital.

PLENTY OF FUNDS FOR BANK RELIEF

McAdoo Holds $500,000,000 for Distribution Under Aldrich-Vreeland Law.

NO APPLICATIONS FOR IT.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., June 11.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo gave impressive evidence tonight of the administration's willingness to do everything possible to relieve any feeling of uncertainty in the business world that may exist on account of present conditions or fear of the tariff legislation.

He announced that he "would not hesitate" to issue $500,000,000 of new national bank notes under the Aldrich-Vreeland emergency currency act, if the banks desire them.

This announcement, it was made clear, was given out merely for the purpose of removing any uncertainty that may exist in the minds of bankers as to what Secretary McAdoo's attitude would be upon applications of this character. Mr. McAdoo explained that no applications for emergency currency had been received from national banks and that his statement was not prompted by any special developments in the business world.

The secretary said no applications had been received by the government from national banks or currency associations for the issuance of currency under the provisions of the Aldrich-Vreeland bill of May 30, 1908.

Provisions of the Act.

The Aldrich-Vreeland act authorizes the secretary of the treasury to issue additional currency to national banks and currency associations upon the security of state and municipal bonds as well as government, and also, under certain conditions, to currency associations on high class commercial paper as well as on government, state, and municipal bonds.

The secretary has in hand $500,000,000 in new national bank notes which can be issued immediately to any national bank or currency associations applying therefor and complying with the provisions of the act.

Mr. McAdoo explained that the new currency is exactly like existing national bank notes and there is nothing in the notes or in the manner of their delivery to indicate that they are special currency issued under the Aldrich-Vreeland act.

National currency associations have been organized in various parts of the country and are now qualified to take the benefits of the act.

Money Ready for Distribution.

The national banks and these currency associations, upon compliance with the act, may quickly receive additional currency to the extent of $500,000,000 if they require it, upon application to the treasury department. The Aldrich-Vreeland act expires in June, 1914.

No currency ever has been issued under the provisions of the Aldrich-Vreeland law. The $500,000,000 of notes authorized under the law have been printed for some time and are ready for distribution in case the banks should call for them. Secretary McAdoo had no idea tonight whether any of the banks would avail themselves of the opportunity to obtain this new currency.

President Wilson has been watching with interest the developments in the business world in the last week, and his attitude has been and is now one of a strong desire to do anything that he can to aid in the situation.

The Aldrich-Vreeland act was designed by its framers to serve as an emergency measure until the currency system of the country could be revised and put upon a modern basis.

HARDING ASSAILS MRS. YOUNG'S ACTS IN BOOK SQUABBLE

Trustee Asserts, as Superintendent Listens, That She Was Guilty of Bad Faith.

CALLS HER EXPOSE 'STAGEY'

School Head, in Reply, Denies She Meant Union Labor Member Was "Grafter."

SPELLER SELECTION STILL PENDS

Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools, yesterday sat at a meeting of the board of education and listened to a long verbal attack on her by Trustee John C. Harding. When he had finished, Mrs. Young made a short reply, denying the charges against her. The attack was the outcome of the spelling book "scandal."

An attempt by Alfred R. Urion to table the statement of Mr. Harding was defeated when Peter Reinberg, president of the board, declared Mr. Urion's motion out of order. Mr. Urion asserted the statement was an open insult to Mrs. Young.

Mr. Harding was named two weeks ago by Mrs. Young as one of the board members who had asked her to recommend the spelling book which James Plunkett of "de luxe" book fame represented. He had prepared in advance his statement attacking Mrs. Young, and read from the manuscript.

Should Weigh Her Words.

"What the superintendent says is listened to with respect and attention," said Mr. Harding, "and when, as is usually the case, the press gives the statements of the superintendent the widest publicity, a wise, conscientious, and far seeing superintendent of schools should carefully weigh any utterances reflecting in the slightest degree upon the good name of any member of the board of education.

"At the last meeting of the board Mrs. Young said I remarked to her in the Hotel La Salle that I would like to see a spelling book printed by the Henry O. Shepard company (a union house) adopted. This I admit. I did not then and I do not now see any impropriety in a member of the board suggesting to the superintendent the advisability of recommending a text book made in Chicago under union conditions.

Duty of Board Members.

"The law of the state makes it the duty of the board of education to prescribe what books shall be used. It is true this duty has been delegated to the superintendent, but it is the right as well as the duty of any member to make suggestions to the superintendent regarding her recommendations. It is no new thing for a member to take up with the superintendent the question of a change in text books.

"Mrs. Young reported to the school management committee that a questionaire was sent to the teachers of five grades in which a spelling book is used, asking for opinions regarding the desirability of a change in text books; that 600 teachers were opposed to the present speller; 1,300 in favor of it, and more than 1,100 indifferent.

"At a subsequent meeting of the committee Mrs. Young reported as follows: 'The conclusion has been reached that the chief reason for the opposition and the indifference to the book now in use may be to the unsatisfactory results obtained with that book, and recommends that the board select and adopt a speller that offers possibility of better results.'

Cites Board's Action.

"Action on this recommendation was deferred at two meetings, but at the meeting held May 22 the committee accepted Mrs. Young's recommendation in good faith and by a vote of seven to one passed a motion 'that the president appoint a committee of five to select and recommend such text book or books as in their estimation will be best suited for use in our schools and that the speller now in use be dropped from our list.'

"Then Mrs. Young gave an interview to the newspapers in which she repudiated her own recommendation and said: 'There is something behind this, but I do not propose to tell what it is.'

"Mrs. Young's lead in the newspapers was followed by Judge Vincent and Dean Sumner and for several days the newspapers printed interviews with these members of the board attacking their fellow members and holding them up to public scorn under such headlines as 'Text Book Intrigues,' 'Sumner Will Fight,' 'Dean Sumner Returns—Issues Graft Warning,' 'School Board Tips Resented,' 'Meddling of Trustees in Book Selection Said to Have Made Mrs. Young Revolt,' 'Want to Force Out Mrs. Young. Reported Politics Is Back of the Board's Decision to Select Its Own Speller,' and so on.

Calls It "Theatrical Expose."

"Then came the action at the last meeting of the board, when the superintendent, in a theatrical expose and with pretended reluctance, named me as one of the board members who had approached her in reference to a certain spelling book.

"For the superintendent of schools I once had the deepest respect and admiration. But my good name is just as dear to me as Mrs. Young's official prerogatives are to her. When she made the recommendation surrendering these prerogatives—whether that recommendation was made in good faith or not—the school management committee had the right to take her at her word, as the members of any society have to accept the resignation of an officer who tenders his resignation in pique or anger.

"I believe it is due to myself and the members of the board that the officials of

HOUSE PASSES SUFFRAGE BILL; DUNNE PROMISES SIGNATURE

Measure Carried, 83 to 58, After Hours of Heated Debate.

FIRST VICTORY IN EAST

Opponents Threaten Fight, but Supporters Are Confident.

WOMEN PLAN BIG JUBILEE

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., June 11.—[Special.]—Illinois today took the lead among the states lying east of the Mississippi river in the universal suffrage movement. The house of representatives of the general assembly passed by a vote of 83 to 58 the bill giving women the right to vote for presidential electors and other offices not governed by the state constitution.

Among the offices on which the women will receive the vote are:

Presidential electors.
Mayor.
Aldermen.
Sanitary board.
Municipal judges.
Board of Assessors.
Board of Review.
Village officials.
Township officials.

DUNNE PROMISES SIGNATURE.

Final victory was achieved on the fourth roll call during the battle. The women won all four tests. The bill already had passed the senate. It was introduced by Senator H. S. Magill.

"I will sign the bill with great pleasure," Gov. Dunne said tonight, "unless there should be a well grounded objection as to constitutionality. This I do not expect. I have favored women's suffrage for many years, though it was not part of our platform last fall."

The law, if approved, will become effective on July 1.

ONE HANDICAP STANDS.

There is only one fly in the ointment, but that one may multiply so rapidly that the governor will be forced to veto the measure on the grounds of unconstitutionality. Attorney General Lucey, in an opinion read to the house by Representative Dillon of Freeport, held that no such office existed as county collector [one of the offices specified in the bill upon which women may vote], unless it was as ex-officio to that of county treasurer, a constitutional office.

But this technicality is not bothering the women who have besieged the legislature since January. Neither did the notice given by Representative McCarthy of Cook that he would move for a reconsideration of the vote tomorrow, for they had the assurances of Speaker William McKinley that the obstruction move could not carry.

WOMEN PLAN FOR JUBILEE.

A women's jubilee will be held here on Friday evening, in which the legislators who voted "right" are expected to take part. President Wilson, former Presidents Roosevelt and Taft, Secretary of State Bryan, and the governor of each of the suffrage states were invited tonight by telegraph to be guests at the celebration.

The women are going ahead with their plans for further enfranchisement. A constitutional convention is one of these, and a number of schools of instruction is another.

INSTRUCTION SCHOOLS HERE.

The constitutional convention, it is expected, would enfranchise women so they might vote on every proposition now decided by the ballots of the men. The schools of instruction—of which Chicago will have several—will hold courses in citizenship as well as practical lessons in voting by hand marked ballots and by machine.

An interesting phase of the battle was that the Progressive house members stood as a unit for the first time since the legislature met. All were in favor of the bill and so voted, with the exception of Representative Graves, who is ill with typhoid fever at his Evanston residence.

PARTY LINEUP ON VOTING.

An analysis of the party vote showed, in addition, that the majority of the Republicans and all the Socialists voted for the bill, and that a majority of the Democrats opposed it.

BATTLE LASTS FOUR HOURS.

This vote was the conclusion of a four hours' parliamentary battle which was replete with bitter feeling and rhetorical pictures of numberless firesides bereaved by the absent wives and mothers at the polls, and, on the other hand, old political parties expunged by a new factor in the counting of votes, and a glorious womanhood purifying the cesspool of modern vote getting.

From 11 a. m. to 2:50 p. m. the house sat in continual session with woman's suffrage the only subject of debate. Personal recriminations filled the air as members visited fellow legislators in attempts to patch up gaps in their fences.

Despite the knowledge that woman's suffrage would be the chief topic, the galleries were not crowded. Women there were, but not in the expected numbers.

WOMEN'S "OLD GUARD" PRESENT.

The old guard of women which battled for the cause was omnipresent, sometimes on the floor, arguing and cajoling recalcitrant and doubtful representatives, and finally in the galleries.

When the victory had been won this little band hurried to the doors of the chamber and with tears of joy in their eyes thanked those who voted with them, and cuttingly ignored the stubborn but vanquished foe.

The little band of hope that finally sang the paeans of victory consisted of Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout, president of the Equal Suffrage association of Illinois; Mrs. Elizabeth K. Booth, legislative chairman of that organization; Mrs. Antoinette Funk, who described herself as merely a soldier in the ranks; and Mrs. Medill McCormick.

WIFE OPPOSES MEMBER'S VIEW.

Equal suffrage, in full or in part, has been adopted in many western states, but it is doubtful if ever before the adverse view of a wife was used as a bomb to destroy the confidence of a suffrage favoring husband. Such was the situation today, and Representative John M. Curran, Progressive, of Winnetka was obliged to maintain his views and still allow his wife the benefit of her differences of opinion.

The letter from Mrs. Curran was read by Representative O'Rourke of Harvey, who also charged Representative Curran with attempting to suppress it, which the genplexed "head of the family" denied. It was as follows:

Winnetka, Ill., March 3.—The Hon. J. O'Rourke, Springfield—Dear Sir: As I am told that the suffragists are writing to members of the legislature on behalf of the woman's suffrage bill, soon to come up, I should like to state a word for the large but silent body of women who do not wish to vote, and who see in such a bill only a burden to themselves and a menace to the state. I hope that you will think the matter over very thoroughly before voting for any such measure, which should not in any case pass without an amendment requiring a direct vote of the people to ratify it.

MAE R. CURRAN (Mrs. Jno. M. Curran).

Husband Stands Ground Firmly.

This letter was received with laughter and jests directed at the husband, but he stood by his guns.

"But the time has passed when any man is the Pooh-Bah of his family," he retorted. "Man and woman can now hold their own opinions on any question. This bill, if passed, will show whether women have the judgment they claim to possess in political matters."

The maneuvering necessary to bring the bill to a decisive vote was long and tedious, numerous roll calls being taken, opponents of the bill dying in the last ditch with every delaying trifle that parliamentary practice afforded them.

Luncheon was forgotten in the heat of battle, and the determination to arrive at a decision overcame the gnawing of hunger. Scattering motions to adjourn were ignored by speaker and members alike.

Every Vote Shows Strength.

Each vote proved the strength of the woman's cohorts, but the final vote, resulting in victory, gave them many a scare. Changes on the part of members were numerous, and "dope" roll calls proved valueless.

Representative Dillon of Jo Daviess opened the fight with the assertion that the bill had not received sufficient committee consideration and suggested it be made a special order for next Tuesday. Representative Wilson of Adams moved as a substitute an immediate consideration. Tabling motions for both suggestions followed, and then Representative Wilson insisted rule 12 of the house code permitted the advancing of any bill on the calendar by a two-thirds vote.

This was referred to Representative Shurtleff as a parliamentary authority and he held it was first necessary for 77 members to agree to give precedence to all senate bills on third reading, and next to specify the suffrage measure.

Beat McLaughlin Substitute.

Representative McLaughlin promptly countered with a substitute motion that all house bills on third reading be advanced to the top of the calendar.

"As I understand it," interjected Representative Medill McCormick, "a vote for the McLaughlin proposal is a vote against woman's suffrage."

He was assailed by a chorus of "Noes" from the Democratic side. This vote was the first test and forecast the final vote, as it proved, there being 87 ayes and 84 noes.

After further sparring Representative Wilson's motion to consider senate bills on third reading was adopted by a more decisive vote, 95 ayes to 80 noes. This brought the conflict down to Representative Scott's motion to put the suffrage bill on third reading and final passage, which carried, though showing a gain in the opponents' count, the vote standing: Ayes, 88; noes, 45.

Browne Speech in Opposition.

The fourth and momentous roll call proceeded quietly until Lee O'Neil Browne was reached, and he made what proved to be the star set piece in opposition to the women.

"I presume that part of my prejudice against the proposition is a question of heredity," said he, "but I have been educated that way. Woman is the greatest production of the Creator's work, but I know I would have a feeling of repugnance and repulsion if one of these glorious creatures came to this house clad in the raiment of man.

"If this bill passes it will be ever remembered by you in the days to come, for it will change the political map of Illinois, wiping out all party lines. It will eliminate the Democratic party because the women of Democratic families will not vote. They and their husbands and fathers and brothers do not believe in this bill. The women who do vote will not be Republicans either. Search the lobby if you would find the answer. It has been the best and brainiest lobby you ever saw, I will admit, but are you sent here to crucify your party? Take a vote of all the women of Illinois today on this proposition and it would be beaten five to one."

Harmony Though Differing.

Representative Carter, Progressive, of Champaign, said he had lived more than forty years with his wife, who was always a Democrat and would not be anything else, but the family harmony was not affected.

Representative Hull of Chicago could not convince himself the bill was for the benefit of women of homes and declined to vote.

"I have also struggled with my conscience," Representative King of Knox said in explaining his affirmative vote. "I thought for many years that the ballot would drag women down, but I have been in error. I do not care what tangents have sprung from the Republican party. The time will come when they will return and the women will credit the Republican party with this legislation. When I see how close this body is to a 'dippy house' I feel we need women here as safeguards."

Representative McGinly of Decatur asserted supporters of the bill had failed to cite one reason for putting politics for women above the home for women.

Representative Roe of Vandalia held that Illinois women, though without votes, were better protected in property rights than in any suffrage state.

"If left to the women in my district," he concluded, "they would beat it twenty to one."

Slaps O'Hara Commission.

Former Speaker Shurtleff, in voting for the bill, attacked the senate welfare commission by inference.

"From the standpoint of heredity I have been against the bill," he said, "and intellectually I never favored it. But in the last five months Illinois has seen a disgusting panorama given by officeholders, a moving picture show in various towns which held up fallen women as a spectacle to the state. If the fall of the women is the greatest peril to Illinois it is our duty to accord the privilege to women to take up the reins of government.

"This bill would not wipe out the Democratic party. It will be found in the same tracks it has occupied for 100 years. If the bill eliminates the standpat Republicans perhaps that would be for the better. The best people have always governed this nation and a small number of women voters could not affect it."

Representative Stedman, Socialist, remarked that the blackleg and tout are granted the ballot while women are barred."

The experience of western suffrage states, he asserted, proved that votes for women had not destroyed political parties.

"There are 5,000,000 women employed in industries," he continued, "and I commend that fact to the gentlemen who talk of the sanctity of the home. All women know chivalry is accorded the scrubwomen or the working girls who stand nightly in crowded street cars? We have handed them that taffy for years."

Speaker McKinley's vote gave the bill the necessary seventy-seven votes, and the call for absentees swelled the total.

Women's Praise for Supporters.

The Equal Suffrage Alliance gave out this statement through Mrs. Booth:

"The most intense moment of the day was when Mr. Shurtleff responded to Mr. Wilson's inquiries and straightened out the parliamentary tangle which seemed about to table woman suffrage for two more years on a technicality.

"From my seat in the gallery it seemed like the biggest fight of the session. My post impression is a bedlam of voices, points of order, hands raised in the air, a multitudinous seething of the southeastern section of the Illinois house and the member from my own district, Mr. O'Rourke, making frantic efforts to smother the bill without a roll call.

"At every step the bill advanced, gratitude for the steady stand of our friends overwhelmed me. The opposition tried their patience to the limit, and I want to tell the women of Illinois they stood—our men stood—to the glorious end.

"With dinner time three hours past when the final roll call came, I refute forever the statement that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach. It was notwithstanding the cravings of the inner man that eighty-three human men were recorded as favoring votes for women."

Statement by Antoinette Funk.

The following statement was made by Antoinette Funk of the women's suffrage lobby:

"The parliamentary battle which meant briefly, should our bill be voted on today or passed until it could be called or smothered by adverse influences, was hot and furious. Clever men spoke on both sides and honors seemed about equal until the master parliamentarian, Edward Shurtleff of Marengo, took the floor for us. The tide turned there and the parliamentary battle was over.

"More dramatic still was the contest on the last lineup as to whether the bill should pass. It was a wonderful thing to see our men stand firm, but when we had gotten down to within thirty votes of the end we needed twenty-one votes to put us into the open.

"We could count only seventeen, and when the last man on the direct roll call had responded to his name we had just seventy-six votes.

"Everything was quiet. I believe we could have heard a pin drop when the clerk turned to call 'Mr. Speaker,' and the response came clear and without hesitation 'aye.'

Applause for Absentees' Votes.

Then the absentees were called and eight voted aye. With every added vote, the floor of the house and the balconies responded with enthusiastic applause. In the balcony we counted the roll call on the four ballots taken, literally holding our breath. When it seemed that we might lose with a vote or two it was a marvelous thing to see our captains work.

"The enemy was not idle. I feared for a moment that some of the enthusiastic enemy would try to carry some of our friends from the floor. Every method known to desperate lobbying was brought to bear upon Mr. Jackson, the only colored man in the house, but he had said he would stand for the women of his race, and he did stand, a solid rock of manly determination.

"It is a glorious victory. The battle is over. And not a man who voted yes on the woman's bill will ever regret it."

Some of the Leaders in the Victorious Fight for Equal Suffrage

Women Rejoice Over the Result.

NEWS that the suffrage bill had passed the house of representatives spread quickly among the Chicago suffragists in the afternoon. There was general rejoicing among the leaders, who had been fearful in spite of the fact that victory had seemed almost a certainty.

Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch, who comments elsewhere in THE TRIBUNE on the legal phases of the matter, expressed the general sentiment when she said:

"The passage of this bill is a great victory, but there is much work still ahead of us. We must continue to work unceasingly, so that we may eventually have full suffrage.

"The more the men see of us as voters the more they will respect us as women.

"This victory may teach the English women the ballot may be won without throwing stones. We have shown them a peaceful way of getting the vote."

Mrs. Ella S. Stewart, former officer of the National Suffrage association and president of the Illinois organization for six years, said:

"Our victory in the legislature is the greatest thing that could happen for Illinois women. No legislature has ever honored itself or the state of Illinois as this one has. This is the big entering wedge which will eventually get us full suffrage. I think the women of Illinois will be full fledged citizens in the next four years.

"The passage of the bill has made us most grateful to all of those who have looked after it at Springfield, to the legislature, to Mr. Medill McCormick, who proved himself our stanch friend, and to the governor, who has maintained a favorable attitude and helped us whenever possible.

"When I go to Buffalo to the big woman's suffrage parade there I shall be able to tell the eastern women how it feels to be half a citizen. And I shall be proud of the distinction."

"The thing for the Illinois women to do now is to make good," said Mrs. James W. Morrison, the secretary of the Chicago Equal Suffrage association. "That is the thing we care about very much. That will be the object we will strive for.

"Personally, I think the women of our state should be granted municipal suffrage first; for there are many women who have a clear understanding of municipal questions who do not comprehend the larger issues that affect the nation. In my investigations I have found a surprising number of women who have thought a great deal upon municipal issues and city problems and are entirely competent to vote upon them."

"The passage of the suffrage bill will do more to inspire the women of other states than any suffrage victory that has ever been recorded in America," said Mrs. Virginia Brooks-Washburne. "When the women have the power to vote for public officials and to hold office we shall have a cleaner city politically. Graft and corruption will be checked. The time of the vicious public dance hall will be eradicated and riotous loop cafés will be put out of existence."

"The passage of the bill is one of the greatest victories yet recorded in suffrage history," declared Miss Margaret Dobyn at the suffrage headquarters. "It means so much because of the peculiar constitution of Illinois. The work of Mrs. McCulloch for the last twenty years and the splendid lobbying of Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout and Mrs. Sherman M. Booth have made this possible.

"We will now start a campaign of education so the women may use the ballot intelligently and the full suffrage later when they get it.'

"It is the greatest thing Illinois ever has done," said Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of Chicago schools. "If you had been deprived of your civil rights ever since you were of legal age, how would you feel when you were finally given them? Do you believe words could express your happiness over the event? The attitude of the legislature in this matter indicates a breadth of view very encouraging to these new made citizens—the women."

Mrs. Young said she would not hesitate to give her age if asked by any judge of elections.

"Isn't it lovely!" asked Mrs. L. Brackett Bishop. "I wouldn't have been surprised to hear that the bill had failed. It just shows how progressive the women of Illinois have become. We owe a lot to the tireless work that our women have put into the movement, and we owe a lot to the men. It was good of the men to give us this chance to show them we are just as capable as they, and that we know politics.

"I'm so happy, I hardly know what I am saying. Just quote me as saying I think it's just beautiful of the men, and grand of the women."

"Simply fine," declared "Mrs." Belle Squire, "simply glorious! There are some splendid men down there in Springfield, aren't there? And it came as a surprise to me. I was surprised because it didn't seem logical or reasonable to expect it, after what the initiative and referendum received. I would like to go down to Springfield and shake each of those men by their right hands, and congratulate them upon their stand."

"Splendid," said Miss Mary McDowell. "It is one of the greatest victories the women of Illinois ever have won. Now the question arises, 'what are we going to do with our privilege?' The women should get ready for it. What we want to know is just what has the state given us, just what rights have we gained through this gift of the legislature, and then what are we women going to do? I am surely going to use my power, and I feel sure every woman in the city will do the same."

Mrs. George Bass declared she was immensely pleased, especially since the law will give the women a chance to carry out all their plans for civic welfare, for child welfare, and other humanitarian ideas.

"I personally don't care so much about the vote on presidential electors, or for county commissioners, as I do for voting on municipal affairs," she said. "I think I know 11,000 women who know just exactly the kind of man they do not want for mayor of Chicago next year."

"Is that a roast on Mayor Harrison?" she was asked.

"Well," she answered. "I'd prefer to say it just as I have."

"I'm delighted," said Mrs. George W. Plummer. "I didn't dare to hope for it I'd tell myself we would never get the vote, just to prepare my mind against the failure of the bill to be passed, so I wouldn't feel so terrible. And then to have my wildest dreams come true! It's almost too much.

"We'll have to rest awhile and catch our breaths before we do anything now. Before we had bricks without straw, now we have the straw and the bricks, and we have an opportunity to do the things for the city that we have only desired to do. I'm simply overwhelmed."

NEW SUFFRAGE BILL OFFERED.

Measure in Wisconsin Senate Provides for Submission at the General Election in 1916.

Madison, Wis., June 11.—[Special.]—A new woman's suffrage bill was introduced in the senate. It is similar to the Glenn bill, which was vetoed by Gov. McGovern, but provides that it be submitted at the election of the state for approval in 1916 instead of 1914, as provided in the Glenn measure. Gov. McGovern in his veto message said he would approve a woman's suffrage bill with a provision for submitting it to the election in 1916. Senator Timothy Burke of Green Bay introduced the bill.

WOMEN MAY VOTE IN 1914 PRIMARIES

JOBS BECOME QUESTION.

Mrs. McCulloch Scouts Seeking of Offices; Commissioner Czarnecki Discusses the Matter.

The aldermanic election next spring will give women of Chicago their first opportunity to exercise their right of suffrage granted in the bill passed by the legislature if Gov. Dunne approves the act. There was general rejoicing last night in suffrage circles in the city over the Springfield victory.

Thirty-five aldermen will be elected next April. Many times that number doubtless will contest for nominations in the February primary. The women may vote in the primaries by registering by affidavit.

Czarnecki Talks of It.

Election Commissioner Anthony Czarnecki was interested in changes that will have to be made to take care of the women at the polls.

"If the governor signs the bill it means a general registration of women here next year," he said. "The law, I understand, provides for a special ballot for the women containing only names of those candidates for which they are qualified to vote.

"The question naturally arises whether it will be possible for the women to vote on the same voting machine used by men. It may be that the machines could be regulated so as to restrict the ballot voted by the women, but a dispute might arise whether we conformed with the law if the ballots cast by women on the machines are counted on the same counters that register the votes of the men. I cannot foresee now how we could unscramble them.

"Even if the women do not demand the right to count the votes it occurs to me that it would be unfair to ask women voters to exercise their right of franchise in a barber shop or poolroom.

Will Women Demand Offices?

Two questions agitated politicians when they realized the full significance of the action at Springfield.

"Will the women also demand the rights to hold public office?" was the interrogation most frequently heard.

Mrs. Catharine Waugh McCulloch of Evanston, who wrote the bill that ran the gamut of the two branches of the legislature, and is given credit for its passage, quickly disposed of the office holding query:

"There is nothing in the bill providing for such a contingency," she said. "There is a difference of opinion as to whether women have the right to hold office even without the ballot. That is not a question of concern to us now. We are more interested in electing good men to office, and the action of the legislature convinces me there are more good men in office than I thought there were. I intend to thank every one of them."

Question of Constitutionality.

The second question pertains to article 7 of the state constitution, which mentions "male citizens of the United States" as being entitled to vote.

Mrs. McCulloch also was prepared for a suggestion that this constitutional provision might invalidate her bill.

"We thrashed that out before committees at the capital time and time again," she said. "I have studied every phase of the law and have briefed all decisions affecting this point. I am sure the bill will stand, unless it should be found later that some error was made in its passage or a joker now concealed should be discovered.

"A Supreme court decision in 1891 respecting the right of women to vote for school district trustees, I believe, covers the power of the legislature to grant us the franchise for all offices not mentioned in the constitution.

"Doubtless an effort will be made to test the constitutionality of the cat, and while no one can forecast a Supreme court decision I am confident the result will be in our favor."

FORMER STATE AID DEFENDS COOPER

Jeremiah Sullivan Upholds Actions in Attacked Cases Which He Prosecuted.

WOMEN ASK LENIENCY?

Attorney Asserts Law and Justice Forced Procedures Court Adopted.

Former Assistant State's Attorney Jeremiah Sullivan yesterday disputed the charges which State's Attorney Maclay Hoyne made public against Judge William Fenimore Cooper when the judge started an investigation of the election frauds.

Judge Cooper was attacked with allegations of undue leniency in the disposition of child crime cases in his court. A newspaper which Judge Cooper sued for $100,000 libel has been publishing the charges. Mrs. Miona S. Jones appointed a "jury" of women and announced herself as "judge," to place Judge Cooper on "trial" on these charges.

Sullivan Prosecuted Cases.

Mr. Sullivan in a public statement reveals himself as the state's representative who prosecuted the cases in which the action of Judge Cooper was condemned. Quoting from the record of the cases he defends the action of both the judge and jury in the cases in which he appeared as prosecutor. He charges a negro whom Judge Cooper sentenced to the penitentiary for an assault on an old woman was the object of an appeal by Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britton of the Juvenile Protective league before the board of pardons

Here's Part of Charge.

Mr. Sullivan's charge, in part, is as follows:

"As an illustration of the baselessness of the charges against Judge Cooper attention is invited to the following cases, which have repeatedly been given prominence:

"The jury found Thomas Morgan guilty of a simple assault, the legal punishment for which was not a term in the pnitentiary but a fine of not less than $3 nor more than $100. If Morgan had been given the full penalty of $100 and could not pay it he would be sent to the bridewell to work it out at the rate of $1.50 per day, which would mean he would get out in a little less than sixty-seven days, or a little more than two months.

"Morgan had been in jail about two months awaiting trial, and this was taken into consideration in fixing the fine at $5.

Cites Bona Case.

"In the Bona case John Bona was entitled to a new trial because the evidence showed a crime different from any alleged in the indictment. The penitentiary crime alleged in the indictment carried with it a punishment of from one to twenty years, while the penitentiary crime shown by the evidence and not alleged in the indictment carried with it a punishment of from one to fourteen years. In addition to this the witness who testified to the crime was a little girl, 6 years old, who showed by her evidence she did not understand what the court proceedings meant.

"An objection was made, after she was sworn, to her testifying. I examined her on the voir dire, to test her competency, and the answers she gave to all my questions established her incompetency, and I expected the court would rule her incompetent. Much to my surprise the counsel for the defendant did not follow up and press his objection, and she was allowed to go on with her story. Although the jury found him guilty, they recommended him to the clemency of the court.

"In this case the parents of the girl, named Perrin, wrote a letter to Judge Cooper asking the judge to give the defendant a new trial. This letter also is signed by an officer of the Juvenile Protective association.

Tells of Woman's Appeal.

"A case not published, because in it the defendant was convicted by the jury and sentenced by Judge Cooper, was that of Mrs. Louisa Van Bern, 87 years old. The defendant was a negro named George Williams. In this case the Juvenile Protective association, by Gertrude Howe Britton, superintendent, interceded with the board of pardons in behalf of Williams, and wrote a letter to me, requesting me to make a report to the board of pardons in the case, and hoping the same would be favorable.

"These are only samples of the criticisms of cases which certain papers have stirred up such a ruction about. Nothing to them but froth.

"I have prosecuted cases in Judge Cooper's court continuously, day after day, for three and a half months, and can positively say that Judge Cooper is an affable, courteous gentleman, an able lawyer, and a conscientious, upright, and high-minded judge, painstaking in every case that comes before him, and wants to do what is right by all parties."

Mrs. Jones Talks of "Trial."

Mrs. Jones announced the scope of her investigation is to be broadened. She proclaimed her belief that if prosecution in Judge Cooper's court miscarried the county prosecutor ought to know how it happened.

Mrs. Jones said the nexe session of the women she appointed to "try" Judge Cooper will be kept secret until a few hours before the meeting. This system is calculated to insure a "nice, familylike" trial, without constant interruptions from friends of the persons on trial.

A. M. LAWRENCE AGAIN SUES KOHLSAAT AND INTER OCEAN.

Publisher of Examiner Asks $100,000 and Includes "Backers"—Crane, Patten, Rosenwald, and McCormick.

Andrew M. Lawrence of Hearst's Chicago Examiner yesterday filed another suit for $100,000 damages against the Inter Ocean Newspaper company, H. H. Kohlsaat, editor and publisher; W. E. Moore, managing editor; Cyrus H. McCormick, Charles R. Crane, Julius Rosenwald, and James A. Patten as "persons directing the editorial policy."

The suit is based on an editorial published May 10 charging the Hearst paper with being back of Lieut. Gov. O'Hara's "welfare commission" from the Illinois senate and also back of the tax inquiry into Mr. Rosenwald's affairs.

This is the second suit in which the same parties are involved. A short time ago Mr. Lawrence brought a $250,000 suit against the same parties, alleging damages to that extent from an earlier Inter Ocean editorial against the Hearst paper.

"IMMUNE EDDIE" BEGINS TERM.

Notorious Pickpocket Goes to Joliet to Serve Two Sentences He Long Evaded.

"Eddie" Jackson, the pickpocket, known as "Eddie the Immune," was taken to the Joliet penitentiary yesterday to begin serving sentences of from one to fourteen years, and from one to five years, for picking pockets and attempting to pick pockets.

HOLDS 1912 BALLOT "ROTTEN"

McCormick Tells Czarnecki Fraud Inquiry It Was Worst Ever.

LORIMER DOUBTS CHARGES.

"I Don't Believe in This Idea of Stealing Votes," He Said.

President A. A. McCormick of the county board and William Lorimer were the chief witnesses examined by Election Commissioner Czarnecki yesterday in his independent fraud inquiry into the November election. Mayor Harrison and former Gov. Deneen have been subpoenaed for today.

Neither Mr. McCormick nor Mr. Lorimer were able to tell the commissioner of any specific instances of fraud. The county board head expressed the opinion, however, that the election was the "rottenest ever held," while Mr. Lorimer was inclined to the view that the irregularities were no different than in previous elections.

No Faith in Vote Theft Idea.

Mr. Lorimer said he had been told "Farrar had been counted out." He explained Farrar ran for the legislature in the west side senatorial district. He would not vouch for the statement generally made by the candidates' friends.

"As a general proposition," he added, "I don't believe much in this idea of stealing votes, you know. I have heard so much of it and never saw any of it proven. I never paid much attention to it."

Mr. Lorimer referred to a congressional contest in which he was a participant to sustain his view that changes in recounts usually even up.

Mr. McCormick Thinks Different.

Mr. McCormick's ideas as to the November election were directly opposed to those of Mr. Lorimer.

"The records in Judge Baldwin's court show one of the rottenest elections ever held," he said. "All I personally know is what appeared in court. I have no interest in any candidate.

"My greatest interest is in seeing the scoundrels who stole the votes punished. It may be the Socialists had ballots stolen from them. I have no information, as I was not at the polls, nor did I have any one at the polls for me. I made my campaign through the newspapers and the only money I spent was for newspaper advertising.

"If I did have any information I would gladly give it. It has been shown, however, in Judge Baldwin's court that 9,000 votes were given to one candidate which belonged to another. It does seem to me there must be machinery in this town which can locate these frauds and those responsible for them. I do not care who the culprits are or how high they might be in this community. It seems there is a public sentiment aroused which must be met."

Explains Count of Stickers.

Commissioner Czarnecki explained to Mr. McCormick some 2,500 votes had been thrown out in the recount because the ballots contained stickers contrary to the law. These were counted by precinct officials on the advice of the counsel for the election board.

"Who is the attorney for the board?" Mr. McCormick asked.

"Charles H. Mitchell," replied Mr. Czarnecki.

"Do you call him a lawyer?" demanded the witness.

"The majority of the board hired him," was the answer of Mr. Czarnecki, who is the minority commissioner.

"If I were in your place I would get a new lawyer," Mr. McCormick replied.

Ald. Stanley Kunz of the Sixteenth ward said he had no personal interest in the November election and had not heard any complaints of fraud in his ballwick.

TRIES TO CASH $1,000 CHECK.

Woman Arrested in West Side Bank—Man Who "Identifies" Her Also Seized.

Mrs. Mary Noonan, 116 South Robey street, and Isaac Meyers, 1202 Washington boulevard, whose right neme is said to be Harry Spivins, a former west side saloonkeeper, were arrested in the Midcity Trust and Savings bank, Halsted and Madison streets, yesterday. Mrs. Noonan attempted to cash a worthless check for $1,000 and Meyers was arrested when he identified her.

ENOCH ARDEN STAYS AWAY

Wife's, Former Fiance Ready to Replace Absent One.

MRS. FAY KEMPER WILL SUE.

Deserted at Altar by Husband Parents Selected.

Nearly two years ago Miss Fay Sauvant of 5121 Lake avenue discovered she was in love. But just when ready to take the slow walk down the church aisle, she and her fiancé quarreled. However, that did not worry her parents. Christ Kamper was their choice.

On April 13, 1912, Fay and Christ Kamper were married in St. Paul's Episcopal church at 4945 Madison avenue. Mrs. Kamper, her husband, and her brother walked to the door of the church. She turned to kiss her brother.

When she looked around Kamper had fled. She didn't know where. The next day he called at her home and told her he couldn't love any girl, took the wedding ring off her finger, and vanished. So far as Mrs. Kamper knows he might have droped off the earth. She waited for him to return and wrote letters to his former home. The letters were unanswered.

Decides She Waited Long Enough.

Yesterday Mrs. Kamper decided she had waited long enough for a husband who refused to be a husband, so she instructed Attorney Charles E. Erbstein to begin suit.

"I'm tired of waiting," she told a reporter for THE TRIBUNE. "I'm not going to be the wife of a man who won't be a husband."

Her former sweetheart sat near her.

"Are you going to marry again?" the reporter asked.

She looked at the former sweetheart.

"We've made up," she said. To prove the statement was true the former sweetheart kissed her as affectionately as a husband might be expected to kiss his wife at the altar.

Calls Thirteen Her Jinks.

"You won't leave me waiting at the altar, will you?"

Mrs. Kamper says her jinks is the thirteenth day of the month. She quarreled with her first sweetheart on the 13th and her husband left her at the church April 13.

"When I marry again it will be on the 7th," she said.

A petition to annul the marriage will be filed in court this morning.

WIFE CALLS SEARS PERPETUAL SOUSE

Evidence Against Son of Kenilworth Founder Makes Court Dizzy.

BEGAN ON HONEYMOON.

She Asserts Snores Kept Her Awake; "Glass in Hand All the Time."

Spectators in Judge Tuthill's courtroom yesterday were a bit dizzy at the conclusion of Mrs. Jessie Anderson Sears' testimony in her divorce suit against John B. Sears, whose father was a founder of Kenilworth. Mrs. Sears' bill alleged intoxication.

"When home," she said, "he had a glass in his hand practically all the time. Perhaps he would talk to me before dinner, but afterward he usually would continue drinking and fall to sleep, only to wake up now and then to drink some more. I have seen wagons draw up to the house loaded down with cases of whiskies, gin, and in fact every kind of liquor.

Snores Nearly Drove Her Crazy.

"Less than a week after we were married he drank so much one evening at the Alexandria hotel in Los Angeles that when he went to bed he snored something awful. It nearly drove me crazy, and I was unable to sleep a wink during the whole night. The next morning I would not speak to him.

"On our trips between Los Angeles and San Francisco, during our honeymoon, he often would leave me for five or six hours at a time while he stayed in the buffet car of our train drinking."

Looked Forward to Sundays.

"What would he do on Sundays, when he didn't have to work?" she was asked.

"Oh, he said he always looked forward to Sundays, as he then could drink before breakfast, and that, he said, was the most enjoyable time to drink.

"On the boat going to Milwaukee once, he left me at the start of the trip to fix up accommodations with the purser."

"Did he find the purser?"

"Yes, and from his appearance later he evidently found something else. At one time he said there was something in climate, as he could not drink the quantity of liquor in Illinois that he could in California."

Letter Boasts of Sobriety.

The following letter was read:

Dear:

We had quite a party here last night. John Upham, Everts Wrenn, Albert Goodrich, and myself had quite a time at cards. I won eight dollars. My conduct has been pretty fairly good. I haven't had a real souse on yet.

Mrs. Sears is the daughter of Capt. James Anderson, U. S. A., retired, who lives in Evanston.

POLICE BLOCK UNION FRACAS; ARREST BUSINESS AGENT.

Squad of Detectives Guard Painters' Meeting—Edward J. Flynn and Companions in Auto Captured.

Edward J. Flynn, alleged labor slugger, was arrested at night after it is charged, he had attempted to break up a meeting of the Painters' District council, No. 1,306, at 309 West Madison street. Flynn had a revolver and was accompanied by several men who drove up to the union headquarters in an automobile. Charges had been filed against him, and he was to be given a hearing as a result of a slugging in which he figured some time ago.

Word that trouble was looked for at the meeting reached Lieut. James Larkin of Capt. Halpin's office, and detectives were sent to the place. Flynn's companions, James O'Connor, James Lyons, John Kirby, and Robert Morton, were in the automobile when Detectives Magner and Stapleton accosted them. Two of them carried revolvers and other weapons were found in the machine.

"There would have been serious trouble had it not been for the police guard," said a member of the union. "Flynn is a business agent, and has been in a series of sluggings. The better element are anxious to oust him, for he is a dangerous man."

AGED WOMAN KILLED BY TRAIN.

Miss Gertrude Uthe, Milliner, Thirty Years with D. B. Fisk & Co., Run Down at Glencoe.

Miss Gertrude Uthe of 4646 Woodlawn avenue, for thirty years a milliner in the employ of D. B. Fisk & Co., was killed yesterday by a Chicago and Northwestern railway train at South avenue, Glencoe. The Northwestern train and another train on the Chicago and Milwaukee electric railway were running about abreast on the adjoining tracks at a high rate. It is supposed Miss Uthe, who was 70 years old, became confused in dodging the electric train and stepped in front of the other.

INQUIRY ON CALUMET PLAN

Dunne Wants Opinion of Expert on Expenses Involved.

ESTIMATES VARY WIDELY.

Views on Legal Aspects Also Sought by the Governor.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., June 11.—[Special.]—Gov. Dunne is conducting an independent investigation of the Calumet harbor proposition, which has nothing to do with political or real estate interests involved in the affixing of his signature to the Kleeman bill.

He has started an expert engineer to make a complete survey of the project, who is to present to the executive an estimate of what will be the cost of digging out of the proposed harbor as contemplated by the Kleeman bill.

Great Difference in Estimates.

The estimates of the Calumet region people, as made to the governor, says it can be accomplished for less than $2,000,000. Other estimates presented to the governor show that the work cannot be completed for less than $10,000,000 at a conservative figure.

Between these wide extremes the governor is in a quandary, and he is having a statement prepared which has nothing to do with the claims of either side to the controversy.

The governor, it is understood, feels that there is a war between rival real estate interests and that he should not be called upon to act as judge. He is looking into this particular phase of the matter, coincidentally with the engineering investigation now in progress.

Review of Legal Aspects.

A complete review of the legal aspect of the case also is in readiness to be laid before the governor, reaching into the actual ownership of the riparian rights around Lake Calumet, the legal condition of such rights should the state proceed with the proposed undertaking, and a determination, such as can be made, as to whether the ownership of the state to the bed of Lake Calumet is absolutely established at this time.

Gov. Dunne has until Saturday midnight to act upon the bill.

Boardman Taken Into House.

George B. Boardman, the Progressive from the Joliet district elected at the special election in April following the death of former Representative James H. Alexander, was sworn in as a representative tonight. The oath was administered by Circuit Judge John P. McGoorty of Chicago.

The Democrats did not relax their effort to keep Boardman from his seat and to keep Michael F. Hennebry in until after a three hour fight used up all of the morning session. The majority report of the elections committee was adopted finally.

According to the report of the house election committee given to the house today the total cost of the state in deciding contests for seats in the lower branch of the general assembly will reach the sum of $56,727.

Urge Nonpartisan Plan.

The County and Probate Judges' Association of Illinois at its meeting today adopted a resolution favoring the separation of the judiciary from politics and to have nonpartisan judicial elections.

A committee of five was appointed to work with the legislature in an effort to obtain legislation to that end.

The committee consists of Judges John E. Owens of Cook county, P. L. Parsons of Lake county, Homer Hall of MacLean county, Frank G. Plain of Kane county, and William A. Blodgett of Whiteside county.

Meeker Nurse Bill Fails.

A heated discussion took place in the senate this morning when Senator Meeker undertook to call up his graduate nurses' bill.

Senator Clark wanted the senate to let the Meeker bill and his own bill on the same subject rest on the calendar and have the senate act on the house bill which is now on second reading in the senate.

Senators Manny and Waage fought for action on the Meeker bill, which provides for a two year course in nursing. Senators Gray and Clark, who favor Clark's three year bill, opposed action on the Meeker bill.

After the discussion had continued an hour the floor of the senate was so crowded with lobbyists that protests were raised and the senate was cleared of all visitors.

On roll call the bill received only sixteen votes. Senator Meeker gave notice that he will ask a reconsideration of the vote.

HOUSE MEETING IN NIGHT SESSION

Effort Made to Clear the Calendar of All Bills on Third Reading.

AIDS MINE COMMISSION.

Senate Takes Final Action in Favor of Search and Seizure Plan.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., June 11.—[Special.]—The house is in a session which has been continuous since 4 o'clock and which is to work all night is making a frantic effort to clear its calendar of third reading house bills.

Roll call after roll call is progressing monotonously. There is no speech-making and nobody knows what is under consideration.

Relays of sandwiches feed the members and it is a desperate proposition for the house organization to line up 77 votes for agreed appropriation bills.

The corporations bill was one which went ot pot. It mustered but 50 votes and is dead.

Mine Commission Bill Passed.

Speaker McKinley pulled in enough stragglers to pass the administration bill creating a state mining commission.

The house workingmen's compensation bill was passed finally by the house. It carries a schedule of rates to be paid by employers operating under the law, and provides for a state commission, to be named by the governor, to administer the law. Favorable action in the senate is doubtful.

The house appropriations committee knocked out the proposed medical school feature of the University of Illinois appropriation bill in executive session, refusing to authorize the taking over of the old College of Physicians and Surgeons by the university so far as direct appropriation is concerned.

Cost of Contests High.

The house adopted the report of the elections committee carrying the expenses of contest cases. A brief uproar was caused by the size of the bill, which is $25,000 larger than that of last year.

The administration fish and game bill, consolidating the two departments, went to third reading.

The Hay senate bill for the creation of a legislative reference bureau was advanced to third reading after a hard fight made against it by Representative Browne.

Private banks regulating legislation passed into the impossibilities. Representative E. E. Miller, a Progressive, produced a resolution for the creation of an investigating commission of five to "look into" the matters. It is what the private bank trust wants. Consideration was put over under the rules.

Saloons' Enemies Gain.

This afternoon the senat search and seizure or "blind tiger" bill, backed by the Anti-Saloon league, was passed after a bitter fight.

Gov. Dunne had several recalcitrant Democrats on the carpet today and his friends in the house will attempt once more to pass the tax reform bill abolishing the state board of equalization, which was practically killed yesterday.

ILLINOIS LEGISLATIVE NOTES.

The senate concurred in the house amendments to the Cornwell bill concerning the police pension fund of Chicago. The house amendments provide that a widow receiving benefits from the fund shall cease to receive such annuities in event of her remarriage.

A communication from a number of Chicagoans, urging the submission of the tax amendment to the constitution before the adjournment of the present session of the legislature, was received by Speaker McKinley for transmission to the house and by the lieutenant governor for the senate.

The house passed the bill permitting annexation on two-thirds vote of each city council instead of by direct vote of the people. It affects a territory lying between Chicago and Evanston which wants to become annexed to the city of Chicago.

The Ryan bill prohibiting the buildings of garage and ice houses in business sections of cities and preventing dumping of rubbish on vacant lots, recommended by the city council of Chicago, passed the house.

SENATE WILL GET TARIFF BILL SOON

Fight Against Free Sugar and Wool Clauses of Measure to Continue.

HELP FOR PUBLICITY.

Progressives of House Obtain Right for Press in Currency Hearings.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., June 11.—[Special.]—Another stage of tariff revision will be entered on Friday, when the finance committee will receive the reports of its various subcommittees which have been considering the duties proposed in the Underwood bill.

The committee is not expected to take more than a few days in examining the recommendations of the subcommittees and early next week the Democratic senatorial caucus will pass on the completed measure. As soon as the caucus has reached its decision the bill will be reported to the senate.

The subcommittees will advocate many changes in the duties proposed by the house measure, most of them, however, of a minor character and intended to equalise rates more than anything else. In the big matters in which President Wilson is interested, such as free raw sugar after three years and free raw wool, the finance committee will acquiesce in the decision of the house.

Fight on Sugar Continues.

The struggle against the sugar and wool proposals is not ended. Mr. Wilson's charge that an "insidious" lobby has been operating in Washington has been in the nature of a flank attack, which has put backbone into senators who were wabbling. But it has not modified the activities of those against the president's policy.

The four senators who are opposed to free sugar and free wool make no secret of their intention to vote against these propositions on the floor. It is the hope of the administration, however, enough support from the other side of the chamber will be obtained to assure the success of its plan. It is known that Senators Kenyon, La Follette, and Poindexter will vote for the passage of the bill.

Changes in the Underwood tariff bill by the senate finance subcommittees, transferring proposed dutiable articles to the free list, will aggregate an estimated annual loss in revenue to the government of nearly a million and a half dollars a year.

Added to the $25,000,000 estimated loss in revenue ur[illegible] he house bill free list, this would agg[illegible] $26,500,000.

Included in the senate list are the revenues that would be derived from hemp, which the Underwood bill makes dutiable, but which the senate subcommittee today decided should be transferred to the free list.

Move for Publicity.

The secrecy which has pervaded consideration of the tariff question and, up to this time, currency reform may be broken down in the case of the latter. A victory for publicity was won today by the Progressives in the house in connection with banking and currency legislation. The subcommittee to which was referred Representative Lindbergh's resolution providing for open meetings of the committee has decided to recommend to the full committee that the meetings be open to representatives of the newspapers.

Opposition to the banking and currency legislation at this session developed today in the banking and currency committee of the senate. Senators O'Gorman of New York and Hitchcock of Nebraska both declared themselves opposed to the present consideration of a currency bill. They argued that it would seriously interfere with an early conclusion of the tariff fight. Senator Bristow, of Kansas, expressed similar views.

The feeling in the senate undoubtedly will have its effect upon the president's program. He is earnestly desirous of obtaining legislation affecting banking and currency. But he realizes he cannot drive such a bill through the senate unless he has the unanimous support of the Democratic membership.

BUSINESS MEN PLAN DETAILS OF AUTO VICTIMS' FUNERALS.

Northwest Side Commercial Association to Name Delegations Today Which Will Attend Last Rites.

Members of the Northwest Side Commercial association will meet today at 2 p. m. at Prospect hall, 1152 North Ashland avenue, for the naming of delegations to attend the funerals of Richard J. Carroll, Emil Iverson, and John M. Gauer, the three members who were killed in an automobile smashup near Springfield on Tuesday.

The executive committee yesterday named special committees, with Joseph R. Noel, J. C. Hanson, and Otto Schulz as chairmen for resolutions and assistance to the families. These committees will report at today's meeting.

SUGAR MEN CONFESS FIGHT

Started "Back Fire" Campaign to Overcome Allegations.

DO NOT LIKE "INSIDIOUS."

Resent Term Used by Wilson in Excoriation of Washington Lobby.

Washington, D. C., June 11.—Investigation of the "sugar lobby" by the senate lobby committee today was to a marked extent a controversy over whether President Wilson had given the sugar producers reason to believe they would have "nothing to fear" from free sugar under his administration.

Out of the day's testimony, in which Louisiana and Hawaiian witnesses repeatedly declared they had not received fair treatment from the president and had been misled by others as to his purpose, the committee succeeded in drawing what are believed to be some of the most important facts thus far developed.

Some of the sugar men frankly admitted that they constituted a "lobby," although they objected to the charge that any of their actions had been "insidious" or in any way illegitimate or underhanded.

Planned "Back Fire" Campaign.

They admitted that comprehensive campaigns had been organized and carried out, to create "back fires" on senators and representatives from their own states, in the hope of winning their support to the anti-free sugar side.

"The prosperity of Louisiana was at stake," said Jules Godchaux, a sugar planter. "We tried to get the people we did business with to write to senators and representatives telling them that free sugar would destroy the business of the state. We asked them to write and wire to Washington and to ask the merchants they did business with throughout the United States to do the same. We tried to establish an endless chain of letters and telegrams, to draw the attention of congress to our arguments."

Boiled by "Insidious" Charge.

Plainly resentful of the president's recent statements as to the operation of an "insidious lobby" in Washington, the Louisiana and Hawaiian sugar men enlivened the hearings with frequent attempts to tell of the pledges they had received that sugar would not be made entirely free.

Jules Godchaux and E. F. Dickinson, the two Louisiana witnesses, declared they had tried in vain to see the president and had been informed he had all the information he wanted on the sugar tariff.

Mr. Dickinson declared the president never had talked with any "practical sugar man" about the Louisiana situation.

Charges of the sugar men that they had been given assurances of the president's sympathy on the sugar question were based on statements Representative Broussard had made to the witnesses after a visit to President Elect Wilson at Seagirt.

Assured of Wilson Support.

"I was assured by Mr. Broussard," said Harry Irwin, representing the Hilo, Hawaii, board of trade, "that a plan insuring a tariff reduction such as would not destroy any legitimate industry was prepared in Mr. Wilson's presence and sanctioned by Mr. Wilson with direct reference to the sugar situation."

Edward F. Dickinson of Louisiana was particularly emphatic in his statements that he was not an "insidious lobbyist," declaring that he had looked the term up and found it meant "deceitful, lying, and treacherous."

"Do you know of any misleading statements that have been circulated?" asked Senator Overman.

"Why, yes; some of these bulletins and statements put out by the free sugar advocates are not truthful," he answered.

"Well, you admit there is insidious lobbying, then," retorted Senator Overman.

COL. ROOSEVELT AND SULZER SPEAK FOR PRIMARY REFORM.

Join in Plea to Rochester Voters to Support New York Governor's Election Plan.

Rochester, N. Y., June 11.—Gov. Sulzer and Theodore Roosevelt spoke from the same platform here tonight in behalf of the governor's primary election plan. Three meetings were held.

At convention hall Col. Roosevelt said he supported Gov. Sulzer in the contest for direct primaries because he believed that "the fight is for the interest of the foundations of American citizenship."

Of his desire for changes in the primary bill advocated by the governor the colonel said:

"I should like to see a change that would permit us to put up as party officials not only men but women. For example, the things I am most interested in—workmen's compensation, minimum wage, the prohibition of child labor, the limitation of the hours of labor for women in industry—in every one of those matters among the persons whom I consult in trying to get them through there are as many women as men.

"If we have a constitutional convention I should want to see the constitution explicitly permit us to pass legislation on these subjects, and I should like to see the convention in close touch with women."

sibility of the issuance of a stay of execution; your decision was first, last, and final?" Mr. Monnet suggested.

"Yes," answered Capt. Morgan.

"If you had sentenced a man to death there was no way of stopping the execution if the governor approved it?" Senator Borah asked.

"We did not contemplate imposing death sentences," the witness replied.

"I think the committee has about ample testimony on this branch of the inquiry," remarked Senator Borah. "The statement of facts seems full and complete."

Takes Up Peonage Charges.

Adjt. Gen. Charles D. Elliott had occupied the morning session and part of the afternoon session. Tonight Senator Borah took up witnesses produced by the mine workers to testify as to charges that peonage obtains in the Paint and Cabin Creeks sections.

The examination of one of these miners named Nance caused a heated dispute. Under examination by Senator Martine Nance related that Maj. Davis had met him at the postoffice in Askdale, W. Va., and told him to leave the office and not return until the military authorities gave him permission.

Nance left the stand. Attorney Monnett suggested he might have testimony as to other branches of the investigation. By this time Nance had reached the rear of the room.

Martine Rakes State's Attorney.

"Come back here!" shouted the senator. Nance shuffled back to the witness chair.

"Were you arrested?" asked the senator.

State's Attorney A. A. Lilly, representing the state of West Virginia, interrupted.

"Now, see here," said Senator Martine, "I am not a lawyer as you are, but I am a senator of the United States. I am not here to cavil with you about the fine points and cheeseparings of the legal phases of this situation. But I want to know the truth, and by the eternal gods I am going to know it."

The senator continued his examination of Nance, who related the circumstances of his arrest and trial before the militia commission.

He was followed by a miner named Van Goldsborough, who said mine guards refused to allow him to enter the company's store at Ronda, where the postoffice was located, when he tried to get his mail. He said it was three months before he could get his mail.

Martine's Anger Again Stirred.

Counsel for the operators endeavored to show that Van Goldsborough was not a regular resident of Ronda, and therefore expected "no particular mail."

Mr. Monnett objected to the line of examination which counsel for the operators said was for the purpose of impeaching the witness' good faith. Senator Martine again questioned:

"Are you an American citizen?"

"Yes."

"And you could not get your mail?"

"No."

"That's all," exploded the senator, "whether this man expected a love letter or a check doesn't make a d—n bit of difference."

The big crowd in the committee room roared.

Several other miners testified they could not get their mail.

Sentenced to Leave Chicago.

Edward M. Lewis, son of the president of the St. Louis Star, who was arrested on Tuesday night in the City Hall cafe after he had caused a disturbance, was ordered by Judge Williams to leave town and reimburse Policeman Michael Minuter for destroying his uniform.

VICTIM OF STRIKE BURIED

Idle Workers Attend Funeral of Girl Killed in Ipswich Riot.

TWO LABOR LEADERS TAKEN.

Dispute as to Whether Policeman or Toiler Caused Her Death.

Ipswich, Mass., June 11.—Grief stricken relatives and friends buried Nicoletta Paudeliopoulou today, less than twenty-four hours after the strike rioting at the Ipswich hosiery mills last evening, when she was shot dead.

In connection with her death two leaders of the Industrial Workers of the World, the organization in charge of the strike, and the wife of one of them pleaded not guilty to charges of murder in court today.

Whether the bullet which killed the woman was fired by a police officer or by some other person is expected to be determined at the inquest.

After the funeral service 150 persons followed the hearse for more than a mile from the church to the cemetery. There was no disorder.

The strikers tonight planned a picketing demonstration for tomorrow. In readiness for any developments an armed force of 600 officers has been recruited from the state police and the police of nearby cities.

Thomas J. Halliday, national secretary of the Industrial Workers of the World, said Arturo Giovannitti, prominent in recent I. W. W. demonstrations in the strike at Lawrence, Mass., is expected here soon.

Strikers and Police Clash.

New London, Conn., June 11.—Trouble occurred today in the vicinity of the Brainard & Armstrong silk mill, where striking weavers had congregated, when informed by the company that they had been discharged. When ordered by the police to disperse they attacked the police with stones. Sergeant Beebe had been felled and another policeman's shoulder had been dislocated by a blow from a heavy stone when reinforcements arrived. The police used their clubs freely, and when order was restored after half an hour's fight many of the disturbers lay in the streets and others, bruised and bleeding, were carried away in the patrol wagon.

Agreement by Railway Unions.

Washington, D. C., June 11.—Ratification of a general working agreement with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers was voted today by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, in annual session here. GRAPE JUICE TEST FOR JOBS ABROAD

Bryan Opposed to Giving Places in Service to Brewers or Distillers.

HANDICAP ON VOPICKA.

O'Connell Calls at White House to Discuss Chances of Chicagoans.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., June 11.—[Special.]—The grape juice test for American diplomats is the latest policy to be initiated by Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan. The intelligence is causing discomfort to a number of Democrats eager to qualify as ambassadors and ministers.

Just how far Mr. Bryan intends to go in applying the grape juice test to the myriad aspirants for diplomatic appointments remains to be seen. To the politicians it is unthinkable that he should refuse to indorse the appointment of any but teetotalers to the foreign service. But that the secretary is averse to the appointment of distillers, brewers, and other liquor dealers to office under his jurisdiction has been indicated to the satisfaction of the politicians.

Stumbling Block for Vopicka.

This consideration is reported to be the stumbling block in the way of Charles J. Vopicka of Chicago to appointment as minister to one of the Balkan states. Mr. Vopicka is president of the Atlas Brewing company. He is a member of the executive committee of the Hearst-Harrison Democracy, the leaders of which have been insistent on his selection for a diplomatic post. Senator Lewis and Representative Sabath have pressed his claim to recognition vigorously.

The efforts to obtain preferment for Mr. Vopicka soon disclosed that Secretary Bryan was not warmly disposed toward the appointment of a brewer to the diplomatic service. It is reported that this question was discussed by the secretary of state and Mr. Sabath. The latter argued that brewing is an honorable and highly respected occupation and that in the case of Mr. Vopicka it is inconsequential compared with his extensive business interests in other fields.

Chicagoans at White House.

County Treasurer William L. O'Connell and John C. Eastman of Chicago accompanied Senator Lewis to the White House today and talked briefly with President Wilson. They urged the selection of Mr. Vopicka and Ira Nelson Morris for positions in the diplomatic service. The president listened intently to the complimentary remarks addressed to him concerning the two candidates and said he would confer on the matter with the secretary of state. Later the delegation presented the same arguments to Mr. Bryan, who said he would confer on the matter with the president.

It was reported during the day that Henry Morgenthau of New York has declined a recent offer of an appointment as minister to Turkey. This has led the friends of Mr. Morris to hope that there is a possibility of obtaining that post for him.

RIOTS NEAR AT MARKET HEARING

Witness Calls Lawyer a Liar and Threats of Violence Are Exchanged.

MORRIE ADMITS SLUGGING

"Manny" Abrahams' Brother Insists Fight with Samuel Goldman Grew Out of Personality.

Constant vigilance on the part of three policemen assigned to the city council chamber at the request of Chairman Willis O. Nance, yesterday was necessary to prevent violence at the third hearing of complaints of abuses connected with the Maxwell street market.

The police frequently were called upon to clear the aisles and compel excited men and women to take seats; but in spite of their efforts charges and counter charges of threats of threats of violence kept the meeting in a turmoil during several periods.

Morris Abrahams, brother and saloon partner of "Manny" Abrahams, alderman and former state legislator, was seen in the room and called before the committee by Chairman Nance. He admitted having slugged Sam Goldman while in the council chamber ante-room on Monday afternoon.

Later in the afternoon Morris Abrahams was arrested, charged in a warrant sworn out by Goldman, Republican precinct committeeman of the Second precinct of the Twentieth ward, with assault and battery. He gave bond and was released.

Tells of Fight with Goldman.

Witness Abrahams admitted slugging Goldman. He testified:

"This man [Samuel Goldman] had been using profanity in regard to myself and my brother. I don't want to repeat it because women are present. He used the foulest kind of language, and all the while he pretended to be our friend. He used to come in to our place—my place—and then go out and use that kind of grammar about us everywhere."

"Did this investigation cause the trouble?"

"There wasn't a word said about this investigation. It was just a personal matter between us."

"It was a personal matter entirely," insisted "Manny," who is a member of the committee.

"Ask Goldman about it," suggested Morrie. "He's here in the room."

Victim Fears for Life.

It was found that Goldman, with the side of his face discolored, had slipped out of the gallery as soon as this subject was raised. Chairman Nance had instructed the committee clerk to request him to attend the meeting and tell the committee of the assault upon him. His reply was that his life would not be safe if he testified against the Abrahams brothers.

The worst demonstrations requiring the attention of the police came near the close of the meeting. A. Smulski, who had been pointed out by Attorney Samuel Pincus as "one of the chief sluggers" at the last meeting, was called as a witness for the defense of A. I. Goldstein, master of the Maxwell street market, and engaged in an altercation with the lawyer.

Calls Lawyer a Liar.

"You lie!" Smulski shouted when Pincus repeated his charge, and as he approached his antagonist in an angry way he was led from the witness stand by a policeman.

"Mr. Chairman! Mr. Chairman!" shouted Ald. Abrahams a moment later. "Two of our witnesses have just been threatened in this room by Bart Collins."

"Yes," replied Pincus, "and there's a man here from the election commissioners and one from the state's attorney's office threatening our witnesses."

"Did you mean me? Did you mean me?" demanded a man who admitted he was a city employé, as he advanced on Pincus. "What do you mean by mentioning me?"

The lawyer avoided him and a policeman stepped between the two.

Much of the session was taken up with Goldstein's own statement in his defense. It was considered enlightening on the question of practical politics, as he said he had converted his precinct, the Second of the Twentieth ward, from a Republican into a Democratic stronghold. He said he had won over the votes by arguing the superiority of the Democratic platform. The opposition charges it was done by threats and promises in connection with market privileges.

"The Democrats are more organized," said Goldstein. "The ward was organized by 'Manny' and 'Morrie' Abrahams."

Keeps No Record of Collections.

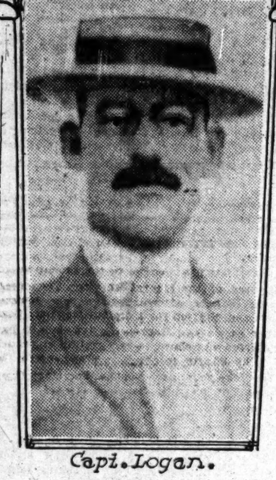

Goldstein again mentioned "Manny" when he said he had appealed to the alderman repeatedly to take him "off the job" of market master. He said he kept no records of the 10 cent fees he collected beyond that furnished by his receipt book, which shows merely the number of 10 cent permits missing. He also admitted he could not keep better records because he could neither read nor write.

TURK GRAND VIZIER SLAIN

Assassins Kill Mahmoud Schefket Pasha and Aid de Camp.

WOUND LIEUT. IBRAHIM BEY

Officials in Motor Car Fired On as Vehicle Stops in Street.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 11.—Mahmoud Schefket Pasha, the Turkish grand vizier and minister of war, was shot and killed by assassins today.

His aid de camp, Lieut. Ibrahim Bey, also was killed.

Prince Said Halim, foreign minister and ex-president of the council of state, has been appointed grand vizier ad interim. All the other ministers retain their portfolios.

The following official account of the assassination has been issued:

"On leaving the ministry of war this morning the grand vizier entered a motor car with the intention of proceeding to the sublime porte. But the car was obliged to stop while going through Bayezid and Divan Yolu square because the road was torn up.

"Some persons in another car, whose identity has not been established, fired ten shots at the car. The grand vizier, who was severely wounded, was taken back to the ministry of war, where he died half an hour later.

"Lieut. Ibrahim Bey, who was accompanying Mahmoud Schefket Pasha, was hit by some of the bullets and subsequently died."

One Suspect Under Arrest.

A man named Topal Tewfik has been arrested on suspicion of being one of the assassins. He had in his possession two revolvers and some cartridges.

Capt. Schref, who was riding with the grand vizier, describes the tragedy as follows:

"Our motor stopped on account of repairs being made to the road. I heard an explosion, but attached no importance to it, thinking a tire had burst. But Schefket Pasha fell forward. I took him in my arms to hold him up and saw blood on his face.

"The reports continued and I jumped from the motor to seize the assassins, but they fled in their car, with the exception of Topal Tewfik, who had no time to get in. One of the assassins fired at me repeatedly. I cannot understand why I was not hit."

The motor car used by the assassins was found this afternoon and the owner was arrested. He has made certain admissions.

Honored by Abdul Hamid.

Mahmoud Schefket Pasha had held office as grand vizier since Jan. 23 this year, when Kiamil Pasha resigned. On the same day Nazim Pasha, the commander of the Turkish army at the Tchatalja lines, was shot dead during a demonstration in Constantinople.

Mahmoud Schefket Pasha was a pure Arab and a native of Bagdad. He was graduated at the military school hefe at 18 years of age with the highest honors. He was a great favorite of former Sultan Abdul Hamid, who appointed him to the general staff.

One Boiler in Bad Shape.

The defective condition of one of the twin boilers, is said to have been the reason for the explosion. It is claimed by the surviving members of the crew that the safety valves on the defective boiler were screwed down too tightly and this resulted in the yielding of the boiler plates.

TROOPS TO MOVE ON MOROS

Strong Force Ready for Battle with Intrenched Enemy.

SEEKS DISARMAMENT OF FOE

Brig. Gen. Pershing Will Wage Fight Until Savages Surrender.

MANILA, June 11.—Brig. Gen. John J. Pershing, commander of the department of Mindanao, has made all arrangements to move forward and engage in a decisive fight against the rebellious Morose intrenched at Bagsag under the Sultan of Jolo.

A stubborn resistance to the advance of the American troops is expected and a strong force has therefore been assembled, consisting of a company of regular infantry, a troop of cavalry, seven companies of scouts, two companies of constabulary with a battery of four mountain guns, and a machine gun platoon.

Seeks Complete Disarmament.

Washington, D. C., June 11.—Complete disarmament of the semi-civilized tribes in the southern Philippines, as a final step towards permanent peace in the archipelago, is the object of the attack upon the Moros which Brig. Gen. Pershing began today.

In the north disarmament has been effected peaceably, and it had been hoped that through the good offices of the Sultan of Jolo the savage Mohammedan tribes in the Jolo group and in Mindanao might likewise be induced to give up their weapons.

Force Only Means of Success.

Negotiations were carried on with the various dattos with the active sympathy and support of the Sultan of Jolo, but recent advices made it appear that the disarmament policy could be carried out only by force.

The war department was not advised of this last move by Brig. Gen. Pershing, who has been given a free hand in the conduct of his campaign, but the officials have no doubt that his plans will result in the full establishment of the authority of the United States government in the southern Philippines.

COWBOYS SHOOT UP VILLAGE; YOUNG PASTOR ARRESTS 25.

Friends, Enraged After 22 Year Old Minister "Covers" Crowd, Seek Warrant from Mayor, but Fail.

Grand Junction, Colo., June 11.—Twenty-five cowboys who were shooting and rioting in the streets of Debeque, a small town near here, were arrested today by the Rev. A. F. Glover, 22 years old, who, after "covering" the men with his revolver, marched the entire party to jail.

Friends of the men who were arrested immediately obtained a warrant for the minister's arrest, charging him with carrying concealed weapons, but Mayor Walker ordered the city marshal not to serve the writ.

The trouble started this morning when Abe Ong, a cowboy, called Mayor Walker a liar. The mayor knocked him down.

The cowboys then in a spirit of revenge rode through the streets of the village shooting their revolvers and shouting.

WIFE DIVORCES W. L. WHITMAN

Quiet Decree Follows Mysterious Family Differences.

TESTIMONY KEPT SECRET.

Said to Have Ignored Each Other in Same House Since 1905.

Mrs. Maude L. Whitman, a social leader at Riverside, has quietly divorced her husband, William F. Whitman, on charges of cruelty. They separated after a series of mysterious family differences over a subject which they and their lawyers are keeping secret.

Mrs. Whitman and a retinue of servants, one of whom corroborated her tale of cruelty, occupy the family residence, while Mr. Whitman, president of the Excelsior Printing company, resides at the Blackstone.

The testimony on which the divorce decree was granted has been suppressed and, it is said, never will become part of the record. The simple notation, "Decree, May 24," on the back of the file cover, tells the tale. The files, by the way, merely consist of the bill, the answer, and copies of subpœnas.

Rumored for Some Time.

Rumors of the separation have been in circulation for some time, but neither of the principals would confirm the reports. It now transpires there was trouble in the household on May 18. The next day Mrs. Whitman, through Attorney Edward W. Everett, filed her bill in the Circut court. On May 21 Whitman, through Attorney J. Marion Miller, filed answer; on May 23 Judge Tuthill heard the testimony—a brief recital of facts by Mrs. Whitman and her Swedish maid. The following day there was a decree in which Mrs. Whitman was permitted to resume her maiden name of Frost.

It is said the couple have not spoken to each other in kindly spirit since 1905, although they lived under the same roof until last month. It also is understood Whitman has allowed his former wife a big lump sum for allimony. Those who know refused to discuss the amount on the theory that it was a "private subject."

Wife Tells Story.

In her bill Mrs. Whitman says they were married on Sept. 19, 1894, and "lived in the same house—but not as husband and wife since 1905—until May 18; that no children have been born of the union."

She asserts she treated him affectionately, but that in 1905 he "willfully and without reasonable cause deserted and abandoned your complainant and refused to live with her."

One paragraph says: "The defendant on divers occasions has beaten, struck, pinched, choked, and otherwise cruelly abused and ill treated her, and used vile and opprobrious language, so that her life was rendered miserable."

DIVORCES AFFINITY SEEKER; INVOLVES "25 OR 30 WOMEN."

Colorado Wife Designates Husband, 56, a "Mormonlike Lothario"—Says He Called Her "Old Thing."

Colorado Springs, Colo., June 11.—[Special.]—Because of the husband's "Lotharian tendencies, his mania for writing to other women, and his Mormon-like disposition," Mrs. E. L. Lake today obtained a divorce and is awarded half her husband's property.

Mrs. Lake declared that although her husband is 56 years old, he is a "regular Lothario," and she produced scores of letters, photographs, locks of hair and newspaper advertisements to prove her assertions. She says her husband always wrote to twenty-five or thirty women.

In some of the advertisements Lake set forth the following: "Lady partner, willing to invest $1,000 in an egg farm, wanted by a free thinker and man of fine presence; will marry his affinity if found; must be decided brunette, handsome, rather stout, symmetrical physique, and of high social standing."

Mrs. Lake says her husband referred to her as an "old thing."

LIGHTS TOO POWERFUL; FINED.

Two Automobilists Penalized Because Reflectors in Cars Throw Rays More than 300 Feet.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

FOUNDED JUNE 10, 1847.

ENTERED AS SECOND CLASS MATTER JUNE 6, 1908, AT THE POSTOFFICE AT CHICAGO, ILL., UNDER ACT OF MARCH 3, 1879.

All unsolicited articles, manuscripts, letters, and pictures sent to "The Tribune" are sent at the owner's risk and The Tribune company expressly repudiates any liability or responsibility for their safe custody or return.

SWORN CIRCULATION.

Net paid circulation of The Chicago Tribune, as reported under oath to the United States government under section 4677½ of the postal laws and regulations, being the average from Oct. 1, 1912, to March 31, 1913:

Sunday 363,119

The above figures are exclusive of all papers which have been wasted, soiled, returned, duplicated; delivered as complimentary, in exchange, as samples; which were missed or lost, or were late in arriving at their destination, or that remain unsold. FOR A CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

If the Forty-eighth general assembly, now in session, is not completely demoralized, it will not adjourn with its present record of futility and worse than futility. Its members will not return to the people with virtually empty hands. They will gather themselves together, those who are responsible or conscious of responsibility, and they will do some respectable constructive work to justify their choice as legislators and to compensate the state for the expense involved in sending them to Springfield and maintaining them there.

To adjourn without affirmative action upon constitutional reform would be a confession of impotence or irresponsibility the Forty-eighth general assembly cannot afford to make.

Today in the senate Senator Curtis' resolution for a constitutional convention is a special order. This offers the straightest and shortest road to that revision of our fundamental law which forty-three years of social, economic, and political progress have made necessary.

Will not the senate and, after the senate, the house put Illinois on the road to this relief?

The initiative and referendum and the tax reform amendments have reached the expected deadlock. The amendment to the amending clause seems to be making no headway. The assembly should cut the Gordian knot by passing the resolution for a constitutional convention. The proposal then will go to the people for their approval or refusal at the next general election.

If approved, as there is little doubt it would be, Illinois could undertake the task of bringing its constitution into the twentieth century as other states have done recently with their fundamental law.

Is Illinois so backward, are its leaders of public thought and action so inferior, that this task of constructive citizenship need be feared? The constitution of 1870 was an extremely able piece of work. It retains today much of the sound political provisions which time has approved and change has not affected. But it also contains so many provisions whose amendment or abolition is far overdue, and is most urgently called for, that the inclusive method of revision by convention must approve itself.

The prosperity of the state and its people, their progress in material wealth, in social resource, in politics and government, are hampered by provisions of the present constitution which Illinois should be intelligent enough to cancel, modify, or replace without more costly delay.

NO SPOTLIGHT ON THIS.

At the head of the list of those who subscribe to the doctrine of "the public be damned" write the name of young Mr. Barratt O'Hara.

It was that "friend of the poor working girl" who delivered the death blow to the measure bringing private banks under the reasonable supervision which state banks accept. Mr. O'Hara's heart throbs nobly in the spotlight—when wages are mentioned—but to protect wages saved by hard economy and thrift leaves Mr. O'Hara cold.

The measure of Mr. O'Hara is pretty well taken by this time.

NEWSPAPER PUBLICITY UPHELD.

The decision of the Supreme court holding the newspaper law constitutional will be welcomed by every newspaper which is applying to its own business the standards of good faith and square dealing the press has been preaching to the business world generally.

Men who lie about their circulation, who defraud the advertiser, are just as guilty of obtaining money under false pretenses as is the cheap swindler who palms off a brass watch on a farmer under the pretension that it is gold."

The newspaper must live up to the code it applies so austerely to others' practices. If any advertiser can be prosecuted and sent to jail for swindling the public the publisher who defrauds the advertiser should occupy an adjoining cell.

The present law should be amended so that it will be obligatory on the editor, owner, or publisher to sign the affidavit personally, so as to prevent the employment of a scapegoat, paid to be prosecuted.

So long as newspapers do not live up to their own standards of probity and openness in these business matters as well as editorially, they are self-condemned and deserve contempt, distrust, and want of public influence. And since government has undertaken in the name of the square deal to protect the individual from irresponsible banking, from drug fakes, from impure foods, from lottery and get-rich-quick cheats, it may and should see to it that the honest advertiser and the reading public and the honest newspaper are protected from the unscrupulous newspaper which will not respect the straight code of honorable enterprise.

Over sixty millions a year are paid out annually in advertising. This huge expenditure should be protected from exploitation. Such protection would inure to the benefit of business and to the public and to responsible newspapers.

THE WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE BILL.

Yesterday by a vote of 83 to 58 the Illinois house of representatives passed the bill for partial woman suffrage. The senate had already passed the bill. Therefore it will become the law of Illinois if not disapproved by Gov. Dunne. He announces that he expects to sign it.

By the bill women may vote for all offices which are not mentioned in the constitution of Illinois.

That is, under the bill women may vote for presidential electors, mayor, aldermen, Municipal court judges, sanitary trustees, and minor local officers. They may vote for assessors and members of the board of review, but not for the constitutional county officers. They may not vote for governor, lieutenant governor, state officers, members of the legislature, county or district judges, congressmen, or United States senators.

The bill gives a large measure of suffrage to women, as large a measure as the constitution permits the legislature to grant. Women cannot obtain complete suffrage in this state without a constitutional amendment or a constitutional convention.

The measure of equal suffrage provided in the bill is, however, so large that hereafter Illinois may be more properly put in the equal suffrage than in the male suffrage column. Thus Illinois becomes the first state east of the Mississippi and the tenth in the union to grant the suffrage to women. That is, provided Gov. Dunne does not veto the bill.

The governor says that unless he finds unexpected constitutional defects he will approve the bill. In the opinion of THE TRIBUNE he is quite right in this position. He should sign the bill and make it law.

A SQUARE DEAL MEASURE.

In the senate the registered nurse bill accepted by the house will encounter the Meeker bill, a measure apparently fathered by the interests whose profit is found in low standards of nursing education.

The house bill is a measure of justice and public protection. The Meeker bill should be rejected and the house bill passed unless the senate is willing to accept the responsibility of deliberately refusing a public service at the behest of selfish interests.

The registered nurse bill bars no one from nursing. It does not affect the practice of partially trained nurses, who are needed where other nurses are unavailable. It provides for high standards for those nurses who seek the highest grade of the profession, and it provides the public with a means of knowing whether these standards have been reached by any one offering herself or himself as a nurse.

Nurses who give years of hard work to getting the most thorough training should not have to compete with nurses who have given little or nothing. That is only the square deal to the nurse. The public should be able to know what sort of nursing it is paying for. That is only the square deal for the public.

If the senate is for the square deal it will put the house bill into the statutes.

NO SURRENDER OF HOME RULE.

With the public utilities bill in its present form the Chicago members of the house of representatives can do nothing better for Chicago than vote to defeat the bill when it is offered on third reading. The control of Chicago public utilities by other than Chicago men is not to be tolerated.

If Chicago representatives voted for the bill they would vote for a surrender of home rule, a complete surrender of all authority to regulate the utilities which serve Chicago people.

With the measure in this form the Chicago representatives have no alternative. They must contribute to its defeat.

APPARENTLY River Forest has driven a shrewd bargain.

IT will take a man a long time to get rich by "general managing" a suburb at $1,800 a year.

THE legislature seems to find a stern joy in killing the bills in which Gov. Dunne is Vitally Interested.

LET us not waste any time in telling those Balkan nations to "get together." It is their close-togetherness that ails them.

YESTERDAY morning a poor, tired, thirsty old work horse amused a crowd of thoughtless humans on State street by trying to get a drink at one of those "bubbling fountains" at the edge of the sidewalk and making a grotesque failure of it. Where was the man with the moving picture machine?

EFFERVESCENT patriots who feel sure they will not enjoy Chicago's sane Fourth should consider themselves at perfect liberty to go and spend the day at St. Louis, Ishpeming, Tater Holler, Council Bluffs, Biloxi, Puyallup, Cincinnati, or Mifflintown, Juniata county, Pennsylvania. This is a large country.

CONCERNING the farmer who is asked to pull a disabled "devil wagon" out of a ditch, listen to Isaiah: "Woe unto them that draw iniquity with the cords of vanity, and sin, as it were, with a cart rope."

How to Keep Well. By Dr. W. A. Evans.

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, and prevention of disease, of matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Where space will not permit or the subject is not suitable, letters will be personally answered, subject to proper limitations and where a stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases. Requests for such service cannot be answered.

SYPHILIS (Continued).

SYPHILIS is due to infection with a parasite that has the capacity of making itself much at home in the human body. Within three months of infection it is on neighborly terms with the cells surrounding it. Its harmful activities during a single day are immeasurably small, but, when the day's work is multiplied by 365, and then the product by ten, the harm is no longer immeasurably small.

The first point to remember is that syphilis is not a blood disease—in any proper sense.

The second point is that it is not a severe disease. Its mildness makes it possible for the germs to keep at their job for a long series of years.

The third point is that the disease is still actively at work when there is nothing to show for it—no eruption on the skin, no ulcers, no mucous patches, and no sore throat.

In order to handle the disease it is necessary to bear these three points in mind.

To cure, it is necessary to kill the germs in the tissues, in which locations they are harder to get at than if they were in the blood. The secondary symptoms, occurring when they are in the blood in numbers, disappear after a few weeks, or even days, of treatment.

It is necessary to bear in mind the mild nature of the disease in carrying out the treatment. However, the third point is the one of greatest importance. The temptation to consider oneself well—no longer a source of danger to others and out of danger so far as one's own future is concerned—the tendency to think that all's well when the symptoms disappear is strong.

In malaria, gonorrhea, and rheumatism we have illustrations of half cured diseases that are even more of a menace than if no part of a cure had been effected.

Syphilis furnishes the best and most striking illustration of the harm done by confusing cure of the symptoms with cure of the disease.

After the spirillum has been crippled by a few months of treatment it can still remain in the tissues, crippling them so that ten or twenty years later gummas will be found.

In the unborn babe the disease can become virulent and speedily terminate life, or it may be fairly latent, producing conditions that do not manifest themselves for years after the child's birth.

The terror of syphilis is due to the lesions which it produces and the symptoms which appear after the disease has seemed to lie idle for years.

HAVE NO ADVANTAGE.

E. S. writes: "Will you kindly tell me the benefits of epsom salt baths? Do these baths absorb the secretions of the skin better than the ordinary soap bath? Would these baths be helpful to a person with a slight kidney or intestinal trouble?"

REPLY.

Practically no magnesium sulphate would absorb through the skin. The bath would not take up the skin refuse as well as soap. I do not think such baths would have any advantage over other baths in any way.

SAFETY NOT SETTLED.

X. Y. Z. writes: "I notice that you do not believe in an excess of uric acid in the body. Will you please state what in your opinion causes rheumatism? If it is of bacterial origin, what do you consider the best remedy, when care in diet seems to have no effect upon the disease? Is phylacogen in your opinion a safe remedy where the patient is well along in years, and has considerable hardening of the arteries? Why do some climates, that of Florida, for instance, seem to cure the disease? The salicylates seem to control it often and I notice that salicylic acid is used commercially, as in wine making, to check fermentation. Does it act in the body by checking food fermentation, and the formation of poisonous products?"

REPLY.

1. The term rheumatism is used to designate an ill defined group of conditions. Almost every painful affection of a joint, muscle, or nerve is called rheumatism. Most of the joint affections, so called, are due to infection with bacteria.

2. Probably in time we will treat rheumatism by putting splints on the affected limb, as in a fracture, and injecting the joints in proper cases.

3. The safety of phylacogen has not been settled. Thousands of physicians are using the remedy. Most of the reports are satisfactory. Some bad results have followed. A remedy powerful enough to be helpful is always harmful at times.

4. I do not know.

5. Salicylate is serviceable in the pain and fever stage of acute inflammatory rheumatism. Its action in such cases is not due to its anti-ferment action.

HAS SOME INFECTION.

Mrs. A. D. writes: "I am worried about my little boy, 9 years old. He suffers with headache and pain in the back, between the shoulders, and complains of being tired over a little. His temperature is 97.2 to 100. I have had him examined by two doctors, and they don't seem to know his trouble. I keep the window open at the top at night. His weight is sixty-three pounds. Is not that too small for his age? I have two other boys, both healthy, aged 3 and 6. Do you think they should sleep with the oldest boy?"

REPLY.

Sixty-three pounds is a fair weight for a 9 year old boy. Headache, constant tired feeling, and a daily temperature of a degree or two above normal means that the boy has some chronic infection.

The most frequent infection causing a slight temperature in boys about that age is tuberculosis of the lymph glands. It is difficult to be certain of this infection except by the use of tuberculin.

Such conditions usually get well. Plenty of food of good quality and plenty of exercise in the open air generally bring them out all right. An iron tonic helps.

Talk with your physician about a tuberculin test. Even if the condition is due to tuberculosis of the glands, the boy does not endanger his brothers.

BLEACHING THE SKIN.

Actress writes: "Would it be safe to use peroxide of hydrogen for bleaching my arms? If you think it is too strong, please tell me how to dilute it. Do you think this will whiten my arms?"

REPLY.

It will be safe in the sense that you will survive. You might use it for a year or so without harming your skin. In time it will spoil your skin. It will bleach what it can easily reach. Why not powder your arms? It will do less harm.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1913: By the Brentwood Company.]

EVERY tourist from this side of the Atlantic who has visited Venice knows the Sagredo palace, one of the most magnificent of those which line the Grand canal. The last of the counts of the ancient house of Sagredo, which has played so notable a rôle in the history of Venice, a house which has furnished a pontiff to the papacy and a saint to the church, left it on his death to his only child and sole heiress, Donna Maria Socalla.

She has just died without issue and has left the Sagredo palace, as well as her large fortune and all her art treasures, not to the church, but personally to Cardinal Aristides Cavallari, patriarch of Venice.

Cardinal Cavallari was a poor parish priest at the time when Pius X. became pope, and one of the first things that the new pontiff did after his elevation to the chair of St. Peter, was to take advantage of Father Cavallari's visit to Rome to raise him to the rank of bishop and archbishop and to bestow upon him the patriarchate of Venice, which he himself had just vacated.

Cardinal Cavallari was taken completely by surprise when the holy father, during the course of a private audience, informed him of the honors in store for him, and at first pleaded to be allowed to remain a mere parish priest at Venice, declaring that he was so poor that he had no means whatsoever of maintaining the dignity, not even of defraying the expenses incidental to his consecration, admitting that his entire fortune consisted of something under $20.

Pius X. was aware of this. He knew that Father Cavallari devoted almost every cent of his meager stipend to relieving the destitution of the poorest of his parishioners, and that he even went hungry for their sake and contented himself with the most threadbare of cassocks.

So he silenced the kindhearted priest by calling in Mgr. Bisletti, his principal secretary, and directing him to look after and pay for the equipment of Father Cavallari with all the robes and outfit needed for his archiepiscopal rank, and, at the same time, to defray all the dues and fees in connection with the appointment.

Four years later Pius X., much gratified to learn of the popularity which his appointee had achieved as patriarch of Venice, still further raised him to the rank of cardinal bishop.

This penniless parish priest of just ten years ago has now become, by virtue of Donna Maria Socalla's bequest, the richest member of the sacred college.

Although Belgium is a small nation, which does not begin to compare in riches and importance with the United States, its government has just devoted $250,000 to the purchase of a mansion in the Jagerstrasse in Berlin for use as an official residence by its minister plenipotentiary at the court of the kaiser.

King Albert and his ministers take the ground that, in these twentieth century times, when so many ancient prerogatives are going by the board, it is necessary, in order to preserve diplomatic extra-territorial immunities, and the fiction about each foreign embassy and legation being foreign territory, the official domicile of the mission should at least be owned by the foreign power concerned.

At the present moment the American ambassador to Great Britain is living in a London hotel, which is open to any one who is willing to pay for accommodation there.

It is subjecting the doctrine of extra-territoriality to an altogether undue strain to assume that the apartment which the envoy thus occupies at the Coburg hotel constitutes United States territory, as such exempt from all English jurisdiction, civil, criminal, municipal, and even sanitary, or that it affords the same haven of refuge to his countrymen as an embassy, the site and building of which, owned by the United States government, would be in every sense of the word American soil.

Apropos of diplomatic immunities, they have recently been stretched to the limit in Paris by the ambassador of a great power, who, having been recalled by his government, has left a perfect army of unpaid tradesmen, who, having been prevented by reason of his diplomatic rank from suing him in the French courts for his unpaid bills or from attaching his belongings, are now clamoring at the French department of foreign affairs on the Quai d'Orsay for intervention in their behalf.

They have received but small satisfaction. All that the French government has been able to do is to recommend them to sue the debtor in the courts of his own country, where he has now been reduced to the rank of an ordinary citizen.

It is only fair to his country to say that he is not a diplomat by training or profession, but one who secured the ambassadorship by political maneuvers.

It is all the more necessary to state this, since his recall was quietly requested by the French government owing to the fact that he had given his name as president to a financial enterprise of his own country. This concern floated a loan in Paris, by means of which it obtained some $3,000,000 from small French investors and then came almost immediately to grief, the entire affair turning out to be a barefaced swindle.

The general manager and several of the directors, Frenchmen some of them, who were not protected by diplomatic immunity, are in jail in France. But it was impossible for the French authorities to even question the ex-president of the defunct financial concern, owing to his ambassadorial prerogatives, much less to molest him.

Now that he is no longer an envoy, steps are being taken to bring him to book, for the purpose of compelling him to show whether he was merely foolishly indiscreet in accepting the presidency of a concern about which he knew nothing, or whether he was a party to and a beneficiary of the frauds.

Mrs. Asquith, wife of the British premier, has every reason to be satisfied with the manner in which her husband is looking after the members of her family.

Her eldest brother has been raised to the peerage as Lord Glenconner and has been each year appointed to the office of the king's high commissioner at Edinburgh, where, last month, he, throughout an entire fortnight, held viceregal court at the palace of Holyrood, with chamberlains and aides-de-camp, purse bearers and chaplains for himself and maids of honor for his wife.

Mrs. Asquith's younger brother, Harold Tennant, formerly Mr. Asquith's private secretary, who was last year appointed to the $8,000 a year under secretaryship of state for the war department, in succession to Col. Seeley, now war minister, has been still further promoted to the lucrative governorship of Ceylon, with a salary and allowances of some $60,000 a year, a palace at Colombo, fully furnished by the government, and a similarly splendid country seat up in the highlands of the island, also equipped and maintained by the state.

In accordance with precedent, Harold Tennant will become Sir Harold before he leaves England to take up his appointment and will receive a knight commandership of the order of St. Michael and St. George.

His wife was formerly Miss Margaret Abraham of Rathgar, County Dublin, and achieved considerable note as an authority on questions of female labor in factories, which won for her a government appointment as inspector of factories. She is a somewhat masterful woman and is the mother of three sons and a daughter.

MEDITATING on the fact that the English have beaten the Scotch at their own game of golf, a correspondent writes, "Is there, in the whole history of games, another case like this?" Sure. There's polo. It originated in Asia.

Purely for Information.

Sir: We have hesitated to inform you why lumber is piled like the leaning tower of Pisa, fearing you were contemplating a wheeze on us. However, we are reminded of a pilot on a Mississippi steamer—one of those steamers with a round bow and a round stern exactly alike. Looking down at the stern-like bow we asked him if that was really the bow. "If you are looking for information," he replied, just like that, "it is. If you are trying to be funny, you can go to Gehenna." He didn't really say "Gehenna," but that is what he meant. (By the way, should "Gehenna" be capitalized?—It is hardly a proper noun. If so, for how much?) If you are looking for information, lumber is so piled so the rain will not drip down and collect at the front of the pile and stain the lumber; as the pile slants, it will run easily enough off the rear of the pile. CAN GET A DUPLICATE.

Chicago, June 9.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I have been informed that I am entitled to a rebate for the assessment made against me for the paving of Sacramento boulevard and when I applied for same I was told to produce all the receipts. My husband recently died and I am unable to locate more than the last receipt, which, of course, I would not have if all the others had not been paid. I was told to go to the city hall and secure the back receipts, for which I must pay 25 cents, and as the rebate would not be more than 45 cents, the man at the Union park office seemed to think it hardly worth my while to attempt to collect.

A. M.

The West Chicago park commissioners notified the property owners on Washington and Sacramento boulevards that rebates would be paid on the assessments on these two streets providing the property owners brought in their special assessment receipts. In cases where they cannot produce the receipts, and the assessments were paid to the county collector, they must obtain a certificate from the county collector, as we have no record of such payment on our books. If they are paid in the office of the West Chicago park commissioners no charges will be made for the duplicate bill. GEORGE A. MUGLER, Secretary.

TAKING PICTURES IN PARKS.

Chicago, June 9.—[To the Friend of the People.]—While in Humboldt park Sunday morning, watching another take a picture of a statue, an automobile drove up and a man got off, saying he was an officer of the park board and that it was unlawful to take any pictures in the parks without a permit; also that the permit was good only for a short time. I would be pleased to receive information regarding this; also where a permit could be obtained if necessary.

CHARLES SCHMIDT,
1413 North Fairfield avenue.

The rules of the West Chicago park commissioners are that no pictures are to be taken on the boulevards or in the parks excepting by permission of the West Chicago park commissioners. Parties wishing to take pictures in the parks and on the boulevards must apply at the office in Union park and obtain permit from the secretary. When these pictures are not to be used for commercial purposes the permit will be granted, excepting for Sunday afternoons and holidays.

GEORGE A. MUGLER, Secretary.

This rule had to be enforced because photographers took pictures and annoyed visitors by trying to sell the photographs.

There will be provided a temporary bridge for foot passengers only at Madison street during the construction of the permanent bridge.

WHERE AIR SHAFTS ARE NOT REQUIRED.

Chicago, June 5.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I would deem it a great favor if you would kindly enlighten me regarding the law covering airshafts. A two story and basement brick building is being put up at 2841 South Forty-first court; it is to be built six inches from the line on the north side; 42 feet is the length of the house; the width of the lot is 25 feet.

I understand the builder will not have an airshaft, yet will have windows on the side wall. Isn't there a law providing that an airshaft must be built if windows are to be on that side, or otherwise leave three feet clear? W. S.

Section 442 (h) of the revised building code reads as follows: "In case of two or three story tenement buildings on lots twenty-five feet or less in width, where there is only one apartment on each story containing not more than four rooms in such apartment, the light courts hereinbefore specified in paragraph (a) may be omitted, provided there is a continuous passageway open to the sky and not less than three feet wide on one side of said building." The building in question, being built on a twenty-five foot lot, and only one apartment of four rooms in each story, and having a three foot wide passageway on one side, does not require the "airshafts" to which the correspondent refers.

HENRY ERICSSON,
Commissioner of Buildings.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT HELPLESS.

Chicago, June 10.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I have complained to the department of health of the insanitary condition of the toilet in our apartment at 3317 State street, but although inspectors called nothing has been done. A. D.

Suit was filed to have this nuisance corrected some time ago. Pending the hearing the property changed hands and the suit was consequently dismissed. The new owner was located with considerable difficulty and served with notice to abate, which notice not being complied with, he was given a five day limit, at the expiration of which time suit will be entered. This case illustrates the pitiable impotency of the health department under the existing law. G. B. YOUNG,
Commissioner of Health.

POOR CONNECTIONS MADE.

Chicago, June 5.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Why do trains on the Northwestern Elevated railroad pull out of the Central avenue station, Evanston, when a train of the Chicago and Milwaukee Electric line has stopped to discharge dozens of passengers for Chicago, when by waiting two or three minutes they could all board the elevated train for Chicago and be on their way home instead of waiting thirty minutes for the next train, as they are required to do after the hour of 12:30 a. m.? H. M. A.

Officials of the Northwestern Elevated Railroad company promise that better connections will be made in the future.

KLEEMAN DEFENDS HIS MEASURE TO CREATE CALUMET HARBOR.

In response to THE TRIBUNE'S invitation, B. F. Kleeman, representative in the legislature and chief sponsor for the Calumet harbor bill, has prepared an article in defense of that measure, which is now in the hands of the governor for approval or disapproval. Mr. Kleeman will present further points for the bill in two subsequent articles. His first is:—

Besides providing a sheltered connection at deepwater between the heaviest lake vessels and every railroad that enters Chicago, Calumet Lake harbor is a reclamation project. It proposes to take over and utilize a matter of 2,500 acres now idle and belonging to the state.

This body of land, now covered by shallow water, is in the heart of the railroad district of Chicago and is in the center of Chicago's greatest industrial activity. The Kleeman bill proposes to bring this waste into use so that it will bear its proportion of the community burdens and serve as a means of attracting industries to Chicago that are now rapidly locating in other states near by.

The national government is spending millions of dollars to reclaim desert lands far away from population and transportation. It is applauded for so doing. Yet in the busiest part and the most rapidly growing section of the second largest city on this hemisphere, we find objection when we try to restore and make available an immense body of land now unproductive, but having a fixed and real value. I believe when the purposes of Calumet harbor project are thoroughly well digested and understood, the entire city of Chicago will embrace it as a measure calculated to develop and conserve one of the greatest assets the public now possesses.

In the first place it must be understood that the bed of the lake belongs to the people of the state of Illinois. As the lake recedes those who own its shore become possessed of the land uncovered. Lake Calumet is rapidly receding. It will be only a question of a little while before it is entirely owned, as dry land, by its present shore owners, as is now the case with Hyde lake, one mile east. We propose that the state should step in and establish a boundary line and forever after hold to the people this 2,500 acres of land, which is constantly growing in value.

Taking it for granted that, all things being equal, it is a better thing for the people to own this 2,500 acres of land in the center of Chicago's industrial activities than have the property pass eventually into the hands of private owners, the question arises how shall this extremely valuable body of land be saved to public ownership and what will the reclamation thereof cost?

Having established a boundary line, which the Kleeman bill provides shall be done by a review in the courts, all the land inside thereof will belong to the public. This land, now covered by an average of three feet of water, will be made available by digging a 500 acre harbor basin and depositing the spoil therefrom over the remaining 2,000 acres of public property. This harbor basin will be much larger than our lake front harbor off Grant park and will afford ample, safe, and free anchorage for lake and river boats. Its entrance will be located only a hundred feet west of where the government work on Calumet river now ends; thus obviating the necessity for building a channel of more than a hundred feet, and crossing no more bridges than is now required to reach the government 700 foot turning basin.

Thus the people of the state through a municipal agency will own in the heart of the railroad and industrial center 2,000 acres of land, valued at a low estimate at $4,800,000, with a municipally owned harbor basin, available for the largest ships on the great lakes, at a point accessible for the transfer of freight on every railroad in Chicago. The cost of digging this basin, based on the actual figures of work now being done by the Lincoln park commissioners, is $1,000,000.

I am willing to take THE TRIBUNE'S recent editorial estimate of $1,500,000 as conclusive. Thus the project will reclaim land valued at three times the cost of the work required to redeem it. Trustee Sullivan of the drainage board stated before Gov. Dunne he believed the Calumet harbor and reclamation plan would pay for itself within ten years. The figures above quoted would seem to confirm that opinion.

Let us emphasize this point; if there were no other reasons for the Kleeman bill, its reclamation features alone, whereby land that is rapidly being accumulated for private owners is taken over for the public—so that its future accumulations will be a general asset instead of a private gain—this one feature alone should recommend our plan as a wise, far-sighted, reasonable, common sense and public spirited thing to do.

But there are many other reasons for building the harbor in Lake Calumet that are equally compelling. One is that the insanitary condition of this lake must be relieved. It is a menace to the water supply of everybody in Chicago who drinks out of the Hyde Park intake, or, in other words, some 700,000 people who live south of Thirty-ninth street.

The sanitary district is now spending millions of dollars to divert the flow of the Calumet river sewage, in order to furnish pure water for one-third of Chicago's population, who have heretofore received little or no benefit from the $70,000,000 already spent on the drainage enterprise. It would be abortive to treat Calumet river and neglect Calumet lake.

The drainage trustees are on record as to their intentions to include Lake Calumet in their sanitation projects. We wish to kill two birds with one stone while this is being done. The sanitary board must deepen this lake to render it sanitary, and with the spoil from such deepening our plan is to make public land upon which to locate new industries and use the deepened part of their work for Chicago's second or industrial harbor.

THE TRIBUNE has invited me to present the arguments for the Lake Calumet harbor project in three articles of 1,000 words each. I will reserve for the next two articles a discussion of the provisions of the bill and the authorities we have to offer on the questions of riparian ownership and the need of a public harbor at this point to serve heavy lake traffic.

Before going into those questions I want to set it forth explicitly that there is nothing sectional in our endeavors nor have we the least antagonism to the proposed downtown Chicago outer harbor, nor have we at any time sought to obstruct it or to place our plan in rivalry with the acknowledged needs for harbor improvements on the lake front at the mouth of the Chicago river. We believe Chicago lacks harbor facilities and has fallen behind in lake traffic because of that lack. We know that Calumet river now handles the lion's share of Chicago's tonnage. We know that the traffic at Chicago river and at Calumet river is entirely different and that no matter what is done at either of these rivers, neither one will secure the total lake tonnage of the port of Chicago.

Therefore, we believe Chicago's plan for restoring its marine supremacy must be dual. The whole problem demands development. That portion which belongs to Chicago river must be developed and that portion which belongs to the great industrial and railroad center of Calumet must likewise be developed. There is nothing in the Kleeman bill which interferes in the least with this twin development.

We have taken the position that the Chicago bill should pass no matter what happens to the Kleeman bill. The Chicago bill has taken its regular course in the legislature and has been warmly advocated by every friend of Calumet lake harbor. Chicago is growing and cannot develop all in one spot. In order that both ports may grow, we have taken up the Kleeman bill with the same interest that the downtown section has shown toward the O'Connor bill, both of which are necessary to Chicago and should become laws. H. F. KLEEMAN.

POLE SURVIVORS TELL SUFFERING

Members of a German Arctic Expedition Frozen and Starved.

LOSES FOOT BY PIECES.

Doctor's Companion Amputates Part of Limb and Drags Victim to Safety.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

TROMSOE, Norway, June 11.—Stories of terrible sufferings are told by the survivors of the German Arctic expedition. The friction in the ranks of the expedition which existed from the time it set out continues among the survivors.

After the separation and disappearance of Drs. Dettmers, Mossers, and others, who had been held up by the attack of frost bite from which Dr. Ruediger suffered, the latter and Rave stayed in the hut while the others tried to make Advent Bay to get medical help. Ruediger and Rave waited seven weeks for aid. Their rations dwindled until they had only one meal a day of mildewed oats and salt meat. They then determined to try to reach the ship.

Frozen Foot Crumbles Apart.

Ruediger's foot froze and crumbled apart piecemeal. He was just able to totter along. Eating only fragments of decayed food and with a single sleeping bag to protect them from the cold, the two men dragged on through the darkness until they reached Polehjem. There they rested for three days. They ultimately reached the ship, Rave dragging Ruediger in. While on the way to the ship Rave amputated the fore part of his companion's foot, and one of his fingers.

Meanwhile Capt. Ritscher and party, who had left Ruediger and Rave, met furious blizzards and were delayed many weeks until three of them decided to return to the ship.

Capt. Ritscher and a dog struggled on, subsisting for a week on a handful of barley daily. After this they were without food until they reached Thordesen.

Reaches Advent Bay Famished.

Continuing the journey to Advent bay, they fell through the ice and Capt. Ritscher's feet were frozen. Nevertheless he kept on and finally reached Advent bay in a famished condition.

The captain was delirious and crawled on his hands and knees, which were covered with ice and snow. The residents thought he and the dog were polar bears.

Two of the other three men who started for the ship came through awful weather. The third disappeared.

There is nothing in Goodrich Advertising that isn't in Goodrich Goods

The B. F. Goodrich Co. Invented Their Way Into the Leadership of the Tire Field.

Inventive genius, cultivated and developed in our 27 years of rubber manufacturing before the days of automobile tires, evolved the Goodrich principle of unit molding.

Unit molding is no theoretical proposition.

It fixed itself 16 years ago, when we made the original American clincher tire.

It was based upon accurate knowledge of crude rubber, of compounding rubber and of building and vulcanizing rubber products.

The tread of a Goodrich Tire, instead of being what you usually think of as a "tread"—a separate part—is actually the outside of the tire.

It is of it and not merely put on it.

This is one reason why the thick, tough treads of Goodrich Tires do not peel or strip.

The secret of this lies in the Goodrich principle of Unit-Molding.

The whole tire—layers of rubber-impregnated fabric, layers of pure rubber, extra side strips of pure rubber to reinforce the tire where the strain comes and eliminate chances for rim injury, beads, and thick, tough tread—has been converted into a single piece—a unit.

You could not slip the thinnest knife blade between the layers, for there are no layers.

You can now see how and why Goodrich Tires are made and molded to give you long, uniform, comfortable, satisfactory wear.

Your tire dealer will supply you with the Goodrich Tire best suited to your needs. No matter what car you buy or own you can have it equipped with Goodrich Tires if you specify them.

Write us for our free folders telling how to get the best service from your tires and how to avoid the common injuries.

MORE 'RARE' BOOK 'MARKS' REVEALED

Suit Against "De Luxe Trust" Shows Victims Furnished Capital of Combine.

BUY FROM A. C. M'CLURG.

Then Sell $525 Sets for $4,000 and $240 Volumes for $3,000.

More "easy marks" of the "de luxe trust" were disclosed yesterday at a hearing before Master in Chancery James V. O'Donnell in a suit for an accounting filed by Ira T. Eaton of Eaton & Co. and James Plunkett, assignee, against the Tomlinson, Humes, Inc., dealers in "de luxe" books and "rare art" collections.

In nearly every instance the wealthy purchasers, it was shown, not only paid fabulous sums for the books, but also supplied the capital with which the "rare book" agents were enabled to buy the books from A. C. McClurg & Co. and other publishers.

More "Easy Marks."

Here is the new list of "easy marks," the cost of the books, and the price paid:

Dr. Albert E. Sterne, Indianapolis. Paid $2,000 for a set of Poe that cost the "de luxe combination $425. He was told that an autograph letter attached to one of the volumes cost an extra $500.

Appeline D. Davis, Rock Island, Ill. Paid $3,000 for a set of Ruskin that cost $240. Ancient Mariner, $50; Thackeray, $300; and Norroena, $525.

Sue Denkman, Rock Island, Ill. Paid $4,000 for a set of Scott that cost $525. A volume of the Passionate Pilgrims costing $50 was thrown into the bargain. The books were bought from McClurg.

E. P. Clark, Los Angeles, Cal. Paid $10,000 for a set of Dickens that cost $1,750. Among the things thrown into the bargain were a Marcus Aurelius and an Emerson.

On account of the belligerent attitude of William Young Conn Humes, a partner in the "de luxe" corporation, who occupied the stand, and Plunkett, the hearing several times threatened to develop into a riot.

"Liar and "Double Liar."

Plunkett shouted "liar" at Humes, and the latter retaliated with "double liar." Both shook their fists at each other across the lawyers' table, and the attorneys with difficulty restrained the two from engaging in a fist fight. Both issued an invitation to each other to "step outside."

The clash came to an end only after Chancery Master O'Donnell threatened to issue a certificate to Judge Kavanagh citing the belligerents for contempt of court.

Plunkett alleges Humes and the "de luxe" combination defrauded him out of $15,000 by means of "extra prices."

FEDERAL ATTORNEY GENERAL STOPS HERE FOR CONFERENCE.

McReynolds Talks with Wilkerson Before Departing for St. Paul for Union Pacific Merger Argument.

Attorney General McReynolds spent several hours in Chicago yesterday in conference with District Attorney Wilkerson, Assistant Attorney General Edwin P. Grosvenor, and other government officials. He left at 6:30 last night over the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad for St. Paul, where he will attend the hearing today of the plans for the Union Pacific merger before Circuit Judges Sanborn, Hook, and Smith.

Mr. McReynolds will oppose the plans submitted to the court a few days ago by the attorneys for the Union Pacific railroad. He said they are too vague to meet the requirements of the Supreme court's order for the dissolution of the merger. He said he would not insist on a receivership for the merger.

If a plan of dissolution of the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific satisfactory to the court is not submitted by July 1, the Supreme court's decision provides for a receivership to accomplish the dissolution. Before leaving, the cabinet official paid a visit to Attorney S. S. Gregory.

HARDING ACCUSES MRS. ELLA YOUNG

the school board, as well as the members, act in good faith with each other. How are we to judge whether a recommendation coming from the superintendent is made in good faith or not? Must we wait until the superintendent communicates her real sentiments through the public press?

Charges Bad Faith.

"The worst feature of this whole miserable business is the fact that the superintendent by her bad faith with this board and her newspaper interviews created suspicion in the public mind and gave the weight of her name, position, and influence to charges of graft against the members of the board.

"The superintendent's remarks at the last meeting were reported in full. What I said in explanation of my position was not printed. The daily newspapers a few days after the last meeting of the board became suddenly and strangely silent on this matter. All through the city there are thousands of persons, including teachers and even the children in the schools, who have been given the impression by the superintendent of schools that I am a grafter.

"Again I repeat that my good name is as dear to me as Mrs. Young's prerogatives are to her. And I demand of Mrs. Young that she justify her insinuations against me, tell all she knows—if she knows anything against me in connection with this spelling book proposition—or repair, as far as she can, the injury she has done to me and the school board of Chicago."

"I move the communication be laid on the table," said Mr. Urion. "It is couched in such language as to be an open insult to the superintendent and the only dignified thing the board can do is to lay it on the table."

Mrs. Young Makes Reply.

Mrs. Young asserted she preferred to answer the statement.

"I made my recommendation that the board choose a speller in good faith," she said. "I supposed it would be accepted and the matter ended. According to the law, the selection of text books is in the hands of the board. According to the rules, the power is delegated to the superintendent. After I had made my recommendation in all good faith the gentlemen of the press came to me and asked me why I did it. I said that of course there was something behind it but that I couldn't discuss it.

"I think that if the committee had acted on the recommendation when it was first made instead of deferring action there would have been nothing more said. But the committee deferred and finally came in with a severe criticism of the teachers and the superintendent in regard to spelling.

Denies Using Term "Graft."

"The statements I made two weeks ago were made carefully and calmly. In no way, shape, or manner did I accuse Mr. Harding of being influenced by graft. I never use that term. I said that in his devotion to a great cause he spoke in behalf of a book published by a firm representing that cause. I believe my own attitude toward that cause is not misunderstood.

"I see no reflection on the honor or integrity of any one by saying he is devoted to a great cause. I would not have mentioned Mr. Harding if the two had not come together, as I did not think his case [Mrs. Young emphasized "his"] one where advancement of individuals was concerned."

"The position I take," replied Mr. Harding, "is that the members of the board have the right to be treated with absolute frankness. The records show they were not. I know that for this statement I will get nothing but the worst of it in the press and elsewhere. But I stand by my statement. I want to draw the attention of the board to the fact that it is time it woke up and took part in the business of the board. I resent such action as happened in this board in regard to the spelling book affair.

Has "Set-to" with Urion.

"And I should like to ask Mr. Urion if he said things have come to a pretty pass when text books are selected by a labor agitator."

"I said," replied Mr. Urion, "that it will be a sorry day for Chicago when labor agitators select the text books."

"I say that a labor agitator is just as competent to pass on the selection of text books," said Mr. Harding, "as the attorney for Armour & Co."

"I have always said," returned Mr. Urion, "that I did not have the training or the ability to select school text books. I do not believe any member of the board who spends only a few hours a day on school matters has the capability to do it. I can not be accused of recommending that any member of the board select text books."

"Is it not a fact that you had a great deal to do with the selection of a certain grammar?" asked Mr. Harding.

"Absolutely not," said Mr. Urion.

"I have information that it is a fact."

"I now say your information is wrong."

"If it is," said Mr. Harding, "I will withdraw the statement."

Later Mr. Urion said the labor agitator he referred to was not Mr. Harding, but a man "whose influence is far more subtle and far-reaching than that of any member of the board."

"No one has done more for this country than the labor agitators," said Mr. Harding.

Harding Talks of Politics.

Here Mr. Harding read from a school journal which he said was published by George W. Jones of Oak Park. It urged the mayor to ask Mr. Harding and Henry W. Huttmann to resign. References were made to the connection of the school board's action with politics.

"I know Mrs. Young ought not to be held responsible for these remarks, but they wouldn't have been made if the board had been treated in a frank, candid, and honest manner," he said. "I know the newspapers are always looking for a story. They can't injure me. I am sorry Dean Sumner and Judge Vincent aren't here, because there are some things I should like to say to them."

Mr. Reinberg appointed the following on his committee, which will look into the matter of publishing a school board speller: Jacob M. Loeb, Harry A. Lipsky, Charles S. Peterson, Mrs. John MacMahon, and Mrs. Young. Mr. Peterson, who is connected with a printing concern, asked to be taken off the committee, and William Rothmann was appointed in his place.

"AD" MEN MAY ADOPT PLAN TO COMPEL CLEAN PUBLICITY.

Subcommittee Considers Commission for Supervising Methods and Circulation Statements as Dishonesty Barrier.

Baltimore, Md., June 11.—The creation of a commission to work out details of a plan to enforce clean methods in all the ramifications of the advertising business will be recommended to the convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America at its final session Friday.

This determination developed discussions of recommendations from the departmental meetings at a conference of committees from those meetings today, at which William H. Ingersoll of New York presided.

A subcommittee, consisting of Mr. Ingersoll, O. J. Gude of New York, and James Keeley, general manager of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, was appointed to draft a definite plan.

The plan contemplates the supervision by the commission of advertising methods and circulation statements in such a manner that, as suggested at the meeting, a line will be drawn against dishonest methods.

This, it is hoped, would make such a distinction that those left outside would be compelled, for self-protection, to do their best by purging themselves of the stain upon their records, to get inside as soon as possible.

DENTIST CAPTURES A MAN IN MASONIC TEMPLE CHASE.

Young Person Flees Down Eleven Flights of Stairs, Then Through Window, but Is Overtaken.

Persons on the nineteenth floor of the Masonic temple yesterday were startled when they saw a generally mild mannered dentist, Dr. Arthur F. Selleck, burst out of his office, with forceps clutched in one hand. He peered down the corridor and then plunged after a young man standing near the elevator shafts.

The young man caught the glint of steel and abandoned his plan for taking an elevator. The chase continued for eleven flights, and then the fugitive clambered through a window, along the fire escape, and back through another window. Dr. Selleck was waiting for him.

The doctor told the police the prisoner, Ben Andrews, had entered the office, and, after asking for a mythical "Dr. Walsh," had departed. Miss Frances Keller, 1123 Fullerton avnue, a patient, found her purse also had gone.

MALONEY ACCUSED BY CATHERWOOD

Civil Service Member Says County Commissioner Tries to Influence Merit Board.

WANT TEST QUESTIONS?

Will File Charges with Cook County Board Next Week.

W. Francis Corby of the county civil service commission joined yesterday with Robert Catherwood, president of the commission, in charging County Commissioner John E. Maloney with influencing county employés in civil service examinations.

"I was informed early in April," said Mr. Corby, "by Mr. Garland, then chief examiner of the commission, that Commissioner Maloney had asked him the questions to be asked for relief investigator, which examination was to be held April 15, in order that he might supply them to a certain friend or friends of his who were to take the examination.

"Mr. Garland informed me he had refused him the information, but had given him the official bulletin which contains information that applicants and the general public are entitled to receive.

Tries to Stop Examination.

"Also, Mr. Catherwood spoke to me one day in the early part of April, telling me Commissioner Maloney had called on him during the day with reference to an examination which was to be held and which Mr. Maloney understood would cover the position of a friend of his then at work at Oak Forest as a temporary appointee. Mr. Maloney, I was informed by Mr. Catherwood, asked him to call off this examination and upon refusal by Catherwood threatened him and the commission with his opposition."

President Catherwood was angered by the statement of Commissioner Maloney, declaring him to be a "mud slinging assassin and unprincipled liar," and asserted he had "the goods" on Maloney and would expose his "villainous conduct."

To Tell County Board.

Commissioners Catherwood and Corby went to New York last night.

"I will send a complete narrative of his infamous conduct to the board as soon as I get back," he said. "I have in my possession a letter from E. V. Cox, business manager of the tuberculosis hospital at Dunning, in which he complains that a certain commissioner influenced nurses there not to take merit examinations. All of this villainous infamy I am going to report to the county board."

Get Eleven Arson Jurors.

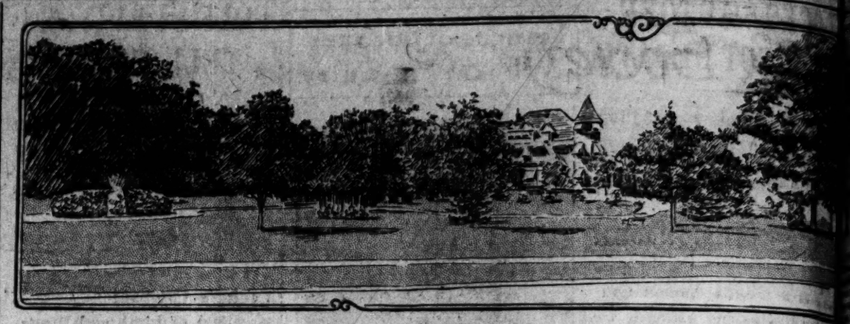

Three additional jurors were selected yesterday for the trial of Edward and Paul Covits and Joseph Clarke, before Judge Burke, on charges of arson, making the total eleven.

RESINOL CURED AWFUL ITCHING IN ONE NIGHT

Had Suffered Six or Seven Months.

New York, April 26, 1913.—"The skin on my hand got red and rough. It itched and I began to scratch it. It itched so that sometimes I could not sleep all night. I was suffering very much. I used —— salve and ——, but they did not seem to help me. This went on for six or seven months. Then I tried Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. I used them one night. In the morning, to my surprise, my hand was all well and the trouble has never returned. This is the absolute truth." — (Signed) Miss Celia Kleinman, 61 Columbia St.

Nothing we can say of Resinol equals what others, such as Miss Kleinman, say of it. It does its work quickly, easily and at little cost. If you are suffering from itching, burning skin troubles, pimples, blackheads, sunburn, insect-bites, dandruff, ulcers, boils, stubborn sores, or piles, it will cost you nothing to try Resinol Ointment and Soap. Just send to Dept. 45-S, Resinol, Baltimore, Md., for a free sample of each. Sold by all druggists.

Several thousand choice blooms from gardens and conservatories in many parts of the United States have been entered in competition at the show and have been put in place throughout the halls of the institute.

According to officers of the horticultural society the display exclusively of peonies will be one of the finest ever held in the United States, because of the number of entries from growers of the blooms who have attained wide reputation and the damp weather favorable to the growth of peonies—which has been general throughout the country.

The exhibition will be given for only two days, closing tomorrow evening.

What a Woman of 70 Years Did.

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

ARE you a middle aged woman without anything else in the world to do than to be middle aged and keep house without any money to call really your own?

Have you come to the point in your life when there seems to be no future and everything that's full of happiness and fun seems to be past?

There aren't many women who can feel that way any more, no matter how old they are and no matter how many holes there are to darn in little stockings, because every one is beginning to find out that age doesn't make any difference in the real things.

Have you looked around at the young married women in your neighborhood and said to yourself, "I wish that I could have pretty pink and white kitchen aprons instead of faded dark ones"?

And "I think that I wouldn't mind having to stay in the house all of the time if I could afford such pretty bedspreads as she has."

Do you know how they can have all of the pretty things? No, their husbands don't make any more money than yours does, perhaps not so much. And it isn't because they haven't any children to buy clothes and things to eat for.

It's because they are making their pastime save them money. They are making things at home and selling them through the Home Workers' Market Place.

Here is a letter from a woman who for seventy years "kept house" and did nothing else. Seventy years, and then there came to her—but won't you read the letter and see what made her happy?

"The morning of my seventieth birthday—wasn't it funny that it happened just that day?—I picked up THE TRIBUNE and saw the column headed 'How to Earn Money at Home'? I was visiting my daughter then in the city and I wanted so much to give her a big downy comforter. I couldn't afford to buy one because I had never had any money of my own in my life, and so I had never had a chance to save any. I didn't think much about seeing anything in the paper that would do me any good, because I thought I was so old that I couldn't do anything that any of these young, stylish women would like. But I kept on reading, and there was a story about a woman who had made an old fashioned log cabin quilt, and about how happy some other woman was who had wanted one for a long time and had never been able to find any one who could make one. Then I said to myself, 'Right here's something I can do. While I'm visiting around with my children I can just as well as not be piecing a quilt.' And so I sent home for my bag of pieces and went right at a quilt. I pretended it was just for fun, when my daughter asked me what I was doing it for. When it was done I sent it down to you by my grandson, and in a week I had an order for another. And I bought my daughter the big comforter. And ever since then I've been making money. You don't know what that means to an old woman who hasn't had any money of her own for years and years. I used to think that I was only a bother and I used to feel in the way when I went to visit my children. Now I'm happier than I ever thought that an old woman could be. And I wish that I could tell every woman of 70 in the world about the Home Workers' Market Place."

If a woman of 70 can be made that happy, just think of the joy that there is in store for you! There's no reason in the world why you can't earn money at home if you wish to do so. If you are wondering how you are going to make your vacation money, or money for any other purpose, won't you write to me and let me help you? If you are discouraged and disheartened, let me send you the booklet, "100 Ways to Earn Money at Home." The stories in the booklet will give you new courage and ambition. Ask me for the booklet when you write to me.

I just know I can help you make money at home if you will work with me. Why not make up your mind to do so?

Relieves Telephone Operators.

"Telephone operating in a large city exchange requires weeks to learn, but one of the little private branch exchanges, used in corporations and institutions ("P. B. Xs," in the telephone vernacular) is mastered in a lesson or two. Most of these P. B. Xs have only one operator, or a day operator and a night operator where the concern runs at night, and this one operator must be relieved for a lunch or supper hour. The operator in the small apartment house where I used to live taught me to operate the P. B. X., and I used to relieve her for an hour every day, charging 25 cents for this hour. Since moving away I relieve the operator at a corporation office from 1 to 2, and the operator in a hospital from 7 to 8, receiving 30 cents an hour from each. It does not interfere with my home duties, it provides me with pin money, and it keeps me in touch with the world beyond my kitchenette, which last to me is the most important feature of all.

Silk and Cretonne Lamp Shades.

I have a friend who has had great success in making silk and cretonne lamp shades. She buys frames of different sizes and shapes, and covers them to order. The ones in cretonne she makes of materials to match the hangings of bedrooms, and when finished with white cotton fringe they are wonderfully attractive. For living rooms, etc., they are made of silk to correspond with the furnishings of the rooms for which they are intended.

Demand for Empty Boxes.

One would be surprised at the call for empty boxes. I know a woman who is doing a splendid business at home. She sends her son with a hand dray to the large business houses to buy up the large boxes their goods come packed in. She pays from 10 to 25 cents each for them, and sells them almost as fast as she can purchase them at from 75 to 85 cents each. They are used for packing when moving, and make lovely shirt waist boxes, either varnished or covered with cretonne to match decorations of bedrooms.

Soft and Porch Pillows.

An easy way to make a little money at home at this time of the year is to buy cretonne by the bolt. Make up a few samples of sofa and porch pillows and take them around to your friends or display them in some shop window. They are so inexpensive, serviceable, pretty, and cool looking for summer you will be surprised at the many orders you will receive. Charge according to size and material used, from 50 cents to $1 apiece.

College Pennants Made of Paper.

One woman made money at home by making paper pennants. She takes tissue or crêpe paper and cuts out the large background piece, and on this pastes the letters of the school, college, or club. These are bought for decoration purposes by different organizations. When these pennants are hung up on the wall they look quite as well as pennants made of felt, which are expensive. The crêpe pennants are not hard to make. For instance, if she were making some for Chicago entertainments she would take a triangular piece of deep red or maroon crêpe paper, and cut the letters C H I C A G O from white crêpe paper, and paste them on the background. It takes only a little while to make these pennants, and they sell for 25 cents apiece for the large size, which in the felt would cost $2 or $3. They cost her about 5 cents to make, and by putting in a small advertisement in the papers one could sell more than she could make.

Day Pillow Cases.

To make money at home one must know the fad of the moment and take advantage of it. One woman makes a nice sum selling day pillow cases. These take the place of shams, and are made to cover the pillows and remove at night. The cases are buttonholed around the edge, and some have a monogram in the center. The charges are according to material and work.

Agent for a Coal Company.

A woman I know earns her livelihood by being an agent for a coal company. She transacts most of her business through the mail and by telephone, thus saving time for her domestic duties. Her acquaintances give her their orders, and in that way her earning capacity is large.

TWELVE CO-EDS DECIDE TO WED AND HOLD TEA TO DISCUSS IT.

University of Chicago Girls Hide Betrothals to Fellow Students Until After Graduation Day.

Twelve University of Chicago co-eds, all members of the senior class which was graduated on Tuesday, yesterday gave a luncheon in Marshall Field's tea room.

The twelve are all engaged to be married, and they had planned to make the announcements at the little party.

They announced it and then sipped tea in honor of the occasion.

When the party was planned the girls thought it great fun to keep their secret until after graduation, and forget the convention of publishing formal notices in the society columns of the newspapers.

Yesterday the girls were called before Miss Marion Talbot, dean of women at the university. Miss Talbot congratulated the girls and told them their contemplated action was "exactly proper," and advised them against it. Lastly she told the girls "not to make a public announcement in the manner they had planned."

Miss Mary Ann Whiteley, who is engaged to Hiram Langdon Kennicott, also a senior, was toastmistress of the occasion. She told the girls "How I Did It."

Others who responded to the toast were Miss Helen Gross, Miss Dorothy Fox, Miss Muriel Bent, and Miss Mona Quayle. The names of the other girls were kept secret.

OPPOSE OLSON BAKERY BILL.

Clubwomen Plan Fight on Measure to Give State Supervision of Industry.

A protest against the Olson bill, which proposes to place the supervision of bakeries under state control, was made at a meeting of the food and market committee of the Woman's City club yesterday. Resolutions were passed commending the present system of the health department. The Olson bill proposes to permit bakeries in basements and takes the supervision from the sanitary bureau. Miss Amelia Sears, civic director of the club, acted as chairman. Addresses were made by Mrs. W. D. Richardson, Miss Sophonisba Breckenridge, and Dr. Marian Talbott.

The Beautiful
OHIO ELECTRIC
The Envied Car in the Electric Field

The woman who drives an Ohio has a pride of possession that no other electric affords.

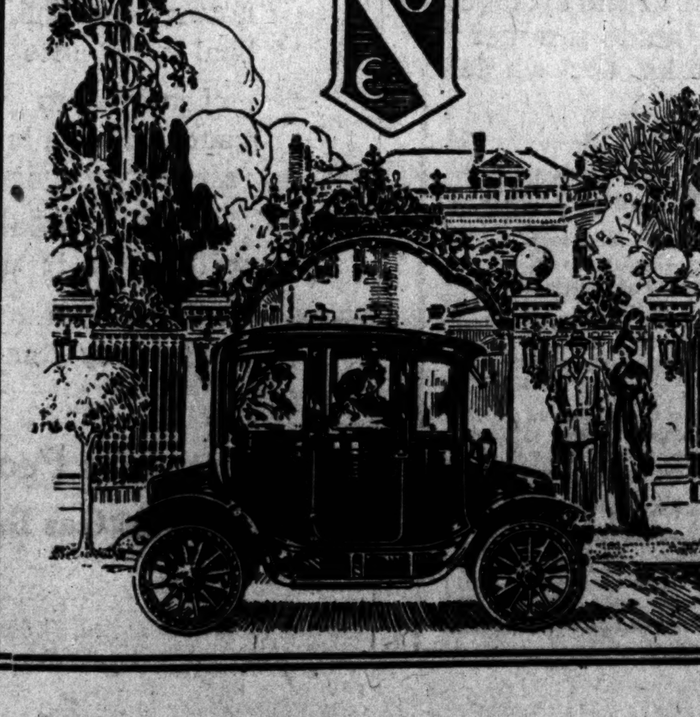

The beautiful Viennese body-design, instinct with dignity and grace, makes the car dominant even in a city where mere luxury in motor cars is commonplace.

And the exclusive mechanical features—front and rear seat drive, magnetic control, magnetic brake—add immeasurably to the pleasure and convenience of driving.

When you drive an Ohio, you know that every other electric suffers by comparison with yours.

Chicago Judge on Delinquency.

Galesburg, Ill., June 11.—[Special.]—In an address here tonight before Knox college alumni, Judge Pinckney of the Juvenile court of Chicago made an appeal for the conservation of the childhood of the country, declaring that attention had been largely diverted to conserving natural resources.

Much of the address was devoted to showing the advance of legislation relating to childhood since Illinois had become a state and especially the advance made over the first law of the state which made the child a criminal after 7 years of age.

Judge Pinckney spoke of the juvenile criminal court as the most efficient agency yet created for treating dependent and delinquent children and mothers' pension law as one of the best yet devised for keeping families together. He said that during the last year 1,500 Chicago children had been kept with their mothers through the operation of this law.

He spoke of wanderlust as a frequent cause of delinquency and mentioned instances that had come under his observation in Chicago. After mentioning the fact that in one block in Chicago there are 1,500 children and that they have no playground but the street, he said it was a wonder that more of the children are not delinquent.

He compared the old methods of dealing with children in the old court with those employed by him in the Juvenile court where there is no formality and no dignity and where a probation officer takes the place of a policeman.

He also pictured as brutal the former treatment of the delinquent girl with often full publicity and pictorial features that drove her to despair and compared this with present considerate treatment without publicity.

He claimed the whole object of the Juvenile court is not to punish children, but to promote their best welfare and so to safeguard them that they might be inclined to better ways.

The judge gave numerous illustrations from his own experience with Chicago children and good results attained.

Tells Women Graduates Marriage Beats Career.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., June 11.—[Special.]—While many women were included in the 681 persons who received degrees at the forty-second annual commencement of the University of Illinois today, they were advised by President James, the orator, to marry instead of pursuing a profession.

"The average man and the average woman, whether graduates of college or not," President James said, "can do their best work for themselves and for society in a partnership which results in a social unit effective for social progress.

"The woman who deliberately chooses this career when the opportunity offers itself, or when she makes it for herself, as every woman can if she will, is choosing a highway to social service which is far ahead of all teaching or library or legal or medical service she can possibly render to society.

"It looks sometimes as if our modern society is giving the honors of social recognition and opportunity to the bachelor maid instead of to the wife and mother.

"Just in proportion as this is done will society surely suffer by recruiting its ranks in the long run from uneducated and more animal elements of our society."

Max A. Montgomery of Urbana, a post-graduate student, was awarded the Plym fellowship in architecture, a year's study in Europe.

Praises Modern Scientific Spirit.

Lafayette, Ind., June 11.—[Special.]—"The Contribution of Modern Science to the Ideal Interests" was the theme of Dr. Henry Churchill King, president of Oberlin college, in his address to Purdue university seniors at the school's thirty-ninth annual commencement today. Three hundred and thirteen degrees were granted.

Dr. King said the moral quality of the modern scientific spirit is valuable, because it demands clearness of vision and honesty in reporting what is observed. This scientific spirit, he said, is the greatest gift of modern science.

Gov. Samuel M. Ralston of Indiana was present to see his son, Emmet G. Ralston, receive his diploma in electrical engineering.

Tells Rich How to Spend Money.

"One of the best things that men and women of great wealth can do for humanity is to endow colleges and universities for general research work. Research work is in its infancy and should be encouraged in all possible ways," said Dr. Norman Bridge of Los Angeles at the annual banquet of the faculty and alumni of Rush Medical college, in affiliation with the University of Chicago, which was held in the Hotel La Salle last night. The banquet was one of the largest the college student body and faculty has held.

News of the Theaters.

At the Varieties; Gossip of the Stage.

A FAMILIAR bill that at the Majestic this week, full of old friends, some of whom are good. Henry E. Dixey is among the latter, occupying the apex of the schedule, and no doubt drawing and earning the largest salary. Mr. Dixey's offering is a distinguished bit of fooling which comprises dancing, magic, satire, singing, and a fragment of careless philosophy done into rhyme. There is a sort of elegance about it from the purple satin which embellishes Mr. Dixey's evening coat to his thankful remarks as he concludes. Applause greets Mr. Dixey at 9:30 and 3:30 p. m. and continues for twenty minutes thereafter.

Elsewhere is Forrest Huff, a tenor of unusual huskiness, who has a tailor with imagination and who sings in a musical voice the soft words with nothing in them which make a love song. Also Joe Whitehead, the dancer. Mr. Whitehead is like the clown dog in the circus, making fun of the other, more dignified entertainers, and does just about as he pleases, assisted by the leader of the band. He wins the most laughter. The "Musikal Girls," who were at the palace not long ago, oblige with one joke and many instrumental tunes, including "The Rosary" on the trombone and national anthems in a blaring and patriotic finale. Funny stories are told in a pleasant manner by Taylor Holmes, who, after he has rendered "Gunga Dhin" excitedly, is also called upon for an address of thanks.

In case you are entertained by songs about Broadway, Mr. Ted Lorraine and Miss Hattie Burke may endear themselves to you, for they sing familiarly of that interesting thoroughfare several times. They dance, too, arrayed in the hectic vestments of vaudeville and are graceful and decorative as well as acrobatic. Near the end of the bill there appear Mr. Halligan and Miss Sykes in conversation of a comical nature. Of Mr. Halligan and the conversation it may be said that they are so-so, but of Miss Sykes a word or two more is in order. A pretty, blonde young woman is Miss Sykes, not very well dressed, but possessing enough charm to outfit the entire program with that rare commodity. Moreover, she has manner, good looks, and an apparently instinctive gift of comedy, brightening the many dull places sheerly by her attractive personality. A regular actress can be made of Miss Sykes, assuming, through an ignorance of her career, that one has not already been made of her. Other promising acts are listed on the Majestic's program, but they occur at points less easily accessible.

New d'Annunzio Play in Paris.

PARIS, June 11.—Gabriele d'Annunzio's "Pisanelle, or Perfumed Death," written for Ida Rubinstein, the Russian dancer, who insists on acting, was produced at the Chatelet theater tonight for ten performances.

It was produced with Miss Rubinstein's customary indifference to expense. The scenery and the dances were arranged by Fokine, the stage manager of the Meyerhold and Imperial theaters at St. Petersburg, who was especially engaged to drill the company of 212, although he does not know a word of French.

The scene is laid in Cyprus, which has been ravaged by numerous disasters and the only hope of preventing these calamities is the intervention of Venus on behalf of her birthplace. A woman of wondrous beauty is brought to the island by pirates and is mistaken by the populace for their hoped for deliverer. She is really a noted courtesan from Pisa and hence comes the name "Pisanelle." The play ends with the death of the woman, she having been suffocated under flowers. It is written in unrhymed verse.

Hardly any of the foreign correspondents were invited to the rehearsal. A correspondent met D'Annunzio and asked him for a ticket. The poet explained that he was trying to buy some himself, as forty of his admirers had arrived from Milan as a surprise and expected to attend the rehearsal. D'Annunzio was hinting for people who had already received tickets and obtained a few by offering 100 francs each plus a ticket for a later performance.

The production was an enormous success from the standpoint of the scenery. The first scene at Port Famagusta had marvelous color effects, but even a picked first night audience failed to grasp the meaning of D'Annunzio's poem. Miss Rubinstein was successful in the prologue, where she indulged in pantomime and did not speak.

The production is said to have cost at least $60,000. The music, which was praised, was written by a young Italian named Ildtbrando Pizzetti, but as the latter is an ultra-plebeian name in Italy, D'Annunzio, with a characteristic touch, rechristened him Ildebrando da Parma.

Americans See Wagner Revivals.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, June 11.—There is no Beyreuth season this year, so American worshipers of Wagner have gathered in Berlin this month.

They are proving the best customers for the "Festspiele," which began at the Royal opera this week, as part of the kaiser's silver jubilee, with "Der Rosen Kavalier." Next week the "Ring" will hold the center of the stage, including brilliantly staged revivals of "Das Rheingold," "Die Walküre," "Siegfried," and "Die Götterdämmerung."

The "Festspiele" program also embraces several performances of Dr. Strauss' "Ariadne auf Naxos" at the Royal theater.

The management of the opera has decided to repeat, as the gala performance on June 16 in honor of the jubilee, the first act of "Lohengrin" with the same cast which sang before the royal wedding guests last month. Among the stars is Putnam Griswold of the Metropolitan Opera company.

Theatrical Notes.

In New York it is announced that Sir Arthur Pinero is writing a play for no less an artiste than Miss Ethel Levey. Miss Levey's impersonation of Mme. Bernhardt given in the revue "Hello, Rag Time," is said to have provided the playwright with the inspiration for the effort.

In the course of his fortnight's sojourn in Chicago Oliver Morosco, producer of "The Tik Tok Man of Oz," has received the manuscripts of thirty-two plays, all from Chicago dramatists. He is reserving them for perusal during his next transcontinental journey, and says that he will read them carefully, every one.

Miss Hazel Purdy in "The Tik Tok Man"

Miss Purdy is one of the native daughters imported from California by Oliver Morosco for musical and pictorial service in "The Tik Tok Man of Oz" at Cohan's Grand Opera house.

Fighting Cost of Living.

Careful Buying Helps.

In my experience I find there are many ways to reduce the high cost of living by careful buying. In selecting anything one should see that the best material possible is obtained for the price paid. In buying linens, bedding, rugs, etc., I get the best I can afford, as they are cheapest in the long run. The best grades may cost twice as much as the cheaper ones, but last about four times as long. Besides, it's a pleasure to have them in use, as they always look well.

In buying material for clothing I keep in mind the amount of wear and work incurred by laundering if it's a washable piece. In choosing fur garments that don't go out of style quickly, I buy the best material for wear, but if for clothes that change in style soon, then I buy of the cheaper material that I may feel it's not extravagance to lay them aside as second best when the styles have changed. This careful buying I don't only apply to clothes. The idea that everything that costs most must necessarily be best is not always true. For instance, most bananas are sold underripe and are indigestible because of the unripe starch they contain, while the overripe ones are sold much cheaper and are much more healthful. Broken rice does not contain the artificial coating that makes the kernels fall apart easily, but all the nutriment is there, nevertheless. I buy fresh vegetables and avoid the expense of canned goods; and a batch of good home made cookies and bread takes the place of those made by the baker and sold at a profit. I have avoided the ice bill so far this spring by buying perishable articles in quantities just sufficient for the day's use. The milk is delivered early and is used fresh for breakfast, then I pasteurize it. I dispensed with the use of the telephone and go for a walk every day and buy the fresh foods needed for the day's use. I think we, as housewives, have splendid opportunities at our disposal to help in reducing the high cost of living, and to one who loves her home it's a pleasure to make use of them.

Household Supplies from Lessons.

The first years of our married life my husband's salary seemed sufficient to supply us with what we needed. Later on, when two children were added to the family, meaning doctor bills and additional expense, strict economy was necessary, so I decided to organize a class in music, which I had taught before my marriage. All the children in the neighborhood seemed to be supplied with a teacher, so I put an advertisement in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE asking to exchange first class music lessons for coal, laundry work, and cleaning. It brought results, and now we are supplied with nearly all the necessaries in exchange for lessons, getting our groceries, coal, sewing, and laundry work done. This means that more than half of our salary goes in the bank each month.

H. K. B.

Careful About Small Things.

I have had occasion to curtail my expenses largely of late, and this is how I do it: I never have a charge account; pay for all as I go along. I watch the papers for sales on groceries and find I save a great deal by doing this. I buy our clothes in the same way. I pay gas bills in time to save discount. I am not strong enough to do all my laundry work, but do the small things and froning, excepting my husband's shirts. We have good, wholesome, plain cooking. I have two sons and I am careful about their clothes in the way of brushing, mending, darning their stockings, etc. I do my utmost to study those little things that add so much to happiness and home comfort; try to reconcile myself to circumstances, and do without things I cannot afford. In this way we live happily in spite of our small income and changed circumstances, without any agents or collectors to trouble us.

The butcher, the baker, and the candlestick-maker have to become expert calculators in order to dispense their goods to the waiting customers in the minimum amount of time and be sure they do not receive the worst of it in multiplying pounds by pennies. Then, too, all sorts of perplexing little problems in weighing and packing have to be disposed of. For example, the case of the grocer who had a ton of sugar containing twenty pounds of granulated sugar which he wished to put up into packages of five pounds each. The perplexing feature of the incident was that he had only two weights, one of five and nine pounds, respectively. There was no way with his twenty pounds of sugar, his scales, his scoop, and those two weights, and without loss of time he had to fill his ten two pound packages. Could you tell him how to accomplish the feat in the fewest possible number of operations?

Answers to Yesterday's Puzzle.

ANSWER TO CLOCK RACE PUZZLE—Grandfather's clock lost two minutes every hour and the alarm clock gained one minute every hour, so it is evident that the alarm clock in every hour's time gained three minutes upon the other.

Therefore, in twenty hours it gained sixty minutes and from the picture we saw that the race must have been on for twenty hours.

During the twenty hours the alarm clock gained twenty minutes upon correct time. Twenty hours previous to twenty minutes of 12 is eleven hours and forty minutes, or twenty minutes of 12 in the morning of the day before—the time when the race started.

Hutspot (Hodge-Podge)—a Dutch Breakfast.

THE HAGUE.

ON the third day of October the patriotic Dutch eat a dish called "hutspot," which "consists of mashed potatoes, carrots and onions, and a certain kind of meat." This dish is eaten in celebration of the memorable day in 1574 when the siege of Leyden by the Spanish was raised, the waters assisting in the routing of the foe. Famine and pestilence had been within the city for weeks. The story about the boy who discovered the Spanish had fled is familiar to children of many nations, and there may be somewhere some details about the origin of this dish, recipes for which are in each of the half dozen Dutch cookery books which I have, even that of the vegetarians.

In two of my books this is given under vegetable dishes, a dish of vegetables with meat, and there seem to be severel reasons for considering it as such, especially as recipes are frequently headed "Hutspot met Klapstuk." This "klapstuk" is rather a perplexing term, concerning which the dictionaries are silent. At any rate it is a part of the meat used in making soups, so is one of the least expensive pieces.

The Dutch seems to have a number of stews, of which this is the chief. These are called both "stampot" and "gestoofde pot," and one definition for them is that they are dishes of potatoes with vegetables mixed thoroughly together and stewed with some sort of fat. The first of the following recipes I take from a book which the bookseller declared emphatically was the one bought by all Dutch housewives.

HUTSPOT WITH KLAPSTUK (Het Nieuwe Kookboek) for four persons.—Two pounds of old carrots, two pounds of potatoes, three-fourths of a pound of fat soup meat without the bone, and one pint of bouillon made of "klapstuk," or soup meat. Wash the klapstuk, put it on to cook with a scant pint and a half of water and three-fourths of a tablespoon of salt. In the meantime peel the carrots, cut them in little pieces, and cook them for about half an hour in the boiling bouillon with the klapstuk. Lay on top of them the potatoes peeled and cut in little pieces, and finally the shredded onions. Let them all cook together until done and dry, or for from three-quarters of an hour to an hour. Take the meat out of the pan and mix together the vegetables and stew them further, if necessary, in some fat. Lay the klapstuk on top of the "stampot."

HUTSPOT WITH KLAPSTUK (Nieuwe Menus en Recepten).—Four pounds of old or winter carrots, four pounds of potatoes, three-fourths of a tablespoon of salt, two pounds of lean klapstuk, two tablespoons of fat or butter, three-fifths of a pound of onions. Wash the meat in lukewarm water, put it to cook in salted boiling water which just covers it and is sufficient to cook it gently in for from one to one and one-half hours. In the meantime wash the carrots, peel and cut them up, and also peel the onions and cut them in fine slices. When the meat has cooked for an hour and a half add to it the well washed carrots and onions, and let all cook together gently until they are soft. Then put the potatoes, peeled and cut in four parts, in the bottom of the pan, with the cooked liquid reaching half way up, and then on top of them put the carrots, the onions, and the meat. Let these all now cook until the potatoes are soft; take out the meat and mix all together with a strong wooden spoon; add the butter or fat and let all heat together. Cut the meat in little slices and serve it separately.

HUTSPOT WITH WHITE BEANS OR GREEN PEAS ("Eenvoudige berekende Recepten," or "Simple Recipes with Cost of Ingredients Tabulated," by M. Witton Köning).—Three pounds or six large carrots, one pint of white beans or green peas, one quart or a pound and a half of potatoes, three-fifths of a pound of onions, three tablespoons of fat, a tablespoon of salt. Wash the white beans, or the green peas, and let them soak over night. Cook them in the same water on the following day. Add to the softly cooked peas the cut up carrots; after fifteen minutes, also the prepared potatoes, the onions, and fat. Let all cook together until done, about half an hour, and mash or stir them all together. Take care not to scorch the peas or beans.

The names for pieces of meat that seem to be purely colloquial—that is, not in dictionaries—but are, nevertheless, put into the cookery books in Holland, seem to be many. For instance, cutlets have at least three good names that seem to be classic; but the people call a veal cutlet, for instance, a veal oyster. This is only one illustration of the fact that Dutch cookery has a great number of names peculiar to itself.

The names of the meats, sausauges, and raw smoked things in the thinnest of slices which one gets at a Dutch breakfast are not to be learned in a minute. In the middle of the table is a great piece of cheese and at various points along a great table are dishes of jam—it has been raspberry jam where I am. The breads are more like ours at home than elsewhere in Europe—that is, soft breads—and the cookery books are almost without recipes for making them.

Request for Organ or Piano.

"I AM writing to ask if there is any one who has an organ or piano which she would like to have used in missionary service. I have spent seven years in China, and am now ready to return to to the work there. About three weeks ago I began to ask in prayers for an instrument for the purpose of the mission work at my station. The Chinese love song and music very much, and if any one can send me any help in this matter it will be greatly valued. I would also like music of any kind. A music dictionary or hymn books would be of special value. A. M."

Peppernuts.

One pound white sugar, five eggs, one pound flour, one teaspoon each cinnamon, cloves, nutmen, and lemon essence, one-quarter teaspoon soda or half teaspoon baking powder sifted in flour. Mix, cut, let stand over night. Bake next day the same as the spreungela.

Mrs. J. E. H.'s Inquiry.

In reply to Mrs. J. E. H.'s inquiry, I have a clipping:

"'Think that day lost whose descending sun
Views from thy hand no noble action done.'
—Robart."

As my two other attempts to be of use to the Corner came to naught I doubly hope this is what Mrs. J. E. H. wants. I must add the Corner was not at fault in my failures. LADY BETSEY.

Origin of a Quotation.

In Bartlett's "Familiar Quotations," page 683, you will find:

"Count that day lost whose low descending sun
Views from thy hand no worthy action done.'

Author unknown. Two footnotes to the above read: (1) "In the preface to Mr. Nichol's work on autographs, among other albums noticed by him as being in the British museum is that of David Krieg, with James Robart's autograph (Dec. 8, 1697) and the verses:

"Count that day lost whose low descending sun
Views from thy hand no worthy action done.

"Robart died about 1726. He was the son of the celebrated botanist of that name. The verses are given as an early instance of their use." (2) "This is found in Staniford's 'Art of Reading,' third edition, page 27. (Boston, 1803)." J. H.

Ammonia Makes Green Stain.

In replying to Mrs. C. E. M. as to how she should remove halibut stains from a blue serge coat, I am sure you overlooked the word "blue." Ammonia will turn all blues with which I have had experience green. Hence, I should think sponging with ammonia would probably be a worse cure than the disease. I hope this may be in time to save her from the experiment. MRS. W. R.

Please Send Address.

"I have a go-cart that just needs a piece of wood put in the seat that the invalid mother may have. Her husband ought to be able to repair it. MRS. W."

It actually hurts me to have to tell you that in spite of your kind desire to help an invalid mother you neglected to give me your own address and that it is therefore impossible for me to communicate with you by mail. Will you not send it to me soon?

Sour Meat Recipes.

I have noticed a request for two recipes from Mrs. C. E. H. for sour meat and sour rabbit. Both of these are German dishes:

SOUR RABBIT, called hasenpfeller—Clean the rabbit and cut in small pieces, wash thoroughly, so that all the hair will come off. Now place in a jar a layer of rabbit, strew salt over Mrs. C. E. H., for sour meat and sour rabbit. also a few bay leaves, and so on, until all the rabbit is in the jar; then pour vinegar over this and set it in a cool place until the next day. Care must be taken when buying the rabbit to select a fresh one, as otherwise the meat will be of no use. Now prepare thus: Place a large piece of butter in a pan with several cut up onions until browned; also a tablespoonful of flour. When this is brown add hot water enough to make a sauce, then put in the rabbit, etc. Boil it until tender. During the boiling add salt, a few cloves, a little pepper, a few bay leaves, a large piece of butter, and as much as is necessary of the vinegar in which the rabbit was laid; also put in a slice or two of lemon and a few ginger snaps. Be careful not to boil it until too tender. If you wish you may add a small glass of port wine to the sauce, but it is good without.

SOUR MEAT, call sauer fleisch—Cut two pounds of round steak or beef into small pieces and place in a jar with salt, onions, and a few slices of lemon, bay leaves, and pour vinegar over it. Let it stand in a cool place. If you wish to have it very sour allow it to remain two days. When preparing cook a large piece of butter, also a little lard, in the pan with several cut up onions until browned; also add a tablespoonful or more of flour. When this is browned, put in the meat. Now leave the meat in a short time, then add a little water and enough of the vinegar in which the meat was laid to cover all; boil, add more vinegar or water as it boils out, according to taste. ANNA F.

Longs for Talking Machine.

"I am working very hard to keep our dear daughter in school, and next June she will graduate from the high school here. Now, we cannot afford any recreation, such as most people have, and we all dearly love music. Do you suppose any one would have a good talking machine with a few records which he or she would be willing to spare? We will pay freight on it.

"I do fine laundry work for teachers and get paid for it by the piece, and my husband gets odd jobs around. I used to have an organ and can play fairly well. If you wish, I can give you references from good folks that I know. "MRS. C. A. H."

Another phonograph or graphophone wanted! I cannot promise you that your desire will be gratified, but I can assure you that it will be if one of our readers having a talking machine lives near enough to you to send it to you. This correspondent lives in Michigan.

Recipe for Soft Icing.

This is in answer to "Mrs. L. T. S."—SOFT ICING: To one cup of powdered sugar add two teaspoons of cornstarch, together with sufficient milk to make a little thicker than cream. Stir until smooth. You may add a tablespoon of ground chocolate to the sugar for chocolate icing. A speck of butter added will make it glossy. MRS. S. L. M.

Lillian Russell's Beauty Secrets.

By Lillian Russell

Use Your Neighbor as Your Mirror.

[Copyright: 1913: By Lillian Russell.]

IT is a curious suggestion to use your neighbor or your friend as a mirror, and one which seems to imply unkindness. But there is no compromise in being truly critical with a view to self-betterment.

All of us have friends who, no matter how much affection we may feel for them, have certain little habits and manners which are an unpleasant touch to the picture.

These little imperfections require no criticism, but, if viewed properly, they will serve as little sermons which, if heeded, will be of great benefit.

It may be an indifferent manner in walking, a careless and slouching habit of sitting, an unrestrained or discordant note in the voice, or one of a thousands things inharmonious with charm and polish.

The observance of such imperfections will amount to idle criticism if they are noted and nothing more.

The necessary thing to do is to apply those imperfections to yourself—if they are obvious enough to attract your attention. Have you some of the same which attract the attention of your friends and neighbors?

Thus you make a mirror of people—a speaking and acting mirror—by which you see acted before you the things you would avoid in following your own ideas of developing charm.

One may have a bad habit of laughing harshly and loudly; so keep watch upon yourself and see if the fault you note in others is sometimes committed by yourself.

Note in your neighbor the expression of the face and see how easy it is to read in that expression the character of thoughts that shape it. And if you read there anything of malice, or hatred, or envy, or jealousy, be sure that others will read the same on your face if you entertain any of these destructful emotions.

How often do we hear assertions like this: "She is a pretty girl and would be altogether lovely were it not for a certain expression of irony constantly in evidence upon her face!"

There is the visualization of one false emotion actually destroying the beauty of a face—actually discounting the girl being discussed—and she probably never has heard an honest criticism, for her friends would hesitate to offend or hurt her.

Yet people may be saying the same thing of you. So study these defects in others, not with a view of criticism of others but of yourself. And if it is a close and dear friend who is thus handicapped, find some tactful way to advise and help her.

Remember: If you readily recognize defects in others, you are doubly to blame if the same defects are to be recognized in yourself.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

MISS M. R. T.: Dark and sallow necks are not the result of age, but the result of unconscious neglect. When bathing, the neck usually does not come in for its share of the water, for one stretches the neck out of the water so as to keep the hair dry. Consequently the neck is defrauded of its share in the bath. The outer layers of skin are not shed, but remain to become darker and rougher. If you would whiten your neck wrap around it, while in the tub, a towel wrung out of very hot water, and keep it wet all the time you are in the tub. Rub the neck with your fingers after you have soaked it thus for twenty minutes or a half an hour, and you will find the dead and dark skin will rub up in little rolls. Use a flesh brush after that with plenty of soap to make a good lather. If you do this three times a week you will find the skin of the neck will whiten, unless it is tanned by exposure to the sun.

A READER: The article you speak of is proprietary and I cannot give you any information about it. Almond meal is excellent for cleansing the face and hands. It leaves the skin soft and clear. You can get it at any drug store. In buying a cold cream be sure to get a good one. I cannot give you the name of a cream, but you can tell whether it agrees with your skin or not. If it burns your skin or makes little red spots come on the surface you may know that you should not use it. I wouldn't advise you to use ammonia on your face to bleach it. Ammonia is good for bleaching hair on the arms or face when used with peroxide, but it is not advisable to use it alone. If you care for them, send me a stamped, addressed envelope and I shall gladly send you a formula for cold cream, also a bleach for the skin.

CECILE: No, indeed, I would not advise a girl of 10 years to take anything to reduce flesh. You are still young and have plenty of time to lose flesh.

Laura Jean Libbey's Advice

By Laura Jean Libbey

Starting Housekeeping.

[Copyright: 1913: By Laura Jean Libbey.]

IF there was ever a time when a new-made husband believes that he should assert his rights in a slight degree it is when he and his bride start housekeeping. He has made up his mind that a married man should have a certain right and that is, to at least one closet and chiffonier, that he may look upon as his own for his belongings, just as he had in his mother's home when he left there.

What married man, though he may have the patience of Job, can down his annoyance upon opening his collar box, to find neck ruches of his wife's thrust into it, or to lift out half a dozen lace waists to get down to his white vests; to thrust aside innumerable dresses and petticoats to find his house coat; to forage among kimonos, hats, and aprons to discover, if possible his missing slippers. If he could cry out, trumpet tongued, to other married men, he would advise: From the start the married man wants his own peg to hang his clothes on. By rights he should have a key to the locker.

Even the most methodical man in the world feels that there are times when he would like to toss in his hat, gloves, and cane and to let the regulating take care of itself. No matter if a little space on a top shelf is allotted him, he soon finds that he is crowded out of that. Her bandbox thrusts out of sight his shoebox. Even his handkerchief box is not sacred unto his own use, a fact recently brought home to him in a most embarrassing way. He is used to picking up the top one and thrusting it into his pocket. On the car, on his way to business, while conversing with a group of friends—upon pulling out that handkerchief he finds, much to his embarrassment, that he has in his hand a filmy lace affair, pungent with the odor of violet perfume. It has been so scorched by the laundress that his nose goes clean through it, much to his mortification and the amusement of the passengers. He tells his wife if that is not enough to make a man insist upon having his own box for his handkerchiefs, nothing is. That's his right.

It's just as a newly wedded husband starts in, he concludes. If he makes a stand for his rights at the outset they will be accorded him. If he fails to do this, slowly, yet by degrees, everything belonging to him will be crowded out of, first one place and then another, until at last the only place where he could feel sure of having his boxes unmolested is upon the roof.

Even the most loving of brides fail to realize that they are not doing full justice to the husband in depriving him of the space which should be allotted for his own personal belongings. It is right, too, to have one good solid chair that he is not afraid of smashing if he throws himself down in it.

It has been said that a man wants a helpmeet not too good for earthly food. He also needs a rug under his feet that will stand the dust off his boots if he fails to remember that there is a doormat in the hall. No matter how much of a fad a man may have for cut glass and decorated, fragile china, he wants, as his right, a good, substantial plate, cup, and saucer that will withstand all jolts and jars. The best natured man on earth may be excusable for feeling irritated if a cracked coffee cup is set apart for him, even though it may represent the height of art decoration in its roses and gilding.

Every man likes the way mother used to keep house, because everything around and about, from the closet in his room to his lounging chair and dishes in the cupboard he ate from, were substantial.

"He's Five Feet Seven."

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 23, have dark brown hair and brown eyes. I am five feet seven inches tall. Now, can you tell me whereabouts I can get a wife? She must be not over 22. And also please tell me how to write the first letter to a girl. Would it be right for me if I never saw the girl to say 'Dear Friend'? Please tell me. R."

That is the wrong way entirely to go about getting a life partner. Wives or husbands secured through matrimonial agencies or newspapers rarely ever turn out to be the right sort. Surely in your own community, if you are desirable in every way, you will have no difficulty in getting some good girl interested in you if you go about it in the right way. But whatever you do, do not resort to any advertising medium to secure a life partner.

Does He Like Her?

"Dear Miss Libbey: Do you think a young man would go with a girl for over a year, taking her places and giving her a present, if he did not like her? Because he has never said or showed that he cares for me I am beginning to fear that perhaps he is just going with me for the sake of going with some one and occupying his time. Do you think this is so? A girl doesn't like to go with a fellow for a length of time if she thinks he doesn't mean anything, for she loses other chances. Even if a man isn't in a position to marry right away don't you think he ought to let the girl know that he wants to marry her some day, so that she won't be thinking all the time that she is wasting her time on him? A."

He must be interested or he would not go about with a girl for a year. I think you are impatient, however, about becoming engaged. It stands to reason that a fellow must keep company with a girl for some time in order to find out what kind of girl she is and whether or not she is the one for him. It is not well for a girl to give all her time and attention to one man unless she is engaged to him.

JUDGE DEMANDS HELP OF POLICE

Mahoney Says Criminals Have Returned to the Desplaines Street District.

CITES SPECIFIC CASES.

Meanwhile Capt. Meagher Tries to Explain Away Death of Hogan.

Municipal Judge John A. Mahoney yesterday again asked the Desplaines street police to help rid the district of vagrants and "jackrollers." The judge made his request of Lieut. George Hutchinson, whom he informed of cases of flagrant drunkenness in Madison street near the Northwestern station in the afternoon.

"When I came to my courtroom today," Judge Mahoney said, "I saw three or four men so drunk they could hardly walk. They spoke to women in Madison street in the middle of the day when the police should have been able to see them. One of the men was partly undressed, and his actions were so objectionable that women pedestrians crossed to the other side of the street to avoid the man. And all that was happening within two blocks of the Desplaines street station.

"I told Lieut. Hutchinson about the cases when I reached the station, but I don't know what action was taken.

Sees Return of Crime.

"In the last week crime has returned to the Desplaines street district. For seven weeks the district was clean; no assaults, no 'jackrollers,' and no vice to speak of. In the last week, however, men have been brought into court every morning with closed and discolored eyes. It's strange the district wasn't kept clean when the 'jackrollers' were driven out."

Judge Mahoney started a crusade two months ago to clean up the district along West Madison street. After considerable urging the police cleaned the district and for seven weeks not a robbery case was reported in Judge Mahoney's district.

Two weeks ago, however, the bars were let down and the "jackrollers" and vagrants stampeded into the district again. The first open case of "jackrolling" to attract attention then was the robbing of a Michigan miner of $1,100 in front of the Northwestern passenger station. Since then robberies have occurred every day.

Meagher Pleads "Accident."

Capt. Meagher and his police tried to establish that John Hogan, Judge Mahoney's friend, who died in the County hospital of a fracture of the skull on Tuesday, incurred his injury by a fall to the sidewalk. Capt. Meagher said five persons saw Hogan fall. They were not on the accident book in the blank space for names of witnesses on Tuesday night.

The coroner's inquest into the cause of Hogan's death will be held on Saturday.

Australian Police Expert Here.

Sir Thomas O'Callaghan, former chief police commissioner of Melbourne, Au[stralia], arrived in Chicago during the day to p[ick] up a few ideas for the betterment of the Melbourne department. His stories of police efficiency in his city made the local heads gasp. The visitor resigned his position on March 31, after forty-five years of continuous service in the police department.

"A murderer in Australia has a reasonable chance of being hanged," he said. "You have seven a week here, I understand."

SHOP AFIRE! FIREMEN ASLEEP?

Cries of Excited Women and Men; Snore, Snore Next Door?

HELP FROM A MILE AWAY.

Distant Company and Hand Pump Owner Put Out Blaze—What?

This is a narrative of the burning of a blacksmith shop at 5715 Halsted street. The shop is separated from fire engine house No. 84 by a vacant lot. But members of engine company No. 51, at Wentworth avenue and Sixty-fourth street, extinguished the blaze. At least that's the story.

The shop, a two story frame structure, is owned by William Thorne. The second floor is occupied by Mrs. Mary Dever and her four children. Mrs. Dever and the family were at home when the first shouts of alarm reached her from the alley, where flames were threatening the Englewood fireproof warehouse, next door north. Mrs. Dever thinks the firemen next door must have been asleep, for she is sure none offered her any assistance. She sought safety in the street.

Hand Pump on Job.

Neighbors say a pedestrian, carrying a hand pump, mounted the stairs leading to the Dever home and extinguish the blaze threatening the kitchen.

The fire started shortly before 3 p. m. M. B. Cassiere, a contractor at 5715 Emerald avenue, was the first to see the blaze. Cassierre was at work in his basement, but he dashed across the alley at the rear of his place and shouted a warning in the engine house.

"There's a fire in the blacksmith shop," he shouted. "It's going like old harry. Get busy."

In a flash Cassiere was back home and had run his garden hose out into the alley. The water sputtered and splashed over fences and garbage boxes, but the pressure was too weak and he turned the stream on a burning outhouse of Mrs. P. Connelly at 5714 Emerald avenue. Mrs. Connelly, screaming at the top of her voice, attracted the attention of Mrs. Cassiere and she hailed a dozen residents along Emerald avenue, but the firemen next door slept on, it is said.

At Last the Heroes Wake!

A still alarm to the Englewood telephone exchange soon started the telegraph instrument in engine house No. 84. Then the members sprang to their posts, and with Lieut. McGallagher at their head a long lead of hose was run out and attached to a hydrant. Then the hose became entangled in a fence.

While the firemen of No. 84 were vainly trying to disentangle the hose members of engine No. 51 arrived and the fire soon was extinguished.

Now, that's the story as the neighbors tell it, but the firemen of No. 84 enter a general denial. They say they put out the fire.

SCRATCHES REDUCE LIST

Contestants in Annual Event Expected to Return to Chicago Tomorrow Evening.

TEAMS TO COVER 136 MILES TODAY

BY REED L. PARKER.

Eleventh hour scratching of entries before the sixth annual interclub run between contestants of the Chicago Automobile club and the Chicago Athletic association left twenty-two cars to make the tour starting to Waukesha, Wis., this morning and finishing at the South Shore Country club tomorrow evening. There are eleven cars on each team.

The run will start this morning from Grant park at 8:01. The cars will be dispatched at minute intervals by starter John G. De Long. The first day's jaunt will be 136 miles, to be broken at the seventy-eighth mile for the noon control at Lake Geneva, where a rest of an hour and a half will be allowed. The run from Lake Geneva to Waukesha is 58 miles. The first car is expected to check in at 4:30. The party will spend the night at Resthaven inn, which will be the tour headquarters.

Faster Time on Return.

The return tomorrow will demand harder driving, as the distance is 142 miles. The return trip will start at 8:30. The noon control is at Harvard, Ill. The van is expected to check in at the Country club at 5:15 tomorrow night. An average of twenty miles an hour will be demanded of all contestants.

Today the motorcade will go through the towns of Oak Park, Maywood, Franklin Park, Algonquin, Crystal Lake, Lake Geneva, Elkhorn, Lauderdale Lake, Eagle, and Delafield. Tomorrow the tour will touch the towns of Mukwanogo, East Troy, Elkhorn, Delavan, Fontana, Walworth, Harvard, Woodstock, Algonquin, Elgin, Roselle, Itasca, Maywood, and Oak Park.

Bad roads may be expected near Dousman, Fontana, and Walworth. Here the highway is narrow, according to J. P. Dods, pathfinder, and all motorists were requested to exert caution on both days. A meeting of the contestants was held last night. David Beecroft interpreted the rules and gave final instructions.

BIG FIELD FOR CYCLE RACE CARDED AT ELGIN ON JULY 4.

Motorcycle Manufacturers Name 48 Machines for Contest—Best Riders in Country Will Compete.

Forty-eight entries have been received for the first annual motorcycle road race at Elgin on July 4. Seven factories have entered teams of three or four machines. Chairman Robert Hill of the Chicago Motorcycle club's contest committee expects 100 starters. The entries for factories close on Sunday. Individual entries are expected to fill the list, as they will be received until the day of the race.

The big entry list is a surprise to the promoters, as the proposed race is the first pretentious contest of its kind ever held in the United States. In the factory lists are included some of the greatest professional riders of the country. No amateurs have entered and the race for that class probably will be eliminated, and the prizes offered will be added to those guaranteed in the professional class.

Among the professionals already entered are Balke, Seymour, Gustaffson, and Baker, the Indian quartet. Seymour is the champion of America. Baker is the present road champion. The Merkle team, composed of Taylor, Bowser, Snyder, and Ray, also has been entered. Bomark, Blankenheim, and Mitchell will ride for the Dayton factory and "Shorty" Matthews will lead the Pope team. Other factories which have listed machines but which have withheld the names of their drivers are the Jefferson, Pope, and Excelsior. Paul Warner of the Kansas Short Grass club, ... Constant, amateur champion of the United States; Frank Hart, former amateur champion, and F. J. Cole of Canada are individuals of note who have entered. Cole will drive the English Sudbury machine, a single, which has attracted much attention on foreign tracks.

PUT BAN ON AUTO AND GOLF.

Philadelphia Commissioners Vote Against Motor Race and Links at Fairmount Park.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 11.—[Special.]—Auto races and golf were shut out of Fairmount park today by the almost unanimous vote of the Fairmount park commissioners. Refusal to lay out a golf course in the park was unanimous, while the proposed auto race had only two supporters, James ... and President George McCurdy of the ... council. The commission, however, went on record as favoring an eighteen hole public golf course in Cobb's Creek park upon the appropriation by the council of $30,000 necessary to establish it and to erect a locker house.

BALL GAME LASTS FIVE HOURS.

Indiana, Pa., June 11.—A ball game between teams representing the upper and lower sections of Rossiter, near here, yesterday was a record breaker as an endurance contest. The game lasted from ... in the morning until 3:30 in the afternoon without a luncheon intermission. The score was 112 to 98 in favor of the lower section of the town.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS.

BY R. W. LARDNER.

O, Paddy, dear, and did you hear
The news from Springfield, Ill.?
They took an awful wallop at
The Hilton boxing bill.
It's not for us to view the pugs
And shout our loud hurrahs,
When they each other's noses bust,
Or smash each other's jaws.

But, Paddy dear, seek comfort here:
There's still the wrestling game.
The Turks and Poles will flock to town,
When wintertime has came,
And lots of times we'll have the chance
To see two healthy guys
Twist tenderly each other's toes,
Or gouge each other's eyes.

Our St. Louis correspondent tells us that the Cards and Braves used thirty-two ball players in one game. We never thought there were more than ten on the two teams combined.

The law of compensation isn't obsolete. A few days ago Fred Falkenberg lost a ball game and gained a son, and on Tuesday Larry Waterbury won a polo match and lost a wife.

It's now up to Prep to inform us what a provocational high jump is.

Fred Clarke has batted three times in three years and his average is .333. Ted Easterly's mark would have been 1,000 for this season if he had quit after the first time up.

Here's Tuesday's ninth inning at Cincy, with Kling behind the bat: "Doolan singled after one was out. Dolan ran for Doolan and stole second. Killifer flied to Devore. Miller, batting for Seaton, singled, scoring Dolan. Howley was put in to run for Miller and stole second. Becker singled, scoring Howley, and stole second, but was left on base." And, that evening, Mr. Herrmann met behind closed doors and congratulated himself on the fact that the Phillies hadn't stolen all the bottled beer from the service bar.

We slip it to Jack O'Brien or to any one else who can run up liabilities of $101,984 on assets of $10,027.

It's just as well that they don't have box scores in aeronautics. What would a compositor do with a name like Marcel G. Brindejonc des Moulinais?

THE PENNANT PURSUIT.

(Synopsis—Verne Dalton strode past the college gymnasium and saw the baseball squad. Now go on with the story.)

Chapter 2—A year past. Verne Dalton was now a fullfleged student at the college. He had done well in his studys and was a great favorit with the best pepul in college and also the co-eds. One night in Aprul the coche of the ball nine called a mass meating. His speech was as follows boys our ball nine needs a pitcher unless one of you boys come out and try to pitch we are domed to many defeats and the college will be disgraced. After the meating Verne Dalton sent the following night letter to his papa Dear Papa can I try for the college ball nine. The next morning he recieved the following anser dear son You may if you are well up in your studys. Very happy Verne Dalton saught the coche of the ball nine for he had pitched lots of times against the boy teams at home.

Yale men are under the impression that Harvard established a course in football last year.

It is said that there are fewer Philadelphia Athletics in the ball players' fraternity than members of any other club. Probably because it costs something to join.

Said Toney (Fred) to Koney (Ed):
"How often do you pitch, old head?"
"About as oft as you, old head,"
Said Koney (Ed) to Toney (Fred).

Appleton lost a game to Madison because the Appleton batsmen couldn't hit the Madison pitcher. Appleton made thirteen hits. How many hits does a team have to get in that league before it is credited with being able to hit a pitcher? Mss., of New York, wants to know.

The great trouble with Chance's pitchers is their tendency to blow up and their inability to get down again to terra cotta, as Ald. Walkowiak says.

There will be a $5,000 display of fireworks at Comiskey park the night of July 4 and, perhaps, a $10,000 display of bone before that date.

Charley Carr, Kansas City manager, has released Pitcher Zabel. Charley evidently didn't think he was Zabel.

One expert opines that Connie Mack did the American league a big favor by allowing Joe Jackson to go to Cleveland, saying that, with the great slugger on the Athletic team, the race would be onesided. What is it now?

Ty Cobb's closing article might be called a confession. "I am not a baseball scribe," Ty (maybe) wrote.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS.

Charles F. Dooin, manager and catcher of the Philadelphia Nationals, is 33 years old today, having been born in Cincinnati, O., June 12, 1880. He broke into baseball as a professional in 1900 with the St. Joseph team of the Western league. At the close of the season he was drafted by the Chicago White Sox, but sent back to the St. Joseph team for the season of 1901. The following season Charley obtained his second trial in fast company, this time with the Philadelphia Nationals. He made good and has been a member of the Phillies ever since. In 1911 he was made manager of the team, and at the present time he is leading his men in a grand fight for the National league pennant. Besides his ability as a pilot "Red," as he is familiarly known, is one of the best backstops in the game. He is a strong pegger to the bases, and although not a heavy hitter, he managed to break into the .300 class in 1911. When the baseball season is over Charley takes to the stage, his singing sketch being considered one of the headliners on the vaudeville circuit.

HOME RUN CHECKS ATHLETICS; ST. LOUIS WINS IN NINTH, 5-2.

Circuit Smash with Two On in Final Round Stops Mackmen After Winning Fifteen Straight.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 11.—A home run drive by Catcher Sam Agnew scoring two runners ahead of him in the ninth inning checked Philadelphia's winning streak of fifteen consecutive victories and gave St. Louis the final game of the series, 5 to 2. Up to the seventh inning St. Louis had not scored and had made only two hits off Houck. Houck was relieved by Bender in the eighth after the visitors had made two runs.

Austin was ordered out of the game by Umpire Ferguson for protesting a decision at third base in the third inning. Score:

RUSSELL BLANKS CHANCE'S YANKEES IN SLAB DUEL, 1-0

Southpaw Holds New York to Five Hits, While Sox Find Fisher for Ten.

BODIE SCORES ONLY TALLY

Ping Triples in Fourth and Counts on Single by Mattick; Queer Play Cuts Off Runs.

P. L.'S MEN THREATEN ONLY TWICE

BY I. E. SANBORN.

New York, June 11.—[Special.]—In a brilliantly pitched and fought battle the White Sox evened up the current series with the New York Yankees by winning the final game today, 1 to 0. Russell and Fisher were entangled in the slab combat for eight of the nine periods, and the Texan had it all over the Yankees except in the matter of support.

The locals could rap out only five safe hits, but came close to scoring twice during the nine rounds. The White Sox compiled ten swats, three of them for extra bases, yet had difficulty in registering one run. Each team made one inexpensive boot, and Russell gave the only base on balls of the game in the eighth inning.

The White Sox were the victims of tough luck in spots and of poor sticking in others, or they would have raised their count to a cinch before the end of two innings. In the second session three clean hits were wasted because George Weaver could not dump a bunt along the grass when needed, and also because a fleet pale hosed runner was nailed at the plate by Cree. Near the end of the scrap the White Sox had a man on third base with nobody out, and could not score him.

Near Miracle Stops Sox.

But the miracle arrived in the eighth. Two White Sox were out, one of them on a sensational jumping catch by McKechnie which robbed Lord of a single. Chase grounded through Midkiff, and Collins pulled a double into left, driving Chase to third. Bodie, in the pinch, popped a tall infield fly. Midkiff misjudged it slightly, and the ball hopped out of his hands over his head. Peck was standing behind the third sacker, and, with a quick sweep of his arm, snatched the muffed pill a foot from the ground, completing the out. Two runs surely would have scored on the muff but for the accident by which Peck was able to quash it.

Russell, because of his stinglier nature, had few bad spots in his road to victory. Only twice did the Yankees seriously threaten the last gate to the run column. Once there were men on third and second with one out, and again a runner lambasted a three bagger with only one out. Russell merely smiled a smile that lightened like the sands of the Texas deserts and retired the opposing batsmen with soft chances which gave the runners no chance to count.

Collins and Mattick Hit.

Collins and Mattick did the heavy cannonading, but only one of their six composite hits cut any figure in the result. One of Mattick's swats came behind a three bagger by Bodie and brought home the bacon winning tally. Peck was the only man not afraid of Rebel, and he made two of the Yankees' five hits.

The Callahans came near grabbing a counter at the start. Rath and Lord were easy, but Midkiff gave Chase a life by fumbling his bounder. Collins delivered a single to right, on which Chase moved around to third by great sneaking. Bodie rolled a slow one to Midkiff, who made a great play and had time to spare to get Ping and the side out.

In the second inning the White Sox ought to have counted freely. Mattick led with a single. Weaver popped a foul to Borton in trying to bunt, but Schalk was there with a single, on which Mattick reached second. Russell struck out and Rath whaled a hard drive into left. Cree came up with it on the first bound and threw out Mattick at the plate by a stride.

Thus discouraged, the White Sox rested in their third, but in the fourth they won the game. Bodie, having no base runners to bother him, opened with a healthy smash to the left center fence and managed to reach third base by a lusty slide. Mattick promptly pounded out his second single, giving Bodie a walk home with the only run of the day. Weaver skied, Mattick was caught stealing, and Schalk whiffed.

Wolter Stranded at Third.

The Yanks threatened a bit in their fifth. Midkiff singled and stole second with one out, but Peck went out on a foul fly to Chase and Fisher bounded to Russell for the third demise. The next rough spot for "Tex" was in the sixth. Daniels was out when Wolter peeled off a ringing smash to left center. Before Collins and Bodie could get it back from the suburbs Wolter was roosting on third, and a long fly would knot the count. Borton hoisted a foul fly which Chase nabbed, and Cree popped out to the same individual, closing that gap.

From the fourth to the seventh the White Sox did not have a chance. Mattick gave them every promise of a tally by leading off in the seventh with a clean triple to left. It was ammunition wasted, for Weaver popped to McKechnie, Schalk rolled a soft one to Fisher, and Russell hit to Midkiff.

Yankees Threaten at Finish.

After Keating had blanked the Sox in the ninth Russell started the last half by striking out Cree. Sterrett batted for Gossett and was safe on Weaver's wild heave to first. Derrick batted for McKechnie, but before he could hit Chance called for a steal of second, and only a swell shot by Schalk nailed the runner there for the second out. Derrick then hit to Weaver, and this one George did not miss. Score:

NAPS LAND CLASH IN FIFTEENTH, 9-5

Olson Steals Home with Tally Which Would Have Been Enough to Win.

THEN THREE MORE SCORE.

Boston, Mass., June 11.—A fifteen inning battle between Boston and Cleveland ended at sunset tonight with a 9 to 5 victory for the visitors. With the bases full in the final inning Olson stole home with what would have proved the winning run had the visitors been content with a one run lead.

After Ryan had popped to Leonard in an effort to work the squeeze play, Graney drew a pass, filling the bases again. Land drove a single to left, sending Jackson and Lajoie over the plate. Graney took third and the batter second on the throw-in. Graney then stole home while the Boston pitcher held the ball and Land went to third during the vain effort to get Graney. Land also tried to steal, but Gregg swung at the ball for the third strike, ending the inning at that point.

The game was replete with brilliant playing, Cleveland getting an early lead, which promised victory. Boston went after Gregg in the sixth inning and by good hitting and wildness by the pitcher scored five runs. Two tallies were forced in by bases on balls, another resulted from a sacrifice fly, and the final pair was due to Carrigan's double.

With the bases full in the thirteenth inning Olson probably saved the game for his team by making a brilliant stop and throw of Yerkes' hot grounder. Score:

Crawford hit a home run to the center field fence in the second inning with the bases full, and Cobb drove one over the fence later in the game with first occupied. Washington used three pitchers. SOX SIGN COLLEGE TWIRLER.

Lathrop of Notre Dame Refuses Offers from Several Major League Clubs and Enlists with Comiskey.

From the office of Ban Johnson, president of the American league, it was learned yesterday that the White Sox have signed a sensational college pitcher. The young hurler is William Lathrop, who has shown exceptional speed in slabbing for the Notre Dame nine. New York, Philadelphia, and Cincinnati have had scouts after the collegian and a few days ago McGraw announced he had signed him. This was denied later and the report followed that he had signed a contract with the ... by Comiskey. ...

SAM WELLERISMS.

Brooklyn's ball team, 1913 model, comes to the west side today.

Having had the kink rubbed out of his spine, Big Orvie Overall is slated to hurl today.

The crowd yesterday was larger than on either Monday or Tuesday. There must have been about 7,500 persons present, which is almost half as many as the Cubs and Giants drew on week days in seasons recently gone.

Merkle's double in the tenth lacked about three feet of going into the left wing of the grand stand for a home run. At the same time, if the grand stand hadn't been there, Wilbur Good would have caught the ball, for he could have raced under it at full speed. As it was, he had to slow up or crash into the stand, and, being human, he slowed up.

Fromme did something quite unusual in the fourth when he took a throw from the outfield and tagged Zimmerman out at the plate instead of letting Meyers make the play. Heine was on third with one out when Bridwell raised a short fly to Burns. Fromme ran in and stood in front of Meyers. When the ball came to him on the first bound with lots of time, he took it and made the play.

If Vic Saier had taken a chance on a hard play in the third the Giants might have made only one run instead of two. Snodgrass was on third and Burns on first with one out when Shafer smashed a hot one straight to Saier. It looked like he had time to shoot to second and force Burns, but he played it the safe way, running to first and retiring Shafer. Fletcher then singled to left on the first pitched ball and two runs scored. Had Saier taken that chance, the Cubs might have won in nine innings.

SOX SYDELIGHTS.

NEW YORK, June 11.—[Special.]—Off for Washington tonight.

Joe Benz left for Chicago today. His arm refuses to loosen up, and he will be given a rest for the remainder of the eastern invasion.

The attendance at the Sox series here has been unusually good for a tailend team, not including Keating day, on which a 20,000 crowd turned out.

The White Sox have finished more than half their games on the trip, and have an even break to date. They won two and lost two in both Boston and New York. Four games with the Senators and three with the Athletics remain to be played before returning home.

Chase pulled a retroactive steal in the eighth inning. He started to go to second, but Gossett got the ball away so quickly that there was not a chance for Hal. He turned tail and sneaked back to first. McKechnie muffed the ball, otherwise a relay might have nailed Hal at first.

The local newspaper men caught Managers Callahan and Chance in a confab today, and immediately started to frame another trade between Sox and Yankees. Bodie is the man mentioned as most likely to join the tailenders, while the gossip is equally divided between Daniels and Sterrett as the men likely to join the Sox. Callahan declined to discuss the matter, but allowed we could guess all we wanted to.

TINKER AND KNABE FIGHT ON DIAMOND

Manager Joe and Quaker Infielder Stage Fistic Bout at Cincinnati.

REDS SCORE VICTORY, 3-2.

Cincinnati, O., June 11.—In a game marked by near rioting, in which Manager Tinker of Cincinnati and Knabe, second baseman of the Phillies, were expelled from the field, Cincinnati took the final contest of the series today, 3 to 2.

The mixup between Tinker and Knabe came in the seventh inning. Previous to this the two men had engaged in a wordy war at second base, and when the Cincinnati manager slid into this sack in the seventh, both players mixed it up while lying on the ground. When they finally stood on their feet they attempted to get together and it required the services of both umpires and a number of players to stop the fracas. Neither was injured.

Benton pitched superb ball, Philadelphia's two runs resulting from an error in the second inning. Mayer was hit rather freely and retired in favor of Moore. Dodge was spiked in the second and had to retire. Score:

GIANTS DOWN CUBS IN KEENLY FOUGHT TEN INNING DUEL

Smashing Attack in Extra Session Lands Game for Champions, Five to Two.

EVEN BREAK ON SERIES

Trojans Are Outbatted Two to One, but Hold Enemy Even for First Nine Rounds.

FROMME IN RARE FORM ON MOUND

BY SAM WELLER.

After making a gallant uphill fight and holding the champion Giants even for nine rounds yesterday, the Cubs succumbed under heavy firing in the tenth inning and were trounced, 5 to 2, thus getting only an even break on the series.

If one looks at the figures in the box score of the combat, one wonders why the west siders weren't licked well in the regulation number of rounds, for the base hits were two to one in the enemy's favor, before the extra time was started. But out of ten hits made by the New Yorkers in nine innings, eight of them were absolutely wasted.

The reason was Charley Smith, tall, lean hurler for the Cubs, who attempted to repeat his victory of the first day. Until the tenth Charley had the cunning to prevent base hits when they were needed, with one exception, that in the third, when Fletcher hit one that drove home two runs. New York had men on the bases in every round of the battle except the ninth. Consequently Mr. C. Smith was called upon for a bit too much work, and after nine rounds were over he was used up.

Champions Ply War Clubs.

At least one suspects this from the way the champions whaled the ball in that tenth. There was a double, two singles, and another double in such rapid succession that one was bewildered, and three runs went spinning over the plate before two men were out. Smith steadied and got the side out with no aid, but the three runs assured a victory.

Opposed to the tall local pitcher was Art Fromme, late of Joe Tinker's hurling squad. Fromme has perked up wonderfully since joining a team with a pennant chance. He displayed rare form yesterday in every way, and he got some swell support from his mates, especially in the tight places, or else the Cubs would have grabbed the game in spite of the few base hits.

The Cubs got a run in the second inning, and in the third the Giants got two. It looked as if the Cubs would tie it in the fourth, but the expected run was shot dead at the plate. In the seventh there was a spirited rally that tied the score and almost won the game for Chicago. But though the tying run got in, the winning run was killed at the home plate, and again the battle continued.

Zim Scores First Run.

C. Smith yielded a couple of base hits in the opening inning, but the Giants were suppressed this time with no one getting past second. The Cubs died three in a row in the first, but in the second Heine Zim, some clouter sometimes, was lead off man, and he opened with a two base drive to the left wall. On Saier's out Heine moved to third, from where he scored on Mitchell's sacrifice fly to Murray, the latter preventing another double by a great leaping catch. Bridwell closed that attack with a tap to Fromme.

Snodgrass opened the third with a single, and Fromme sacrificed. Burns drew a base on balls, one of the two given by C. Smith, then when Shafer died on a sharp smash to Saier the others moved up a notch. In this pinch Fletcher poled a single to left field and both Snodgrass and Burns sprinted home, putting the Giants one to the good. Doyle rolled to Saier, ending the attack.

In the last of the third the Cubs had two men on the runway and two out when Frank Schulte died on a tremendous fly to Snodgrass. The ball went nearly to the clubhouse, but so high that the New York outfielder got under it. In the fourth Heine Zim was on third and Saier on second with no one out yet not a run counted. Mitchell's best was a feeble tap to Fromme, who held Zim at third, then chucked Mike out at first. Bridwell followed with a short fly to Burns and Heine tried to score after the catch, but he was cut down at the plate.

Archer's Single Brings In Saier.

Smith had to do some airtight pitching in the fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh to keep the Giants down to a couple of runs and in the last of the seventh the Cubs rallied again and tied the count. Saier started with a smash toward right, Doyle knocking the ball down but it went for a single. Good took Mitchell's place and drew a base on balls. Bridwell tried to bunt, but popped out to Fromme, then Archer came through with a hot single to left, Saier sprinting home. Burns pegged to the plate, but it was so high and wild that it went over Meyers' head to the grandstand. Good had kept on going to third when he saw the peg to the plate and when the wild throw followed he continued to the plate, but Fromme was backing up the play and recovered the ball in time to peg to the Indian and nail Good before he slid in. Archer made third base on the play, but was left there when Smith fanned.

Giants Clinch Game in Tenth.

The Cubs never got another man to first base after that attack. The Giants got one on in the eighth, but couldn't advance him. In the tenth Burns was first up and he led off with a double along the left foul line. Shafer laid down a bunt along the third base line and beat it for a single, Burns moving to third. Fletcher slammed the first ball to left for a single, scoring Burns. Doyle popped out, but Merkle poled one to the left wall for two bases, scoring Shafer and Fletcher. Murray flied deep to Leach and Merkle took third after the catch and the rampage ended when Meyers fouled to Heine Zim. In their half of the tenth the Cubs died three in a row. Score:

SEEK FOURTH MAN FOR POLO MATCH

Americans Confronted with Problem in Filling Place of Monte Waterbury.

COMBINATION MAIN AIM.

Strong Play by British Team in Final Half of First Game Is Not Overlooked.

New York, June 11.—[Special.]—Harry Payne Whitney, general in command of the American forces for the international polo match with England went yachting today. That little marine excursion may express the satisfaction of the captain of the "big four" with the situation, or he may be simply resting with the idea of coming back with renewed vigor to marshal his players for what may prove to be the deciding battle on Saturday.

That the victory of the American team yesterday by no means insures the retention of the cup on this side of the water was evident from the serious manner in which officials of the polo association regarded the question of the final choice of a man to take the place of Monte Waterbury who was injured in the sixth period of the game on Tuesday.

According to William A. Hazard, secretary of the polo association, there is not the remotest possibility of the great No. 2 appearing in the lineup for the next game and scarcely a probability that he will be able to join the team should the Englishmen win on Saturday and a third contest become necessary. The broken bones are on the right hand of Waterbury so that it will be some time before he will be able to wield a mallet.

Problem for American Officials.

The threatening attitude of the Britishers in the final half on Tuesday renders it necessary that America should have its strongest possible combination in the field when the rival quartets ride on for the next skirmish. Though officials were close mouthed today there was plenty of talk among insiders to the effect that Louis Stoddard, who stepped intot he breach when Monte Waterbury was hurt would not be chosen. No complaint is found with the former Yale man's playing, but according to the experts his retention on the team necessitates Larry Waterbury, the chief goal scorer moving back to No. 2, where his scoring capacity will be curbed. Stoddard must play at No. 1 or nowhere to be effective and it is not contended that in that position he compares with the old master, Larry Waterbury.

A suggestion has been made to have Devereaux Milburn take the place at No. 2 for which he was slated in the original lineup and to let Malcolm Stevenson into the play as back. Malcolm Stevenson is rated as high as Stoddard in his position and the advantage of this move would be that no player would be really out of place. Through nearly all the practice games Milburn has been alternating at No. 2 and back and he has proved a remarkably strong man on the offense.

Stevenson May Play at Back.

Stevenson played a rattling game when at back the last few practice matches and next to Milburn is considered the best back in the country.

Capt. Miller, manager of the English team, could not be seen today, but there was a persistent rumor that the challengers might also try to change their luck by a shift of players. It is known that Capt. Miller has been much impressed with the playing of Lord Wodehouse at back since his arrival here, while in the last practice game and in the first match Lockett scarcely played up to his early form.

The distraction caused by aeroplane flying over the field while the ponies were on parade and the game in progress on Tuesday has met with the disapproval of the Aero club of America and at a meeting of the contest committee today Allen R. Hawley, the chairman, was directed to send letters to C. Murvin Wood, Frederick C. Hild, and W. Knox Martin asking them to attend a meeting of the committee on Friday to show cause why they should not be punished for this offense against the club rules.

A resolution was passed on Nov. 13, 1911, which prohibited aviators flying over spaces where sports were in progress and the penalty for disregarding the rule is suspension or revocation of license.

In a set of the most exciting races decided at the motordrome this season, Chicago defeated Detroit last night at Riverview. Capt. The Detroit boys showed up well winning two of the preliminary heats and being right close up, fighting it out for the money in the finals. The finish in the closing heat of the five mile league championship event was the prettiest of the night, it winding up in a fierce battle between Wolter of Chicago and Walker of the visiting riders. EXPERTS LOOK FOR VICTORY

Englishmen Expect Polo Series Will Go to "Rubber."

POINT OUT LOSERS' FAULTS.

Failure to Take Advantage of Opening Cause for the Defeat.

LONDON, June 11.—Viewed by the special correspondents of the London papers, who cabled long reports of the British team's defeat at polo by the Americans yesterday, the challengers' work received considerable criticism. The Times this morning says:

"It is evident that the British forwards failed to take advantage of their opportunities. Even with this failure, however, they would probably have held their own if they had been able to withstand the onslaught of the American forwards in the first period."

The Daily Telegraph's correspondent says: "The English team lacked direction. They were far from showing the brilliant game they put in at practice before the match. It was not only the offense that was weak, but the defense as well, and the majority of the American goals were the result of errors combined with the more aggressive tactics of the Meadowbrook team. When the English carried the ball up to the American goal poor stick work invariably spoiled good dribbling."

"Englishmen will be amazed to learn," according to the Daily Mail's correspondent, "that at the outset the American ponies were speedier than the English, for it has been confidently asserted that a better collection of mounts than those of the English team had never been brought together. The Americans were peculiarly adept in riding their opponents off."

While admitting the pace of the American polo team was too much for the British team in the match at Meadowbrook, the evening papers express themselves as not altogether discouraged by the result of the first match. The Evening Standard says:

"The British team ought to have learned a deal from yesterday's game and we are more hopeful of the result of the next game."

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "As the British players never had a really fast practice game since they landed in America, they failed just where they might have been reasonably expected to fail, but we may feel some confidence that they now have the measure of their opponents."

The Westminster Gazette says: "We may still hope, but we can no longer entertain great confidence that the big effort made by England will restore the cup this time."

"FEDS" DROP GAME IN TENTH

Cleveland Trims Keeley's Team in Extra Round, 8 to 7.

THREE SWATS NET VICTORY.

Chicago Scores in Final, but Rivals Connect for Two Tallies.

Cleveland, O., June 11.—[Special.]—A tenth inning rally was staged by the Cleveland Federals today, in which Chicago was beaten 8 to 7.

Patton, Cleveland's third baseman, doubled in the tenth with the score of 7 to 6 in the visitors' favor, scoring Gilroy, a pinch hitter, from first. A single then sent the third sacker home with the winning run.

H. Miller for Cleveland and McGuire for Chicago were not in good form, both sides managing to bunch hits at opportune times. The locals started with three runs in the first, but the visitors saved one in the first and four in the second. The seventh put Cleveland in the lead, but by getting one each in the ninth and tenth the Kelley aggregation forged ahead. Then the locals staged their rally and won. Score:

EASY DRILLS FOR COLLEGE CREWS

Coaches Put Oarsmen Through Light Practice on the Hudson River.

NO TIME TRIALS HELD.

Mentors Plan Harder Work for Rowers After Tomorrow; Syracuse Due Today.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 11.—All the crews of Cornell, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Columbia, and Washington were on the river late this afternoon for long, easy rows. No attempts were made at time trials and none will be made until Saturday. The few time trials held were unsatisfactory and the coaches believe that after the examinations are finished on Friday and with settled weather the men will be ready for more vigorous work.

The crews of Cornell, Pennsylvania, and Wisconsin went down the river against the tide tonight for a row of eight or nine miles.

The Washington varsity crew went up the river for six miles, Coach Conibear giving his men a long and comparatively hard row. The coach announced that Washington's time trial yesterday for the four miles was 19:31.

"I see no objection to making public our time rows," said the coach. "It makes no difference to the crews and there is no advantage to be gained by keeping the time secret."

The Syracuse crews will arrive tomorrow, being the last to get into training on the Hudson.

Snowden said the crews are practically settled and he anticipates no further shifting.

Oak Park Coach Makes Farewell Speech to Students.

QUITS WITH GREAT RECORD.

Athletic Tutor to Drill Illinois Football Squad Next Fall.

Robert Zuppke, for three years coach of Oak Park High school athletic teams, delivered his farewell speech to the students of the school at the final exercises yesterday. Zuppke will take up his duties as football coach at the University of Illinois next fall.

In his speech Zuppke pointed out that Oak Park had just experienced its most successful season. Six championships went to the western suburban school. Titles were won in heavyweight and lightweight football, swimming, soccer, and indoor and outdoor track. With chances to win in basketball, Oak Park dropped out of the competition because of the death of one of its players.

In the three years Zuppke worked at Oak Park the school won three consecutive football championships, a feat never performed before in Cook county athletics. In baseball this year the team entered the semi-final round, but is counted out of the running because of three straight defeats. Glenn Thistlewaite, the Earlham college coach, will replace Zuppke in the fall.

Seventy-two letters were presented to the athletes. The largest number, eighteen was given to the members of the heavyweight football team. Monograms in other sports were awarded as follows: Lightweight football, 16; baseball, 11; soccer, 11; track, 9, and swimming, 7.

Capt. Penn Carolan of last fall's football squad will enter the University of Illinois next fall. Harry Goelitz, who was elected captain of next year's track squad yesterday, also will enter Illinois when he is graduated.

MICHIGAN MEN TO RUN HERE.

Coach Farrel of Wolverine School Expects to Have Point Winners for Grant Park Games in July.

The University of Michigan athletes will appear in the international athletic carnival next month in Grant park, according to Coach Steve Farrel. Farrel has promised to send a team of Wolverines to the Chicago meet and has big hopes of winning the big silver loving cup offered for first place in the intercollegiate meet of June 3.

Among the men mentioned by Farrel as probable contestants for Michigan were C. B. Haff in the 440 and 880 yard runs; J. E. Bond in the 100 and 220 yard dashes; A. Kohler in the shot, hammer, and discus; H. E. Brown in the 880 yard run and W. Sargent in the high jump. J. C. Craig also was picked to represent his school in the meet, but his recent physical breakdown has made it improbable that he will compete.

Another entry for the collegiate meet is Knox college, which has nominated H. L. Miller and C. Spears. Miller will compete against Nicholson of Missouri and Case of Illinois in the 120 yard high hurdles. Spears is entered in the weight numbers.

DEFENDS METHOD OF SMOKE INQUIRY

Howard Elting Replies to Charges of "Concealment" Made by Ald. Long.

EXPECTS REPORT IN 1914.

Communication to Council Says Electrification Requires Minute Analysis.

A defense of the methods pursued by the Chicago Association of Commerce in the matter of railroad electrification and smoke abatement in Chicago came yesterday from President Howard Elting and the executive committee of the association. It follows the charges of concealment made in the city council a short time ago by Ald. Theodore K. Long.

Mr. Elting's statement, addressed to the mayor, the council, and the citizens, follows:

"In view of the importance of a prompt and proper solution of the problem of smoke abatement and electrification, and in view of recent discussions before the city council committee on railway terminals with reference to the part of the Chicago Association of Commerce in seeking such a solution, it seems desirable for the information of the mayor and the city council of Chicago, the members of the association, and the public generally, to present a review of the facts as established in the public records and the records of the association.

"Briefly stated, these facts establish:

"1. That the association undertook the study of the problem of smoke abatement and electrification because it recognized this issue as one of greatest moment to the people of Chicago.

"2. When the results of this study showed the necessity of a comprehensive engineering investigation the association undertook this task because it was qualified to conduct a cooperative investigation, fairly representing all parties at interest, which neither the city nor the railroads, acting alone, were then in a position to carry out successfully.

"3. That as a result of this investigation, the association will be able to lay before the Chicago city council and the citizens of Chicago, a constructive report that may be the basis of intelligent legislation, not for the abatement merely, but for the elimination of smoke.

Problem Nearer Solution.

"Further that the period of this investigation has been a period not of delay, but of progress and that Chicago is vastly nearer the realization of the desired solution of this vexing problem by reason of the association's undertaking.

"In October, 1909, the association appointed a special committee of seven to study the feasibility of electrification and the elimination of smoke in general.

"This committee reported to the executive committee of the association on July 8, 1910.

"On Aug. 19, 1910, this report was the subject of a joint meeting of the board of directors and the executive committee with railroad officials.

"A complete stenographic record of the proceedings of this latter conference was referred back to the committee of seven and in consideration of the facts developed the committee of seven on Nov. 28 supplemented its findings with the recommendation 'that the features involved in the problem of electrification should have proper detailed study and investigation.'

Investigation Thorough One.

"Accordingly the Association of Commerce conferred with the city administration and learned that the city desired a comprehensive investigation of smoke abatement and electrification, that it had made such preliminary inquiry through engineers selected by it as to determine that such an investigation would involve an expense of from $300,000 to $500,000, and that the city had no funds for this purpose.

"Receiving from the city administration and from the city council of Chicago, as well as the railroads, both concurrence and cooperation, the association took the initiative in the organization of a committee of seventeen members, four selected by and representing the city of Chicago, four the railroads of Chicago, and nine the general public as represented in the membership of the Association of Commerce.

"This investigation has been most searching and the expense now approaching $300,000 has been defrayed by funds contributed by the railroads of Chicago, the association, like the city, having no funds for so large an undertaking.

"This committee was appointed March 18, 1911, and it is expected that a complete and constructive report will be presented about Jan. 1, 1914.

"In view of the advanced progress of this investigation, the association recommended in recent hearings before the city council committee on railway terminals, that the city await the presentation of this report before attempting to legislate respecting the subject of smoke abatement.

"Because of this recommendation the association's position was assailed and not its position merely but its fair dealing with the public was challenged.

"Any assertion that the Association of Commerce has either 'concealed' or endeavored to 'conceal' any of the facts relating to this investigation is absolutely without foundation.

"The appointment of the committee of seven in the fall of 1909 was publicly announced.

"When this committee presented its recommendations to the executive committee of the association that fact was publicly announced.

"The association acts on questions before it only through its executive committee and when the executive committee after a careful consideration of this report decided that the solution it suggested necessitated a still larger undertaking—nothing less than a comprehensive investigation by an employed engineering staff which should consider the many problems in detail and include the element of cost of electrification, which the preliminary report necessarily had not attempted to cover—that fact, too, was publicly announced.

Says Busse Knew Report.

"When the association went to the mayor of Chicago, the Honorable Fred A. Busse, to proffer the further cooperation of this association, the records clearly show that the mayor of Chicago and his advisers in the city council were fully acquainted with the contents of the report presented by the committee of seven. In fact, one of the members of that committee was at the time the chief smoke inspector of the city of Chicago.

"With these facts in mind, the mayor of Chicago recommended to the city council that the city be represented upon the committee appointed to complete the investigation of smoke abatement and electrification. On Dec. 19, 1910, the mayor with the concurrence of the city council, appointed Paul P. Bird, T. E. Donnelley, Dr. W. A. Evans, and Milton J. Foreman as official representatives of the city of Chicago.

"To this committee the association appointed nine representatives from its general membership, these representatives being Jesse Holdom, chairman of the committee; Frederick H. Rawson, secretary; E. R. Graham, W. F. M. Goss, Richard C. Hall, Harrison B. Riley, John W. Scott, Francis T. Simmons, and Harry A. Wheeler.

"Four representatives were appointed by the railroads as follows: J. J. Bernet, William A. Gardner, H. G. Hetzler, and Darius Miller.

Sought Justice to All Interests.

"It was in accordance with the policy of the association—which is also the policy of all just tribunals—to give a full and fair hearing to every party at interest, that on Sept. 22, 1910, the Association of Commerce called into conference with its board of directors and its executive committee the executive heads of the railroads entering Chicago.

"Of the proceedings of this conference fragmentary passages were read before the council committee on railway terminals. The complete stenographic report is preserved as a matter of association record and a full reading, which is denied to no official representative of the public, will show conclusively the purpose of the association in seeking to work out a constructive program of action upon which the city, the railroads, and the public could rightfully stand and upon which intelligent legislation could be based.

"That the association's published records, copies of which were presented to the committee on railway terminals, publicly announced the fact that the report to the association of the original committee of seven favored electrification of the Chicago railroad terminals as an engineering proposition, is shown by the following statement in the annual report of the association for 1911:

"'The subject of smoke abatement and electrification was brought to the attention of the Chicago Association of Commerce early in 1909, and a committee of engineers then was appointed to make inquiry into the feasibility of the project. The report of this committee, favoring electrification as an engineering project but less confident regarding its financial feasibility, suggested the necessity of a comprehensive, cooperative investigation, such as that which the present committee was created to conduct.'

"That report supplied the foundation for the technical investigation now being brought to completion and two of the members of the original committee of seven, Dean W. F. M. Goss and Paul P. Bird, are members also of the present committee.

"The full text of the preliminary report was not published for the same reason that the present incomplete data of the committee on smoke abatement and electrification have not thus far been published—for the reason that this problem in the opinion of the Chicago Association of Commerce, is too important to the city's welfare to permit the solution that may be found most advantageous to the entire community to be jeopardized by a general understanding or misunderstandings, based upon an incomplete review of the facts.

"The Association of Commerce was not, and is not, willing to announce results or conclusions until satisfied that they are based upon a complete analysis of all essential facts. The association feels that it would, indeed, forfeit the confidence of the public if in this, or any other issue, it urged action before it was certain that such action was right. And it believes further that the open mind of the public fully concurs in the wisdom of this position.

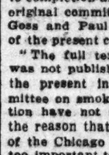

"The solution of this problem demands the kind of an investigation that the association is now conducting and we confidently believe that time, which reverses all hasty decisions, will prove the wisdom of the association's course and prove no less surely its value to the citizens of Chicago and to the city's future."

CHILD NEARLY CRAZY ECZEMA ITCHED SO

Head and Face Raw All Over. Hair Coming Out Badly. Scales on Head. Simply a Sight. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In Six Weeks Sound and Well.

Coon Rapids, Iowa.—"When my little girl was two years old there was a sore came on her head just above the temple in her hair in the shape of a boil. It kept getting larger, causing her lots of pain. After a couple of weeks it broke out in pimples all over her head and face. She was a sight I tell you. It affected her eyes so she could hardly see. We thought she would go blind. Her head and face were raw all over. It kept getting worse all the time, and was just raw sores. Her hair came out badly when it was combed and we were afraid it would all come out. The eczema itched so it nearly set her crazy. By spells there were scales on her head as large as a quarter. She was disfigured; she was just simply a sight. She was cross and fretful all the time.

"I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. We could see an improvement the first week and she got better right along. In six weeks she was sound and well. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured her." (Signed) Amos Pasley, Apr. 16, 1912.

Cuticura Soap 25c. and Cuticura Ointment 50c. are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

BUSINESS, COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL SECTION

"AMERICAN CAN" COMPLETES SITE

First Unit of Big Plant Soon Will Be Erected in Clybourn Avenue.

BREAK BUILDING RECORD

Permits During First 5 Months of 1913 Surpass Previous Marks for Period.

Plans are about completed for an immense plant to be erected by the American Can company on Clybourn avenue near the Northwestern elevated station. The present plant at Superior and Townsend streets, leased by the company, will be abandoned early in 1914.

For some time past agents of the company have been acquiring land in Clybourn avenue for a site. Announcement now has been made that the company purposes early building of the first unit, which will be a three story, fireproof, concrete structure to occupy a ground area of 280x200 feet, and to cost not less than $300,000.

Building Record Smashed.

In connection with this improvement it is worthy of note that building in Chicago for the five months ended May 31 exceeded in volume and amount any corresponding period in the history of the city's building department.

Permits were taken out during the first five months of the year for the construction of 4,508 buildings with an aggregate frontage of 132,989 feet and involving an estimated cost of $40,516,000. During the corresponding period of last year permits were issued for 4,197 buildings to occupy 112,067 feet of frontage and to cost $30,238,600.

During the month of May the same comparative increase is shown by the figures from the building department, every section of the city sharing in the activity.

Big Apartment Building Sold.

A twenty-one apartment building with 75x123½ feet of ground, at the southwest corner of Independence boulevard and Grenshaw street, has been sold by Michael Mitchell to Joseph Gobel for a stated consideration of $65,000. As part of the same transaction Andrew Gobel conveyed to Michael Mitchell the apartment house property valued at $23,500 located at the northwest corner of Marshfield avenue and West Polk street. Hyman & Harry Berkson were the brokers.

Property at 752 Dearborn avenue has been sold by Regelin, Jenson & Co. for the estate of Mary Wolf to Clarence and Lillian M. Williamson. Only a nominal consideration was expressed in the deed, the purchasers giving back a mortgage to secure the payment of $4,000.

Record has been made of deeds dated May 6 last in which the Illinois Central conveys to the south park commissioners the lands necessary for the site of the Field Columbian museum and the proposed driveway along the lake shore to Jackson park.

Deal in Beacon Street.

Apartment building property, 60x158 feet, on the east side of Beacon street, 120 feet north of Leland avenue, has been sold by Julius Strass to Mathias Blesius for $28,000. In part payment the grantee gave residence property in Edgewater place at the southeast corner of Perry street, 56x110 feet. The value attached to the latter piece was not mentioned in the conveyance.

A store and flat building at 3125-3127 Cottage Grove avenue has been leased by Hettie Collner to Adolph Sturm and J. D. Isaacs for ten years beginning Nov. 1, 1913, at a term rent of $42,000.

Ruth E. Raftree has taken title to ninety-three feet of frontage on the east side of Drexel-av., 237 feet south of East Fifty-sixth street, the grantors being William C. Vierbucher and E. C. Carpenter. The consideration was not disclosed.

Jackson Bros. have sold for Bernard A. Eckhart the residence property at 1426 West Monroe street, 25x183 feet of ground, with a four story brown stone house, valued at $10,000, to James B. Littlejohn. Only a nominal consideration was reported.

Willis & Frankenstein have sold for Mrs. Hetty H. R. Green of New York City to Sophus Nepkin the residence property, 5732 Rosalie court, 40x128 feet, improved with a two story residence. The consideration is nominal.

Realty Board Neutral.

The Cook county real estate board has refused to make a recommendation on relocation of Chicago passenger terminals. One sentence of the committee report reads:

"After careful consideration of all the testimony, the committee submits that it would be unjust, both to the city of Chicago and the Pennsylvania railroad, for the real estate board to indorse any of the terminal plans now under consideration."

TRIES FAST MOVE TO SMASH TRUST

Government Asks Writ Halting Cereal Concern Absorption by Oatmeal Combine.

ALLEGES TRADE CONTROL

Wants Injunction While Suit for Permanent Remedy Is Pending in Court

Government suit against the Quaker Oats company, Joy Morton and nine other individual defendants, alleged to be in control of the "oatmeal trust," followed yesterday an extensive federal grand jury investigation of the manner in which the Great Western Cereal company was transferred to the alleged trust.

The suit was filed in the federal district court by District Attorney James H. Wilkerson, at the direction of Attorney General McReynolds and James A. Fowler, assistant to the attorney general. The petition charges the Quaker Oats company with being a monopoly in violation of the Sherman law.

While the government does not specifically ask that the Quaker Oats company be dissolved, it petitions the court to decree the corporation "in and of itself" to be illegal.

Asks Temporary Injunction.

The petition asks for the immediate issuance of a temporary injunction to restrain the corporation from engaging in interstate commerce in oatmeal products until its alleged monopoly has been abandoned and the competitive conditions existing prior to the forming of the alleged combine are restored.

The corporation is declared to control 90 per cent of the oatmeal products and byproducts of the country. Permanent injunctions are asked as a remedy for the evil complained of. The temporary injunction is asked in order that competition may be restored at once.

The principal object of this feature of the suit is to set aside an arrangement by which the Quaker Oats company absorbed the Great Western Cereal company. During the grand jury investigation it was said the inquisitorial body received information that the sale of the latter company to the alleged trust was engineered by Joy Morton, who was president of the Great Western concern.

Great Western Plant Closed.

Mr. Morton, it was said, sold the Great Western for $1,000,000, without the consent of the stockholders and the majority of the board of directors. The Great Western prior to its absorption by the alleged trust enjoyed a large business in oatmeal products and operated a number of plants, including large ones at Decatur, Ill., and Fort Dodge, Ia. Since its absorption, it is alleged, its business has been ruined and plants closed.

In seeking to set aside the combine District Attorney Wilkerson has gone beyond anything hitherto attempted in anti-trust suits. The entire suit, according to Mr. Wilkerson, is based on the material gathered by the grand jury. When the grand jury reported no indictments the civil suit was decided upon.

Other defendants named in the petition are Harry P. Crowell, Robert Stuart, James H. Douglas, John Stuart, A. Stamford White, John P. Welling, all of Chicago; J. R. Nutt, Cleveland, O.; James H. Andrews, Akron, O.; Whiting G. Snow, Montclair, N. J., and the Great Western Cereal company.

The name of Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador to France, is mentioned in the bill, not as a defendant, but as one of the directors and organizers in 1891 of the American Cereal company.

WHEAT OVERSOLD; PRICES ADVANCE

Shorts Cover on Fear of Drought in Northwest; Bulls More Aggressive.

CORN HAS SHARP UPTURN.

General Buying Demand Is Active in Spite of Liberal Receipts in the West.

The oversold condition of the wheat market was displayed yesterday at the opening when prices advanced sharply on the opening trades as the result principally of the lack of selling orders. There was nothing especially stimulating in the news, and it only took a moderate amount of buying to lift prices 1c. The advance was held throughout the session, at the close prices being ⅛@⅝c to 1¼c up. The July was relatively firmer than the other months.

Fear that the weather conditions northwest may become unfavorable was a factor in stimulating short covering, but as yet there have been few complaints of any special damage. More advices were received yesterday than any time this season saying dry weather was becoming a big factor and that without rain soon many sections would suffer severely. Much the same conditions exist in Canada.

Commission Houses Buyers.

The heavy buying by commission houses recently had drained the pit of surplus offerings, while the short selling recently has been greatly overdone. Logan-Bryan and commission houses generally were buyers early. Armour bought September and sold July on quite a large scale, and on the swells there was quite free profit taking. Local traders were more inclined to take the buying side yesterday, owing to the uncertainty of the spring wheat outcome.

The export demand was a minus quantity yesterday, but there was a fair milling demand, sales from here being 125,000 bu. Nebraska advices said country offerings were drying up in that state, and that receipts would likely be much smaller soon. Northwest markets reported a moderate cash demand and light flour sales.

Liverpool Shows Steady Tone.

Foreign markets were not much changed. Liverpool was unchanged to ⅛d up; Paris, ¼@½c lower on fine weather in France; Antwerp, unchanged; Berlin, ⅜c up, and Budapest, 1⅜c off. Weather in the United Kingdom continues unsettled. The demand from the continent for wheat was reported slow. Canadian wheat was offered sparingly abroad, and prices are relatively firm for Manitobas.

Receipts here were 50 cars, with 36 cars the estimate for today. In the west primary receipts aggregated 485,000 bu, compared to 236,000 bu a year ago. Northwest points had 231 cars; last year, 137, and Winnipeg, 76 cars, against 272 cars a year ago. Minneapolis stocks decreased 475,000 bu for four days. Clearances for the day were 521,000 bu, including 85,000 brls flour.

Corn Bears Suffer Defeat.

Corn was again strong and buoyant. Prices at the finish were ⅝@¾c to 1⅛@1¼c higher. The July led in the advance, commission houses and shorts being active competitors for the limited offerings. Receipts were liberal and there were few complaints in regard to the crop outlook, but these features did not check the buying demand materially, and the tone was strong right up to the close.

Weather conditions were favorable, and no rain is indicated except for the western part of the belt and in the southwest. Receipts were 412 cars, with 454 cars the estimate for today. Western receipts were 1,376,000 bu, compared to 1,514,000 bu a year ago. Cash prices were ¼@⅜c higher, and sales for shipment were 75,000 bu. Clearances for the day were 42,000 bu.

Oats Follow Other Grains.

Oats were helped by the strength in corn, and there was no great selling pressure. Offerings were fair at the start, but later values advanced on moderate buying, closing ¼ to ⅜@½c higher. Receipts here were 344 cars, with 314 cars inspected yesterday, and arrivals at western points were 1,210,000 bu, against 431,000 bu a year ago.

Hog Products Are Firm.

Provisions closed a little firmer, but there was quite a little product for sale on the swells, which checked the advancing tendency. Receipts were 28,000 hogs, and the estimate for today was 27,000. Prices at the yards early were 5@10c higher, but later most of the advance was lost. Receipts in the west were 93,800, compared to 118,900 a year ago. Western hog packing for the week was estimated at 610,000 bu, against 505,000 bu a year ago.

Rye Prices Stationary.

Rye prices held stationary, with sales of No. 2 at 60@61c. Receipts, 1 car.

Barley was firm, with malting 55@65c, feed 48@53c, and screenings 30@45c. Receipts, 85 cars.

Timothy seed was steady at $4.25 bid and $4.40 asked for September and $3.25@4.00 for cash lots. Clover seed was quiet at $13.25 asked for October.

Duluth flax closed ½@⅝c higher, with cash on track $1.30¼, July $1.29⅝, September $1.31⅝, October $1.30⅞. Receipts, 6 cars. Minneapolis was ⅝c higher at $1.28⅛@1.28⅝ for cash on track. Receipts were 9 cars. Winnipeg closed ⅝@¾c higher at $1.15¼ for July and $1.19⅝ for October. Receipts, 29 cars.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

The principal factor in wheat yesterday outside of the oversold pit conditions was the unfavorable character of the news from the northwest. Few complaints of any real damage were received either from this country or Canada, but on the other hand the deficiency in moisture for the season to date is marked in many sections on both sides of the boundary line, and any prolonged drought would result in manifold claims of injury. Both in our spring wheat belt and in western Canada an unusually large proportion of the wheat seeded was on stubble ground and this makes it all the more necessary that rainfall should be ample and timely. Nearly all the commission houses with connections in the northwest received reports expressing apprehension in regard to conditions.

The sharp upturn in wheat prices lifted values above an export level, and local exporters said there was but little inquiry. The sales on Tuesday were liberal and around 90c for May values appeared to be on a good working basis. Seaboard ports said the advance prevented any more business. However, there was a good milling demand here and shipping sales were 125,000 bu. Nebraska reports indicated that country offerings were much lighter and that receipts soon would be comparatively light. At Minneapolis there was no material change in prices, but offerings were quite free and the bulk of the cash sales were at a shade lower prices.

The Atchison crop report says crop conditions in territory covered by Atchison throughout Kansas, Oklahoma, and Colorado show rapid development owing to good rains during the past week, wheat in particular, although some sections are beyond help, others are good, the rains coming in time for favorable filling of heads. In Texas moisture is badly needed and crops have suffered.

"The southern demand for dry salted meats continues of fair proportions, but the lard trade is flat, and stocks of lard will show good increases on the midmonth report," said a provisions broker. "The gneral indications point to fair hog receipts the balance of the month, with occasional days of good receipts."

John Inglis wired from McPherson, Kas.: "Edwards, Pawnee and Barton counties show little improvement after rains. Such promising counties as Rice, Reno, and McPherson are worse than any previous reports stated. Fields white, ready for cutting. Corn has now a good start. Clear and warmer."

Minneapolis wired: "There are quite a number of complaints here of dry weather this morning. These are likely to increase rapidly, unless we get good rains in a few days. Good people say there will be serious damage unless we get good soaking rains within ten days."

A message from Glendive, Mont., said: "We have had hot dry weather the last ten days. No rain in June. Rainfall for May, 1.81 inches, compared with 4.46 last year. Crops very backward and in sore need of rain."

Cash corn was ¼@⅜c higher, and while sales were moderate there was no great pressure on the market. Oats were in good demand and steady to a little firmer. Shipping sales were 75,000 bu corn and 300,000 bu oats.

Indianapolis wired: "We are getting some complaints of poor stand of corn and considerable replanting being done. We are inclined to think general conditions fairly good, but we need rain over most of our territory."

Joseph Simons was back yesterday from a trip to Vancouver, B. C. He said that wheat in western Canada was barely above the ground, but was making good growth this side of the line.

Wheat cutting has started in southern Illinois, and it is expected new wheat will be on the market at St. Louis inside of two weeks.

The Drovers' Journal estimates the hog packing for the week at 610,000, against 584,000 the previous week and 505,000 a year ago.

Bids on the call for wheat to arrive were ¼@1¼c higher; corn, ½@1c higher; oats, ¼@½c higher; rye, unchanged to ½c higher.

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 36 cars; corn, 454 cars; oats, 314 cars; rye, 1 car; barley, 85 cars; hogs, 27,000 head.

Harry Halliday of St. Louis was a visitor on change yesterday.

Minneapolis wheat stocks decreased 475,000 bu for four days.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, June 11.—The stock market was more cheerful today and prices improved during the forenoon, especially in the American and home rails sections, where bears covered freely. Several weak operators have received assistance, and the belief that the worst period of depression is past led traders to view the outlook more optimistically.

Some irregularity developed in the afternoon, and values closed below the best on profit taking for local and French account. Turkish bonds declined 1¼ points. Carry over rates for the settlement are fairly light, the contango on Americans ranging from 4½ to 5½ per cent.

American shares opened steady and from ¼ to ⅝ above parity. The market improved steadily during the early trading, and Amalgamated Copper, Canadian Pacific, Union Pacific, and United States Steel were prominent leaders. The advance was continued until the afternoon, when New York turned seller, causing the list to sag. The closing was irregular.

Money was dear and discounts were maintained at the bank rate level.

QUIZ GARY ON STEEL DEALS

Asked to Explain Contracts Barring Competition.

DID NOT FAVOR POLICY.

Admits He Was "Lax" in Permitting Remarks to Get In Minutes.

New York, June 11.—Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, was called upon today by government counsel in the suit to dissolve the corporation to explain certain alleged contracts entered into by the corporation with competitors under which they agreed to stay out of the steel business.

The witness was asked to reconcile them with the policy of "fostering competition" which he had testified had been the aim of the corporation since its organization.

He also was asked to explain remarks attributed to him in the minutes of the finance committee of the corporation quoting him as saying that he would rather keep the Shelby Tube company, formerly a competitor, under the control of the corporation than buy it out.

Memory Fails E. H. Gary.

Mr. Gary answered many of the questions by saying, "I do not remember," but explained that on general principles he did not approve of the contracts referred to.

"I don't think that as a director I was as careful in those days as I am now," he volunteered.

Under one contract the owners of the Union Steel company, acquired by the corporation, agreed to stay out of the steel business for ten years. Another pact imposed similar conditions upon the owners of the Oliver iron ore properties, and a third required William Reis, president of the National Steel company before it was taken over, to stay out of the steel business for three years.

Says He Was "Foolishly Lax."

Mr. Gary was sure he had not uttered the words attributed to him in regard to the Shelby Tube company which the corporation subsequently took over.

The Carnegie Steel company, a subsidiary, had a contract to supply steel to the Shelby Tube company under which, according to the minutes of the finance committee, the Carnegie company "could arrange its prices so as to keep the Shelby company from doing business."

"I was foolishly lax in allowing such statements to be made and such action taken," said Mr. Gary.

FAT BEEF STEERS BACK TO $9 MARK

Price Reached for First Time in Month; Market Advances 10@15 Cents.

EARLY HOG RALLY FAILS.

Scalpers Inspire Upturn, but Packers Hold Off; Sheep and Lambs Firmer.

Prices of fat steers at Chicago yesterday got back to the $9.00 mark for the first time in four weeks, selling 10@15c higher than on Monday. Chief incentive for the advance was a small midweek supply. Shippers were good buyers at the upturn and sales at $8.75 and better were fairly numerous, while the bulk of good to choice lots cleared at $7.90@8.65. Cows and heifers sold at strong to 10c higher prices, but calves continued the downward slide begun Tuesday and stopped at $10.35 for the big strings of prime vealers.

Speculators opened the hog market at an advance of 5@10c, but packers refused to follow the upturn and the market reacted, closing with all of the advance eliminated. The average price was raised to $8.72, against $8.66 Tuesday, and sales were made up to $8.90 during the early flurry. Most of the late business was at $8.65@8.75.

Sheep and lambs met with an irregular demand and the market was uneven, with prime offerings 10@15c higher and the ordinary thin lots weak to a shade lower. Shorn Colorado lambs topped at $8.00.

Low grading eggs were urged on sale at weak prices, but the better selections were fully steady. Receipts were 20,118 cases. Butter prices were unchanged, with receipts of 17,377 tubs.

Vegetable trains were delayed and business was of restricted volume early in the day, while later there were excessive supplies and prices had to be reduced.

BARS SMALL BANK FROM SUBURBS

Attorney General McReynolds Holds Minimum Capital Must Be $200,000.

FINDING SETS PRECEDENT

Treasury Department Not Expected to Make Latest Opinion Retroactive.

Washington, D. C., June 11.—Suburbs of big cities in future will be unable to organize small national banks with capital of $25,000 or $50,000.

Attorney General McReynolds has rendered an opinion to the treasury department holding that it is not lawful under the national bank act to consider suburbs as separate places from the cities within whose corporate boundaies they lie, and that if a city has a population of more than 50,000 people the minimum capital for its national banks, whether in the city proper or in the suburbs, must be $200,000.

This will result in a complete reversal of the previous policy of the government, and, it is stated, will likely cause suburban towns of big cities to organize only state banks. The question arose over applications for the organization of three national banks of $25,000 capital in the suburbs of Chicago.

The law provides that $25,000 banks may be organized in "places" of less than 3,000 population; $50,000 in places of less than 6,000; $100,000 in places of less than 50,000, and $200,000 in places of more than 50,000 population.

Based upon the opinions by the solicitor of the treasury department it has been the custom to regard suburban towns as separate entities or places within the meaning of the law, and many national banks of $25,000 or $50,000 capital have been organized in the suburbs of greater New York and Chicago.

PUTS AND CALLS BILL A LAW; GOV. DUNNE FAILS TO GIVE O. K.

Springfield, Ill., June 11.—[Special.]—The puts and calls bill became a law last midnight by the failure of Gov. Dunne to either sign or to veto the bill. He returned it today without his signature to the secretary of state, and it is now a law under the provision of the constitution that a bill which remains ten days within the possession of the governor without action becomes a law notwithstanding.

The law restores the old time custom of permitting the trading in puts and calls on the Chicago board of trade. In repeated sessions of the legislature the effort has been made to get legal authorization of the business, but the attempt has been abortive.

The bill which now goes on the statute books is the one concerning which John Hill Jr. raised particular disturbance in the senate. He charged that a fund had been raised to boost the bill in this session of the legislature, and when brought before the bar of the senate demonstrated that there had been a fund raised, but the contention was made that it had been raised for legitimate purposes.

Speaker Adkins of the last general assembly, representing the downstate grain dealers, he said, refused to permit the bill to come to a roll call in the house.

Gov. Dunne apparently took no ground either way and permitted the responsibility for the law to rest upon the members of the general assembly.

GOOD CHANCE FOR MONETARY BILL

Measure Which Will Meet Approval of Congress and Bankers Probable.

WOULD HELP SITUATION.

Banks Would Be First to Feel Relief from the Present Stringency.

From various trustworthy sources it is learned there is strong probability of there being presented to congress a banking and currency bill, which will, in the main, meet with the approval of congress and banking interests.

In the present condition of money sentiment such an issue of the efforts of the administration would be highly reassuring. Its greatest potency would lie in the effect it would have on banking sentiment. The bankers of the country are necessarily the first to note possible money stringency. And when the influence of sentiment upon credit is considered the importance at this time of a reasonably satisfactory currency measure may be understood.

Rock Island Group Issues Weak.

The so-called Rock Island group of securities is showing considerable weakness with the result of accompanying unfavorable rumors. At this time it does not appear that there is substantial basis for predicting embarrassment for the Rock Island system. And it is only meant to record the fact that rumors exist.

The stocks of the Rock Island company, of the National Biscuit company, and the American Can company are all weak. It is true that other stocks are weak, but the market has a way of interpreting special from general conditions.

Control of the Rock Island system rests in the $54,000,000 preferred stock issue of the Rock Island company, the holding concern. The ownership of 271,000 shares would control the property. At yesterday's closing price for the preferred, 22, the market value of control would be $5,962,000. It is not meant to suggest that this would purchase control, but it is interesting to note the market value of a majority interest in the preferred stock.

Local Savings Deposits Increase.

Savings deposits of the state banks of Chicago were, on June 5, 1913, approximately $232,000,000, an increase of about $3,600,000 compared with the total reported on April 5.

This growth in savings deposits is a highly encouraging feature of the present situation.

J. B. Forgan Returns.

J. B. Forgan, president of the First National bank, returned yesterday from the east, where he went at the invitation of Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo to confer over prospective currency legislation. Mr. Forgan told some of his friends he felt hopeful a currency plan would be worked out.

Four Per Cents Not Wanted.

The state of North Carolina offered $1,142,500 4 per cent forty year improvement bonds, proposals for which were opened yesterday by the state treasurer. The offering was a failure. Tenders were received for but $150,000 of the total amount.

B. & O. Note Offering.

Speyer & Co. and Kuhn, Loeb & Co. are offering $20,000,000 Baltimore and Ohio railroad company one year 5 per cent secured notes, due July 1, 1914.

These notes are issued to provide funds to retire $11,557,000 Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railway company collateral trust purchase money 4 per cent notes maturing July 1, 1913. Guaranteed principal and interest by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad company and for other corporate purposes.

President Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio states that it had been the expectation of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railway company to extend the notes, but that under the present conditions it had been determined preferable by the Baltimore and Ohio to take them up.

At a meeting of the directors of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway company, the sale of $4,410,000 5 per cent equipment gold notes recently made to White, Weld & Co., was confirmed.

The Erie Railroad company has sold $5,000,000 equipment trust notes. The proceeds will be used to pay for 5,000 freight cars ordered last May.

Wall street is of the opinion that there is little likelihood of a change in the present 10 per cent dividend rate on Union Pacific common.

The New York subtreasury lost $1,115,000 to the banks on Tuesday, and since last Friday has gained net $373,000 from the banks.

LATEST WALL STREET GOSSIP.

NEW YORK, June 11.—[Special.]—In the final dealings there was spirited betting in the commission houses for and against the likelihood of Steel common breaking through the half century mark. It did so in the last five minutes of trading when 100 shares sold at 49⅞.

This was a sufficiently important event for the street to take note of even in days when new low records are occurring every few minutes. Steel common has never sold below 50 since it became a 5 per cent stock. It did touch 50 in October, 1911, but not since the spring of 1909 has the stock been seen in the 40s. Then it was on its way up to 94⅞.

Steel common being in some respects the key to movements in the whole list is usually expected to be the stock singled out for any organized "bear" campaign. But comment in the financial district is beginning to emphasize the unfavorable points in the outlook for the corporation's business, such as the large falling off in orders now obviously in progress and the relatively small profit per ton that has been made on recent business. But with all the reasons in the world why steel common should decline there would probably be a feeling that it ought not to just because everybody is short of it.

Professional Wall street with its eyes constantly on the tape may be expected to accustom itself more quickly to a new set of quotations than outsiders who only turn to the stock page at infrequent intervals.

But even the financial district itself is in no danger of losing sight of the sweeping nature of the decline that has occurred as long as the tape bears new daily reminders of the fact in the prices in the more inactive securities which have not been overshadowed by more sensational features.

Every now and then a broker will see a bond like the Louisville and Nashville unified 4s selling at 91½ and recall that a few months ago he was trading in them at a range of 10 points higher. Little reminders like these bring a new realization of the extent and all inclusive character of the fall.

Observers on the floor of the exchange profess to have seen in the recent decline a great deal of genuine liquidation, some equally good buying, considerable covering of contracts, decline, and also traces of the work of some of the old time plungers on the short side.

In the 1907 collapse operations by a small coterie of reckless individuals on the short side were feature of the market for weeks. Some of these men were reported to have made tremendous fortunes out of a "shoe string," most if not all of which was lost fighting the upturn when it finally came.

Pyramiding is the term used to describe an operation of this sort. To some extent "pyramiding" is only possible on the short side. At any rate, the short side lends itself especially to such a campaign. Brokers are not always averse to permit customers to speculate in this way. For one thing, it doesn't use up much capital, and commissions come freely.

Canadian Pacific is not really an American stock at all in the sense that it is not held largely by American speculators and investors. But it is a great favorite in Berlin, and in Great Britain Canadian holdings must be considerable. Therefore Wall street cannot understand how there should be such a tremendous market in the stock here as obtained today, and has been seen on several occasions during the last month or so. Such big dealings in the stock, it was quite generally decided, could only be undertaken by the big international houses for their principals in Montreal, Berlin, and London. In fact, it has seemed to some people as if after the close of the foreign exchanges the market for Canadian Pacific had been transferred to this side.

Chicago Securities.

Stocks generally were lower on the local exchange. Sears-Roebuck common led the decline, with a drop from 159⅞ to a low, and close at 155. The decline in the price is in harmony with money market conditions. The stock pays 7 per cent, and at yesterday's last quotation, is selling on about a 4.32 per cent basis, an absurd price in a 6 per cent money market.

National Biscuit common was weak, dropping to 105½. There has been no support for the stock since it started down from 160.

Diamond Match shares fell to 98⅝, but closed at 99⅛. The movement in the issue appeared to be an ordinary market one since throughout the weakness in the general list, Match stock has declined only about ten points.

Montgomery Ward preferred held at 107. This is only ½ below the price which the shares touched shortly after the issue was brought out. The security is so ample that the price reflects the confidence felt in the position of the stock.

Swift & Co. shares worked fractionally lower, closing at 101¼. Booth preferred was up at the opening, but closed at 73½. Public Service preferred and American Can stocks were weak. The bond list was also weak.

BREAK AT CLOSE CHECKS RECOVERY

Leading Stocks on New York Exchange Drop After Bear Attack.

MARKET LACKS SUPPORT.

Money Active; Rate on Time Loans Stronger; $30,000,000 in Short Term Issues.

New York, June 11.—The excitement which attended yesterday's violent break in stocks was absent from today's trading, which was comparatively calm and on a much smaller scale.

Some progress was made toward a recovery in the early session, but the effect of this movement was nullified by a severe break shortly before the close.

Canadian Pacific was the particular point of weakness, falling nearly 8 points from its high price of the day to the lowest figure since 1911. Steel sold below 50 for the first time since 1909. Union Pacific dropped to 137⅞, and a number of other new low records were made, with virtually the entire active list selling below yesterday's close.

Bear Selling Big Factor.

Bear selling was perhaps the principal factor in the break, which was a disappointment to traders who believed that a substantial rally was due after yesterday's collapse. This belief was strengthened by more cheerful reports from London and the rise in American stocks there followed by a material upturn at the opening here.

A further favorable factor was the absence of European liquidation, which has been dragging heavily on this market recently. London trading here was much smaller, being estimated at about 10,000 shares divided between purchases and sales.

Less importance was attached to the Minnesota rate case decision as a market factor, and there was some disposition to emphasize the points in the decision, overlooked at first, which favor the railroads.

These considerations, as well as the technical condition of the market, were effective in supporting the list for a time, but it was soon evident that there was no sustained demand for stocks, either from investors or speculators, and the market gradually lost its strength.

Time Loan Rate Stronger.

Conditions in the money market came in for considerable discussion. Rates for time loans were stronger, and it was said that even these higher rates were nominal, practically no time money being offered.

Short term note issues amounting to nearly $30,000,000 were announced, and it was argued that they would impose an additional strain upon the money market.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales [par value], $2,400,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Prime mercantile paper, 5½@6 per cent. Sterling exchange weak with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.8250 for 60 day bills and at 4.8650 for demand. Commercial bills, 4.82⅝. Bar silver, 59½c. Mexican dollars, 48c. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds irregular.

Money on call steady, 1¾@2⅞; ruling rate, 2⅝; closing bid, 2⅝, offered at 2⅞. Time loans—Strong; rates nominal; 60 days, 4½ per cent, and 90 days, 4¾@5 per cent; 6 months, 5¼@5½.

COFFEE AND SUGAR.

NEW YORK, June 11.—SUGAR—Raw steady; muscovado, 2.80@2.83c; centrifugal, 3.30@3.33c; molasses, 2.55@2.58c; refined steady.

NEW YORK, June 11.—COFFEE—Futures: The close was steady; July, 9.54c; September, 9.74c; December, 9.78c; March, 9.89c; May, 9.94c.

COFFEE—Spot easy; Rio 7s, 10c; Santos 4s, 12c. Mild quiet; Cordova, 14@17c nominal.
